STATEMENT OF THE COURSE OF BUSINESS.

THE HON'BLE THE PRESIDENT said :—"Before we begin the proceedings of the day, I ask your permission to make a brief statement of the course of legislation which I propose to lay before the Council, and which I trust will be carried through in the Session which we have to-day begun. You are aware, no doubt, that we had two Bengal Bills which would, in the ordinary course, have been laid before this Council. One was a Bill to amend the Court of Wards' Act, and the other was a Bill to create and define the terms of service for a new body—the Bengal Military Police—in which the existing Military Reserves and the force known as the Chittagong Hills Frontier Police, now serving in the South Lushai district, are merged. Both of these Bills were, however, taken over by the Government of India, and have been passed into law by the Supreme Legislative Council, and consequently there was no legislative work ready to be laid before this Council during the cold weather.

"We, however, are not confined, like the Supreme Council, to the short period of the cold weather for carrying on our legislation, but we are able to conduct it all through the year. I trust in the present Session we shall be able to pass three Bills. Two of these are to be introduced and laid before the Council and, I believe, forwarded one stage to-day. These are the Bill to amend the Village Chaukidari Act of 1870 and the Bill to make better arrangements for the distribution of the charges for keeping up a Fire-brigade in Calcutta. The objects and reasons and the nature and provisions of these Bills will be laid before the Council by the hon'ble members in charge, and it is unnecessary for me to make any remarks upon them.

"There is a third Bill which I should have been glad, if it had been possible, to present to you to-day. I mean the Bill to amend the Bengal Municipal Act. We are not, however, sufficiently forward with our preparations to enable me to ask the Council to permit its introduction to-day. The Bill has been drafted in a tentative form, and has been circulated to all District Officers in Bengal with instructions to procure the opinions of the different Municipal Corporations in their districts upon the provisions of the Bill; and though that was done some months ago, and I hoped that by this time we should have had all the replies ready and tabulated and a précis made of them, so that, after making any necessary alterations in the first tentative draft, the Bill might have been brought forward and published to-day, the replies have not been received from a good many districts, and the case did not appear to be sufficiently forward to justify me in troubling the Council with it upon this occasion. I trust, however, that we shall meet again in July, and I may then be able to lay this Bill before you, and that we shall possibly either complete it during the Session of July and August, or possibly it may be necessary, in order to fully consult public opinion and to give the amplest consideration to all the changes which may be proposed and to all objections which may be taken, to postpone it till the cold weather. However, with regard to the other two Bills, which, I believe, contain much less contentious matter, I trust we shall be able in the Session of July and August to give them final consideration and to pass them into law.

"The programme of our legislation is therefore this, that these two Bills shall be introduced to-day and referred to Select Committees, and that the further consideration of them shall be taken up in July, so that they may in all probability be passed into law in July and August; and that the Municipal Act Amendment Bill shall be introduced in July, and such progress as may be found possible made with it so as to complete it in that Session, or else, if necessary, to postpone it for a month or two later, but at any rate to carry it through before the end of the calendar year."

VILLAGE CHAUKIDARI ACT, 1870, AMENDMENT BILL.

THE HON'BLE MR. COTTON moved for leave to introduce a Bill to further amend the Village Chaukidari Act, 1870.

He said :—"Mr. President, as I shall ask you to be good enough to suspend the Rules for the Conduct of Business to enable me to introduce this Bill in Council, I do not propose to address the Council on the subject of the Bill at the present stage. I now merely ask permission to introduce the Bill."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Cotton said:—"I now apply to your Honour to suspend the Rules of Business to enable me at this meeting to introduce the Bill to further amend the Village Chaukidari Act, 1870, and to move that it be read in Council. The object of my asking for this suspension of the Rules of Business is merely to be able to advance the Bill a definite stage to-day, in order that it may be published, and that public opinion may be obtained upon it before measures are taken for passing it into law."

The Hon'ble the President having declared the Rules of Business to be suspended—

The Hon'ble Mr. Cotton said:—"The Bill which I have now in my hands is a comparatively small measure. It effects further amendments in the Village Chaukidari Act of 1870, which hon'ble members will doubtless recollect has been on two or three occasions before this Council for an amendment. An amendment of that Act was passed in 1871, and again after considerable discussion, in 1886.

"Although this Bill is in its way a very small measure, I shall, I fear, be obliged to occupy the time of the Council for a few minutes in explaining its principle, which is opposed in some important particulars to the principle of the existing law. The village watch of Bengal, as of all India, is one of the oldest institutions of the country connected with the village system itself, and the village watchman of ancient Hindu times is substantially the counterpart of the village watchman as he is recognised by existing legislation; that is to say, the village watchman is ordinarily a member of an hereditary thieving caste, and responsible for his behaviour to no one except to the village community by whom he is maintained. That was the constitution of the village watch in ancient Hindu times, and it is practically the constitution of the village watch at the present day. Under the Mogul administration there was some change effected. The character of the Mogul Government was eminently fiscal, and the village watchman, instead of being the village servant, became to a very large extent the servant of the zamindar, and that dual position remained for a very long time under British rule, and still remains in all parts of the country where Act VI of 1870 has not been enforced. The object of Act VI of 1870 was to place the village watch everywhere under the control of the village organization. The principle of the Bill, as stated by the hon'ble member who introduced it, was this:—'The village watchman is purely a village servant employed for the protection of the lives and the property of the villagers, and looking to the village community for the regular payment of the remuneration to which he is entitled.' It was laid down at that time in this way. It was said municipalise more, trust the people, trust the villagers with the control of their own village watch, and great improvement in Police administration will ensue. That doctrine was of course hotly discussed and disputed in this Council; but ultimately it prevailed, and the effect of the present chaukidari law is to place the village watch entirely under the control and under the influence of the village community. The Bill, I have now the honour to place before you, introduces a modification of this principle. It is my own view strongly, and it is the view of the present Government, that the Police is a branch of the administration which ought to be brought into closer relations with the Government; and I for one—and I trust the Council will join me in this—look forward to the time when the village watch will be so largely modified as to become the real efficient Police of the country, and when the existing constabulary will have virtually no other functions to discharge than those of escort and guard, and to some extent that of process-serving. The present Bill is a slight step in this direction—not a very decisive step perhaps—for it does not pretend to be more than a very gradual and small measure, but it is a step in the direction of centralizing Police administration, and of bringing the village watch much more than it now is under the immediate supervision of the District Magistrate who represents the Government in the mufassal. I apprehend, gentlemen, that this change of principle which we are introducing will, so soon as it is realised, be unfavourably received by a considerable section of public opinion in Bengal. The meaning of the Bill does not, however, seem to have been understood as yet by the general public, for I have before me the report of the Indian Association, who so far misconceive the object of the Bill as to say that they welcome it as a further expansion of the principle of Local Self-Government in these Provinces. The prayer of the Association is, that further powers may be given to the punchayet of the village. Now I must say, once for all, that this Government does not look on the administration of the Police as in any way connected with the development or extension of the principle of Local Self-Government; on the contrary, we believe that if there is any duty of the Government which it is inexpedient to municipalise, it is the control of the Police. The inhabitants of a village have no claim to a municipal administration in any respect, still less have they any claim to control the Police. For the discharge of such duties the highest possible qualifications must be secured, and when the low calibre of the men who constitute a village punchayet is considered, the advantage appears to be wholly on the side of a Police administration by the Central Government. I am not only expressing my own decided opinion in this matter, but I may remind the Council that the subject is amply discussed by no less an eminent authority than the late Mr. John Stuart Mill, whose book on representative Government might well be more widely read in this country amongst the friends and advocates of Local Self-Government. He lays down in that volume with great force and clearness that the Police is a department of the Government which cannot be entrusted to the representatives of a rural tract; and so in England, we have withdrawn the control of the village police from the villagers, and the old village watch has disappeared. In Bengal we do not go so far as to desire that the village watch of this country shall altogether disappear, and we wish to adhere to the only sound element of the chaukidari system, viz., that of retaining the local knowledge of men resident in the village in which they are to be employed; but we do desire to modify it materially, and the direction this modification takes is, by placing the village watch more under executive authority than it now is.

"At present the punchayet, which is in other words the representative of the village community, not only appoints the chaukidars, but has authority under the law to decide within specified limits how many chaukidars shall be employed and to fix their salaries. On these three main points the power and authority of the punchayet is curtailed by the present Bill. It is proposed to allow the punchayet to nominate, but the appointment of the village watch will rest in future with the District Magistrate. It is laid down also that the Magistrate and not the punchayet shall determine the number of chaukidars within specified limits. This is a proviso which experience has shown to be very necessary. The law authorises the punchayet now to fix the number of chaukidars, and in practice it has been found that they reduce the number, and the Magistrate has been obliged to interfere to maintain the minimum number of chaukidars prescribed by law. They have done so without any specific legal authority, but it is only in this way that the full number of chaukidars has been maintained. Under the present Bill, the Magistrate is vested with the power he has hitherto informally exercised. Similarly, it is proposed—and this is a point of at least equal importance—that the Magistrate shall fix the salary of the chaukidar. The salary is now fixed by the punchayet, and the tendency is to fix it at a rate so low as to be below the standard of efficiency. Per contra there is a provision in the present Bill which may be said to be of a more radical character than anything the present law contemplates. Under the present Act, the punchayet is appointed by the District Magistrate. The Bill, I have in my hand, proposes that under certain conditions the punchayet may be elected by the villagers, introducing thereby the elective principle into villages. Now, Mr. President, this is not a section of the Bill with which I personally have much sympathy. My own view is not in favour of introducing democratic institutions into India, and I do not think that the introduction of the elective principle into villages will be calculated to benefit the villagers in any way. However, it has been thought advisable to leave this section in the Bill for the present, and it is hoped that there may be a discussion in Council, and that public opinion may be elicited, so that the Government may know what the views of others are on the subject. The idea is one which was put forward by the late Police Commission, and the Government are not pledged to it in any way; but if it is found that public opinion, as expressed through this Council, is in favour of the provision, then the Government will have no objection to allow it to remain.

"For the rest, the changes proposed in the law are more or less of detail. Powers of arrest are given to chaukidars, thus assimilating their powers to those now exercised by the regular Police. An important section is introduced authorising the Magistrate, if the collections by the punchayet are very bad, or if he finds that the chaukidar is imperfectly paid, to appoint a Government Collector of the chaukidari tax by whom the chaukidari rate will be levied and paid to the chaukidar. This is a provision which exists in the present law only, so far that it is within the competency of the punchayet to apply to the Magistrate to appoint a tahsildar. But the Bill authorises the Magistrate under specified conditions to appoint a tahsildar of his own accord.

"And then, lastly, there is a section introduced under which fines imposed on chaukidars are credited to a District Chaukidari Reward Fund, the control of which rests with the Magistrate. At present fines, when realised, are credited to the Village Chaukidari Fund; that is to say, they pass to the punchayet. The Magistrate has no control over them, and the effect is that if the punchayet and the chaukidar work together and are friendly one with the other, no fine whatever can be inflicted on the chaukidar. It is thought desirable that the Magistrate of the district should have the power of inflicting some punishment on chaukidars other than dismissal. The fine will then be credited to a Reward Fund for distribution among deserving chaukidars, a provision which has always been much needed, and is calculated to improve the administration of the Village Police Force.

"The present legislation will not in any way touch Part II of the existing Act, which relates to chakran or service land. That is a very complicated and elaborate matter, which is reserved for further consideration and legislation. The present Bill is introduced simply with the objects, I have described, of strengthening the control of the executive authorities over the village police.

"I have now the honour to introduce the Bill and to move that it be read in Council."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Bill was read accordingly.

The HON'BLE MR. COTTON said:—"I now move that the Bill be referred to a Select Committee. I may say that it is the intention of the Government to circulate the Bill widely, and to invite non-official as well as official opinion upon it. I propose to add the name of the Hon'ble Mr. Risley to those on the paper. He was a member of the Police Commission, and is in a position to afford valuable assistance in considering the measure. The Committee to whom I propose to refer the Bill will, therefore, consist of the Hon'ble Sir Henry Harrison, the Hon'ble Mr. Allen, the Hon'ble Mr. Risley, the Hon'ble Babu Gonesh Chunder Chunder and the Mover."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

LICENSED WAREHOUSE AND FIRE-BRIGADE BILL.

The HON'BLE SIR HENRY HARRISON moved for leave to introduce a Bill for the regulation of Warehouses and the maintenance of a Fire-brigade.

He said:—"As I am going to ask your Honour afterwards to suspend the Rules of Business, I need not make any remarks on the Bill at this stage."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The HON'BLE SIR HENRY HARRISON applied to the President to suspend the Rules of Business to enable him to introduce the Bill, and to move that it be read in Council and referred to a Select Committee.

The HON'BLE THE PRESIDENT having declared the Rules suspended—

The HON'BLE SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—"I now beg to introduce the Bill, and to move that it be read in Council. The main object of this Bill is, in on word, to relieve the jute industry from bearing the entire cost of the Fire-brigade in Calcutta as it now does. The jute industry has reached this position rather by a process of drift than by any intention on the part of the Legislature, to saddle it with the whole of this charge. As a matter of fact, the Fire-brigade in Calcutta and the establishment of jute warehouses in Calcutta, were almost synchronous. Prior to 1872, there was no Fire-brigade worthy of the name; the Municipality maintained a few hand engines, and whatever they maintained, they paid for. In 1866, when the Municipal Act was amended, the danger arising from jute warehouses, especially from unpressed jute, was so great that certain sections were introduced to provide for the right of inspecting them. Soon after, in 1871, severe fires broke out in Calcutta, which were distinctly traceable and due to jute warehouses, and upon that the Chamber of Commerce, the Trades Association, the British Indian Association, and several other bodies petitioned the Government to take the matter into their serious consideration and protect the public, and the outcome of that was the first Act of 1872, which imposed fees on jute warehouses varying from Rs. 250 to Rs. 1,000, and at the same time provided for the maintenance of an efficient Fire-brigade, and steam fire-engines were ordered out in that year for the first time. Apparently it was not the intention of the Act that the fees should cover the entire cost of the Fire-brigade, because a tax was imposed on insurance offices at the rate of eight annas on every Rs. 10,000 insured, and it was also provided that the Municipalities of the town and the suburbs should make good any deficiency in the income. But, as a matter of fact, partly, I suppose, owing to the great multiplicity of jute warehouses, and partly owing to the fees having been fixed so high, the income very far exceeded the expenditure, as would be seen by the fact that between 1872 and 1881, the Government made grants from the Fire-brigade Fund of Rs. 40,000 to widen the street opposite the Municipal Office; of Rs. 16,552 as a contribution towards the Lock Hospital; of Rs. 10,000 for improvements in the suburbs, and, lastly, of Rs. 60,000 to help towards the widening of a portion of the Chitpur Road. Thus it came about that, although a small portion may have been due to the tax upon insurances which was not abandoned till 1879, practically the jute industry paid for the whole of the Fire-brigade, and so much more that large funds accrued at the disposal of the Government which were appropriated for beneficial purposes for the town and suburbs. Accordingly in 1879 another Act was passed—one amending Act had already been passed in 1875 which does not bear much upon the present question—in order to reduce the fees. The tax on insurances being no longer required was abandoned, and it was arranged that the Government should fix the rates in accordance with the recommendation of the Commissioners, and as a matter of fact, the rate was fixed at a sum not exceeding ten per cent. upon the annual valuation of jute warehouses; and a rule was also passed that the town should bear 7-10ths and the suburbs (not Howrah) 3-10ths of the entire cost of the Brigade. However, as the number of jute warehouses went on increasing, and as land was cheaper and sites more available in the suburbs, it very soon appeared that the town warehouses had to be taxed very much more than those in the suburbs to keep up these proportions. The suburbs met its 3-10ths share with the greatest possible ease, whereas the town had to keep up the rate at its maximum to meet its share. Accordingly in 1883 the Act No. IV, which it is now proposed to repeal by this Bill, was passed—first, to abandon the proportion of 7-10ths and 3-10ths, and to place jute warehouses in the town and the suburbs on the same footing, and instead of having separate Fire-brigades for Howrah and the town and suburbs, as had been done before, to have one Fire-brigade for the whole urban area, for the town and all its environs on both sides of the river, and to introduce the same rule in Howrah as regards fees upon jute warehouses. It was arranged that the inspection of jute warehouses should be vested in the Municipality, as also the collection of the fees, and for this purpose they were allowed to take 20 per cent. of the entire proceeds, and the remaining 80 per cent. were paid to the Commissioner of Police for the maintenance of the Fire-brigade; and as a matter of fact these fees, with the receipts from the petroleum fees and from other sources, had as nearly as possible just maintained the Fire-brigade. So that since 1883 it had come to this, that the jute industry no longer paid more than was necessary, but it still paid practically the whole cost of the Fire-brigade of the town and its environs. The Fire-brigade, which is useful, if not often for pukka houses, very much for bustees and huts, has been entirely supported from this one industry alone; for although 'cotton' is included, almost the whole of the receipts come from jute. The Chamber of Commerce represented that this was not fair; that though there was a provision that any deficit should be made good by the Municipality, yet, as a matter of fact, the rate of fees which was levied was sufficient to meet the entire cost of the Fire-brigade, and upon this representation of the Chamber, the Government were evidently satisfied as to the general justice of the protest, and they accordingly appointed a Committee upon which the Chamber, the Police, the Corporation of Calcutta, the Port Commissioners and some others were represented.

"I was one of the members of that Committee, and therefore I am able to speak from personal knowledge of its proceedings. It was found that all were unanimous that it was not just to expect that the whole cost of the Fire-brigade should be paid by one industry. But then two separate principles claimed recognition. One principle was, that though the jute industry ought not to bear the whole cost, it was sound principle that warehouses for hazardous goods, which, combined with huts and bustees, were the chief sources of fires, should pay more than the ordinary sum payable for substantial pukka houses where the risk of fires was very small. The other principle put before us was, as a matter of fact, that all such distinctions, however justifiable in principle, were difficult to carry out in equity and practice, and therefore should be abandoned. Both in Bombay and in England it has been recognised as the simplest and best course to have a uniform taxation on all classes of property. In Bombay, there is a tax of  $\frac{3}{4}$  per cent. on the valuation for the Fire-brigade. In England, Fire-brigades were generally supported in the same way. But the Committee thought that, in the first place, such a principle was not nearly so applicable to India as to England, because in Calcutta there was scarcely any risk of fire at all from pukka houses in which fires were so seldom lighted in the main building; whereas, on the other hand, we have much more risk from warehouses in Calcutta. In the second place, the Committee thought that, although they might not have been willing to introduce it for the first time, a distinction between hazardous and non-hazardous goods which had been recognised for 20 years ought not to be needlessly abandoned. They thought that there was no reason to pass suddenly from one extreme to another, and consequently they adopted the middle course of continuing to place considerable extra taxation on hazardous goods, and at the same time to make the whole community contribute towards the cost of the Fire-brigade.

"On looking about also they saw there was another source of revenue which clearly ought to be utilised. In the town of Calcutta dangerous and offensive trades pay, as is reasonable, extra taxation in consequence of their character, such as depôts of wood, hay, straw, coal and rags which, barring the latter, cannot be said to be offensive but dangerous, and it seemed to them reasonable that their inflammability should be recognised as a source of income towards meeting the cost of the Fire-brigade. Consequently, the Committee thought that the proceeds of these licenses, which in the Municipality were taken over and above the ordinary trade license, ought to be added to the Fire-brigade Fund, and ought to form one source of its revenue.

"Then came the question of apportionment—a very difficult matter to deal with; because it is obvious that so many indirect considerations enter into what is a fair apportionment, that it is hardly possible to do more than adopt a general approximate apportionment. As regards this, the Committee were at first inclined to think that jute and cotton ought to pay 50 per cent., and depôts of wood, hay, straw, &c., 20 per cent. On further consideration and further correspondence with the Chamber, the proposals made were of this kind. In the first place, that the law was defective at stopping at unpressed and unscrewed jute. In the law, as it now stands, which the Bill which is now introduced will repeal, jute and cotton meant respectively jute and cotton not pressed or screwed for shipment. Now it so happened that one of the largest and worst fires recently occurred in a warehouse which had no unscrewed or unpressed jute; and it was asked why should these, which were obviously hazardous goods, though not in the same degree, be exempted altogether. In the same way it was pointed out that all gunnies were extremely dangerous, and so were rope manufactories ; and, therefore, the Chamber contended that the area of hazardous goods ought to be increased. Eventually it was agreed that 20 per cent. was too much to take from depôts of wood, hay, straw, coal and rags, and it was reduced to 10 per cent., and, on the other hand, the percentage to be paid by hazardous goods of the nature of warehouses was extended to 60 per cent. That left 30 per cent. to be met, and the question was considered whether the tax should not be re-imposed upon insurance offices. But looking at the fact that the tax would be paid by the insurers who may be taxed over again, and on various other grounds, the Committee did not recommend that this should be adopted. The Bill, therefore, proceeds on these lines ; 60 per cent. of the cost to be imposed on hazardous warehouses, but what is to be exactly included in this has been left somewhat undetermined in the Bill, because the representatives of the Chamber proposed to include a very large number of goods. The Council are probably aware that there is a separate Act for the regulation of petroleum, and that fees are already paid by it for the support of the Fire-brigade. Of course it is not pretended that godowns used for retail trade should be touched. There is a section of the Bill which relates to hazardous goods, but whether all these ought to be included in it or not is a matter upon which the Committee did not make any definite recommendation, because further discussion of them appeared to be infructuous except by the authority which would have the power to decide the point. They thought it best, therefore, to leave it to the Council to determine precisely what should be included. The Bill goes so far as to include, as liable to pay under the hazardous schedule, all kinds of jute, pressed and unpressed, and warehoused for storage, and all store-houses for oil other than petroleum or ropes or rope material or any other substance or thing for the time being subject to the operation of this Act. The system on which it is proposed to work the Act is this : the Commissioner of Police will prepare a budget to show the whole expenditure on the Fire-brigade, on the receipt side of which he shall show all the various receipts for licenses for fireworks, petroleum and other sources. This, of course, will show a deficit which will be met to the extent of 60 per cent. by a tax on warehouses under the Act, and of 40 per cent. on the Municipalities. The reason why 40 per cent. is to be taken from the Municipalities is this, that, under the present law, the Municipalities have the entire control of the license fees from dangerous goods, such as wood, hay, straw, coal and rags, and it was not thought desirable to fetter their discretion more than at present ; it was therefore left to them to decide what fee to impose. At present they do get nearly ten per cent. of the cost of the Fire-brigade, but it is open to them, as far as the law allows, to increase or decrease these fees, and then make good the remainder. If they keep the fees as they are now actually collected, the amount which they will have to contribute from other funds will be about 30 per cent. These fees are left in their possession and control, and all the Government will expect from them will be a contribution of 40 per cent. The other 60 per cent. will be raised in a somewhat tentative manner by licenses on hazardous warehouses. Estimates will have to be framed of the assessed value of the properties, and a percentage fixed. If in the first year it proves too much, in the next year the Government will reduce it. Anyhow, it will be the duty of the Government to work this percentage so that it practically provides for the share which falls on these industries. One more change the law introduces, mainly in the interests of economy. It is to transfer the inspection of these warehouses from the Municipality to the Police. The Police have now the inspection of all petroleum godowns ; they have facilities in their present establishment far greater than the Municipalities have, who have to maintain a special establishment for the purpose.

“The Police have an organization which already enables them to carry out inspections, and no doubt they will carry it out at a much cheaper cost than the 15 per cent. which is estimated to be the cost to the Municipality. The Municipality will continue to grant licenses at the rate at which the Government may lay down, and they will collect the fees, and after appropriating 5 per cent., will make over the rest to the Government. As regards the charge of the Fire-brigade, the question was raised whether any alteration should be made in its management ; but the Committee, and the Government in accordance with their views, considered that the management of the Fire-brigade has been highly satisfactory. I speak with some personal knowledge, and I think it is very well managed. Though it was originally under the Corporation, it was found convenient as early as 1872 to make over the management to the Commissioner of Police. The Act of 1879 sanctioned this change, and that arrangement has remained in force ever since. But as regards economy and efficiency, it is much better managed than in Bombay, where a  $\frac{1}{4}$ th per cent. rate is levied. There the Fire-brigade is in the hands of the Corporation, and the expenses are out of all proportion to the collection of the rates. The Police furnishes a very efficient body of firemen, who are only paid on the occurrence of fires, which is a far more economical arrangement; and it is a great advantage that the same men who have the management of the brigade should, in case of necessity, have Police powers also. Therefore the Act leaves the management and control of the Fire-brigade untouched. These are the general outlines of the Bill under consideration. I now beg leave to introduce it, and to move that it be read in Council."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Bill was read accordingly.

It appears to the Lieutenant-Governor to be desirable, when publishing the revised rules under the Indian Factories Act, to take the opportunity to place on record the principal amendments made in the original Act XV of 1881 by Act XI of 1891, which came into force on the 1st January 1892.

2. The principal changes made by the new Act XI of 1891 are as follows:—

- (1) The meaning of the term “factory” has been changed, so that it now includes premises (of certain descriptions) where 50 workmen, not 100 as formerly, are employed.
Section 3 of Act XI of 1891.
- (2) The term “factory” may be extended to include other premises, for all or sundry purposes, if less than 50, but not less than 20 workmen are employed.
Section 18 of Act XI of 1891.
- (3) The term “child” now includes any person under the age of 14 years, and not 12, as formerly. Now, no child under the age of 9 may be employed; formerly, no child under 7 could be employed.
Sections 5 and 9.

(4) Inspectors of factories can now be appointed either by name or by office, and, besides any other persons who may be so appointed, the District Magistrate remains Inspector of all factories in his district.

Section 6.

(5) The payment of prescribed fees to certifying surgeons for examining children and granting certificates of age to them, has now been provided for by the law, instead of being left to executive order.

Section 8

Section 15(2)

(6) The fraudulent use of certificates of age has been made punishable with fine.

(7) An interval during the day for food and rest is to be allowed to all operatives, and not to children only as before. Sunday holidays are, with some small exceptions, to be obligatory for all operatives.

Section 10

(a) There must be a stoppage of work for a full half hour between noon and 2 P.M., except in factories in which a system of employment in shifts or sets approved by the local Inspector is in force.

(b) Employés may work on Sundays to examine and repair machinery, but otherwise no person may be employed in a factory on a Sunday, unless he has had or will have a holiday on one of the three days preceding or succeeding the Sunday.

(c) The Governor-General in Council may exclude any class of factories from the operation of the rules as to holidays and stoppage of work, and the Local Government may allow Sunday labour in factories where certain kinds of necessary work are performed.

(8) Special provision has been made for the protection of women and children. No woman may be employed before 5 A.M. or after 8 P.M. No woman may be employed for more than 11 hours in any one day, and every woman is to be allowed rest in the proportion of 1½ hours to 11 hours' actual work. Factories of any class employing women in particular processes may be exempted from these provisions. No child may be employed before 5 A.M. or after 8 P.M.

The maximum employment for a child has been reduced from 9 to 7 hours, and for every 6 hours' actual work a child must be allowed an interval of half an hour.

Notices are to be put up in English and the vernacular, showing the intervals of rest allowed for women and children.

(9) Rules can be made for the water-supply, proper ventilation, and sanitation of factories; also for the prevention of overcrowding in them.

Section 16.

(10) Occupiers of factories can be required to furnish such returns, occasional or periodical, as may be necessary for the effectual carrying out of the Act.

Section 16

3. It has been announced that it is not the intention of the Governor-General in Council to exercise the powers enabling him to exempt persons and factories from the rules which require stoppage of work for food and rest and cessation from Sunday labour, and regulate the employment of women, except in cases in which the parties interested make, through the Local Government, a formal application for exemption and bring forward convincing reasons in justification of their proposals. The Local Government will then determine upon the representations of those interested in the industries concerned, and upon a review of the circumstances of each case, what industries are entitled to exemption under the powers which the Act enables it to exercise. It is the intention of the Government of India to allow Sunday labour only in rare and exceptional cases, in addition to the cases in which the Local Government can allow it in factories where certain kinds of necessary work are performed. The Local Government will decide whether the work performed satisfies the conditions of any one of the three heads specified, i.e., where the work performed (i) necessitates continuous production for technical reasons, or (ii) supplies the public with articles of prime necessity which must be made every day, or (iii) by its nature cannot be carried on, except at stated seasons, or at times dependent on the irregular action of natural forces, but, if it does, the exemption will be granted as a matter of course.

4. With a view to securing a strict observance of all the provisions of the Factory Act, it has been decided to appoint a special Inspector under section 3 of Act XV of 1881 for Bengal, and his services will also be utilized in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh. Should it be found feasible and expedient hereafter to extend his jurisdiction, this will be done; but for the present it will be limited to the provinces mentioned. Mr. C. A. Walsh of the Locomotive Department of the Superior Revenue Establishment of State Railways has been selected for the post, and his appointment will be duly notified.

5. Besides the special Inspector, the Civil Surgeons of districts, or private medical practitioners, if suitable persons can be found, will also be appointed Inspectors conjointly with District Officers. The medical men so appointed will also be the Certifying Surgeons under section 5 of the Act, as the Lieutenant-Governor believes that the amalgamation of the duties of Inspector and Certifying Surgeon will help to secure the more effective performance of the duties of inspection. In the case of children employed in a factory, when an Inspector, seeing them at work, has reason to believe them to be under the age limit prescribed by the Act, he can take evidence on the spot or otherwise. He would also be entitled to take exception to the certificate which a child holds as not applying to him, and to prohibit his employment until he procured another certificate; and, if he had been himself the certifying officer, he could probably say whether a particular child was of such an age or physique that the certificate produced would have been signed by him. A medical officer would be the best authority on all questions of sanitation in connection with factory labour, and his visits of inspection should be made at irregular hours. The duties of the medical officer will be limited generally to seeing that the provisions of the law as regards children are not infringed, and to suggesting sanitary improvements to the Magistrate, who, by virtue of his office, will be an Inspector. In the 24-Parganas, where the time of the District Magistrate is already fully occupied, the senior Covenanted Assistant or Joint-Magistrate will be the ex-officio Inspector.

6. Under section 5 of Act XV of 1881 as amended, a fee of 4 annas will be paid to the Civil Surgeons of districts, or such other persons practising medicine or surgery as the Local Government may from time to time declare to be Certifying Surgeons for any local areas, for each certificate granted by them. The same medical officers, who will be appointed under section 3 of the Act by name or by office to be Inspectors, will also be required to give the necessary certificates of age under section 5. These officers will be as follows:—

I. In the district of the 24-Parganas—

- (1) The Resident Medical Officer of the Campbell Medical Hospital, for so much of the town of Calcutta as lies to the south of Canning Street, and for Sealdah.
- (2) The Resident Medical Officer of the Mayo Hospital, Calcutta, for so much of the town of Calcutta as lies to the north of Canning Street.
- (3) The Civil Surgeon of Hooghly for thána Naihati, in the 24-Parganas.
- (4) The Station Staff Surgeon of Dum-Dum for that sub-division.
- (5) The Medical Officer in charge of the Northern Suburban Hospital for Baranagore in the 24-Parganas.
- (6) Mr. J. M. Comley, M.R.C.S., for the factories at Budge-Budge.
- (7) The Civil Surgeon of the 24-Parganas, for the rest of the district.

II. For all other districts, the Civil Surgeon of the district.

The officers indicated in this paragraph will notify to the managers of the factories with which they are respectively concerned the place where and the time when they will be prepared to examine candidates for employment and grant certificates of age.

7. A Committee composed of the officers and gentlemen named in the margin was appointed to assist Government in framing the rules and forms of registers under the Acts. The rules, &c., as framed by them were published in draft as required by the law, and criticisms were invited for a period of two months. A few

But the Lieutenant-Governor will be prepared to prescribe any rules which experience and the reports of the several Inspectors may hereafter show to be required.

8. The notification of the Government of India, No. 428, dated 25th March 1892, under section 18, clause (2) of the Indian Factories Act XV of 1881, as amended by Act XI of 1891, has been attached to the Rules under the Act for convenience of reference.

CALCUTTA,
The 3rd May, 1892.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS
TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVA-
TIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M.,
SATURDAY, THE 30TH OF APRIL 1892.

DURING the greater part of the previous week conditions had been slightly disturbed, and local storms with rain had been numerous in East and North Bengal. On the last day or two, however, the number of nor'-westers which had occurred had become much smaller, and weather was generally becoming fairly settled. The changes of meteorological conditions which occurred on the 24th were generally very small and of little importance, and weather therefore continued fine, but the readings recorded on the morning of the 25th instant showed that a very rapid fall of pressure had occurred, which had formed a well-defined though rather shallow barometric depression in Bihár with a centre near Bhágálpur, where pressure was about a quarter of an inch below the normal, and which feeble depression produced a slight cyclonic circulation of winds over a part of the province; while apparently, owing also to the existence of this depression, extremely strong moist winds set in over the head of the Bay, and spread over a large part of the interior of the province. Conditions continued to a great extent unaltered on the 26th, while on the 27th a very rapid increase of pressure took place, the rise being very large in the north of the province, and at Dinajpur it almost equalled a quarter of an inch. These disturbed conditions naturally gave rise to a few local storms with rain in East and North Bengal, but the falls were not very general. On the 28th pressure continued to rise generally over the province, but there were a good many stations reporting local falls of the barometer, again pointing to the existence of disturbed conditions; and on the 28th a considerable number of stations in the eastern and northern districts reported moderate rain accompanying local storms. On the 29th the pressure changes continued rather irregular, and local storms were reported in the central and south-eastern districts; but on the 30th a very rapid fall of pressure took place, particularly in North-East Bengal, where again pressure became nearly a fifth of an inch below the normal, while the general pressure over the province was a tenth of an inch in defect. Again, owing to the existence of those disturbed conditions, local storms with rain occurred in the southern, eastern and northern districts, and on this day a few stations in North Bihár even reported rain. It will thus be seen that for the greater part of the week conditions have been disturbed, principally in the eastern and northern districts, and thus local storms with rain have been rather numerous. The meteorology of the week has also been characterised by the unusually large barometric changes which have occurred, and by the tendency to the formation of low-pressure areas in the north and north-east of the province, and probably in consequence of this distribution of pressure by the existence of unusually strong southerly winds at the head of the Bay.

Pressure.—The mean pressure for the week has been largely below the normal, the defect at the majority of stations exceeding a tenth of an inch, and generally varying from 0.09" to 0.12". The defect is largest at Sibsaagar, where it equals 0.134," and in Assam generally it equals 0.11." It has also been rather large at the stations in Central and West Bengal and South Bihár, where at the beginning of the week a distinct barometric depression existed.

Temperature.—The variations of temperature have also been very considerable during the week, and the average mean temperature of the whole province has been no less than 3.4° in excess of the normal, while in South Bihár and Chota Nagpur the excess has been as large as 5°. In Assam, on the other hand, the excess has only equalled 0.8°.

Some very high maximum temperatures have been recorded during the week, and thus temperatures of from 110° to 113° have been registered at Cuttack, Balasore, Midnapore, Bankura, Raniganj, Dehri, Arrah, Gaya, and Chubbassa.

Rainfall.—The average fall of rain in East Bengal during the week has been 2.68 inches, or about 18 per cent in excess of the usual fall for the period. North Bengal has averaged 0.80 inch and South-West Bengal 0.50 inch, or about half the normal fall in each case. North Bihár has received the small fall of 0.12 inch, but the other divisions have been practically rainless. These falls, from the nature of the rainfall, have been rather unequally distributed. In East Bengal the districts of Chittagong, Chittagong Hill Tracts, and Tippera have received abundant rain, and the remaining districts, and particularly Faridpur, less abundant rain. In North Bengal, Darjeeling, Pabna, and Mulda have received decidedly heavy rain. Bogra and Dinajpur moderate rain, and the other districts smaller amounts. In South-West Bengal, Murshidabad, 24-Parganas, Howrah Hooghly, and parts of Burdwan and Jessore districts have received good rain, and the other districts small amounts; and finally, in North Bihár the falls have been mainly confined to the Purnea and North Bhágálpur districts, though a few showers have also fallen in the Darbhanga district.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 30th of April 1892:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

STATEMENT OF THE COURSE OF BUSINESS.

THE HON'BLE THE PRESIDENT said :—" Before we begin the proceedings of the day, I ask your permission to make a brief statement of the course of legislation which I propose to lay before the Council, and which I trust will be carried through in the Session which we have to-day begun. You are aware, no doubt, that we had two Bengal Bills which would, in the ordinary course, have been laid before this Council. One was a Bill to amend the Court of Wards' Act, and the other was a Bill to create and define the terms of service for a new body—the Bengal Military Police—in which the existing Military Reserves and the force known as the Chittagong Hills Frontier Police, now serving in the South Lushai district, are merged. Both of these Bills were, however, taken over by the Government of India, and have been passed into law by the Supreme Legislative Council, and consequently there was no legislative work ready to be laid before this Council during the cold weather.

" We, however, are not confined, like the Supreme Council, to the short period of the cold weather for carrying on our legislation, but we are able to conduct it all through the year. I trust in the present Session we shall be able to pass three Bills. Two of these are to be introduced and laid before the Council and, I believe, forwarded one stage to-day. These are the Bill to amend the Village Chaukidari Act of 1870 and the Bill to make better arrangements for the distribution of the charges for keeping up a Fire-brigade in Calcutta. The objects and reasons and the nature and provisions of these Bills will be laid before the Council by the hon'ble members in charge, and it is unnecessary for me to make any remarks upon them.

" There is a third Bill which I should have been glad, if it had been possible, to present to you to-day. I mean the Bill to amend the Bengal Municipal Act. We are not, however, sufficiently forward with our preparations to enable me to ask the Council to permit its introduction to-day. The Bill has been drafted in a tentative form, and has been circulated to all District Officers in Bengal with instructions to procure the opinions of the different Municipal Corporations in their districts upon the provisions of the Bill; and though that was done some months ago, and I hoped that by this time we should have had all the replies ready and tabulated and a précis made of them, so that, after making any necessary alterations in the first tentative draft, the Bill might have been brought forward and published to-day, the replies have not been received from a good many districts, and the case did not appear to be sufficiently forward to justify me in troubling the Council with it upon this occasion. I trust, however, that we shall meet again in July, and I may then be able to lay this Bill before you, and that we shall possibly either complete it during the Session of July and August, or possibly it may be necessary, in order to fully consult public opinion and to give the amplest consideration to all the changes which may be proposed and to all objections which may be taken, to postpone it till the cold weather. However, with regard to the other two Bills, which, I believe, contain much less contentious matter, I trust we shall be able in the Session of July and August to give them final consideration and to pass them into law.

" The programme of our legislation is therefore this, that these two Bills shall be introduced to-day and referred to Select Committees, and that the further consideration of them shall be taken up in July, so that they may in all probability be passed into law in July and August; and that the Municipal Act Amendment Bill shall be introduced in July, and such progress as may be found possible made with it so as to complete it in that Session, or else, if necessary, to postpone it for a month or two later, but at any rate to carry it through before the end of the calendar year."

VILLAGE CHAUKIDARI ACT, 1870, AMENDMENT BILL.

THE HON'BLE MR. COTTON moved for leave to introduce a Bill to further amend the Village Chaukidari Act, 1870.

He said :—" Mr. President, as I shall ask you to be good enough to suspend the Rules for the Conduct of Business to enable me to introduce this Bill in Council, I do not propose to address the Council on the subject of the Bill at the present stage. I now merely ask permission to introduce the Bill."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The HON'BLE MR. COTTON said:—"I now apply to your Honour to suspend the Rules of Business to enable me at this meeting to introduce the Bill to further amend the Village Chaukidari Act, 1870, and to move that it be read in Council. The object of my asking for this suspension of the Rules of Business is merely to be able to advance the Bill a definite stage to-day, in order that it may be published, and that public opinion may be obtained upon it before measures are taken for passing it into law."

The HON'BLE THE PRESIDENT having declared the Rules of Business to be suspended—

The HON'BLE MR. COTTON said:—"The Bill which I have now in my hands is a comparatively small measure. It effects further amendments in the Village Chaukidari Act of 1870, which hon'ble members will doubtless recollect has been on two or three occasions before this Council for amendment. An amendment of that Act was passed in 1871, and again after considerable discussion, in 1886.

"Although this Bill is in its way a very small measure, I shall, I fear, be obliged to occupy the time of the Council for a few minutes in explaining its principle, which is opposed in some important particulars to the principle of the existing law. The village watch of Bengal, as of all India, is one of the oldest institutions of the country connected with the village system itself, and the village watchman of ancient Hindu times is substantially the counterpart of the village watchman as he is recognised by existing legislation; that is to say, the village watchman is ordinarily a member of an hereditary thieving caste, and responsible for his behaviour to no one except to the village community by whom he is maintained. That was the constitution of the village watch in ancient Hindu times, and it is practically the constitution of the village watch at the present day. Under the Mogul administration there was some change effected. The character of the Mogul Government was eminently fiscal, and the village watchman, instead of being the village servant, became to a very large extent the servant of the zamindar, and that dual position remained for a very long time under British rule, and still remains in all parts of the country where Act VI of 1870 has not been enforced. The object of Act VI of 1870 was to place the village watch everywhere under the control of the village organization. The principle of the Bill, as stated by the hon'ble member who introduced it, was this:—"The village watchman is purely a village servant employed for the protection of the lives and the property of the villagers, and looking to the village community for the regular payment of the remuneration to which he is entitled." It was laid down at that time in this way. It was said municipalise more, trust the people, trust the villagers with the control of their own village watch, and great improvement in Police administration will ensue. That doctrine was of course hotly discussed and disputed in this Council; but ultimately it prevailed, and the effect of the present chaukidari law is to place the village watch entirely under the control and under the influence of the village community. The Bill, I have now the honour to place before you, introduces a modification of this principle. It is my own view strongly, and it is the view of the present Government, that the Police is a branch of the administration which ought to be brought into closer relations with the Government; and I for one—and I trust the Council will join me in this—look forward to the time when the village watch will be so largely modified as to become the real efficient Police of the country, and when the existing constabulary will have virtually no other functions to discharge than those of escort and guard, and to some extent that of process-serving. The present Bill is a slight step in this direction—not a very decisive step perhaps—for it does not pretend to be more than a very gradual and small measure, but it is a step in the direction of centralizing Police administration, and of bringing the village watch much more than it now is under the immediate supervision of the District Magistrate who represents the Government in the mufassal. I apprehend, gentlemen, that this change of principle which we are introducing will, so soon as it is realised, be unfavourably received by a considerable section of public opinion in Bengal. The meaning of the Bill does not, however, seem to have been understood as yet by the general public, for I have before me the report of the Indian Association, who so far misconceive the object of the Bill as to say that they welcome it as a further expansion of the principle of Local Self-Government in these Provinces. The prayer of the Association is, that further powers may be given to the punchayet of the village. Now I must say, once for all, that this Government does not look on the administration of the Police as in any way connected with the development or extension of the principle of Local Self-Government; on the contrary, we believe that if there is any duty of the Government which it is inexpedient to municipalise, it is the control of the Police. The inhabitants of a village have no claim to a municipal administration in any respect, still less have they any claim to control the Police. For the discharge of such duties the highest possible qualifications must be secured, and when the low calibre of the men who constitute a village punchayet is considered, the advantage appears to be wholly on the side of a Police administration by the Central Government. I am not only expressing my own decided opinion in this matter, but I may remind the Council that the subject is amply discussed by no less an eminent authority than the late Mr. John Stuart Mill, whose book on representative Government might well be more widely read in this country amongst the friends and advocates of Local Self-Government. He lays down in that volume with great force and clearness that the Police is a department of the Government which cannot be entrusted to the representatives of a rural tract; and so in England, we have withdrawn the control of the village police from the villagers, and the old village watch has disappeared. In Bengal we do not go so far as to desire that the village watch of this country shall altogether disappear, and we wish to adhere to the only sound element of the chaukidari system, viz., that of retaining the local knowledge of men resident in the village in which they are to be employed; but we do desire to modify it materially, and the direction this modification takes is, by placing the village watch more under executive authority than it now is.

"At present the punchayet, which is in other words the representative of the village community, not only appoints the chaukidars, but has authority under the law to decide within specified limits how many chaukidars shall be employed and to fix their salaries. On these three main points the power and authority of the punchayet is curtailed by the present Bill. It is proposed to allow the punchayet to nominate, but the appointment of the village watch will rest in future with the District Magistrate. It is laid down also that the Magistrate and not the punchayet shall determine the number of chaukidars within specified limits. This is a proviso which experience has shown to be very necessary. The law authorises the punchayet now to fix the number of chaukidars, and in practice it has been found that they reduce the number, and the Magistrate has been obliged to interfere to maintain the minimum number of chaukidars proscribed by law. They have done so without any specific legal authority, but it is only in this way that the full number of chaukidars has been maintained. Under the present Bill, the Magistrate is vested with the power he has hitherto informally exercised. Similarly, it is proposed—and this is a point of at least equal importance—that the Magistrate shall fix the salary of the chaukidar. The salary is now fixed by the punchayet, and the tendency is to fix it at a rate so low as to be below the standard of efficiency. Per contra there is a provision in the present Bill which may be said to be of a more radical character than anything the present law contemplates. Under the present Act, the punchayet is appointed by the District Magistrate. The Bill, I have in my hand, proposes that under certain conditions the punchayet may be elected by the villagers, introducing thereby the elective principle into villages. Now, Mr. President, this is not a section of the Bill with which I personally have much sympathy. My own view is not in favour of introducing democratic institutions into India, and I do not think that the introduction of the elective principle into villages will be calculated to benefit the villagers in any way. However, it has been thought advisable to leave this section in the Bill for the present, and it is hoped that there may be a discussion in Council, and that public opinion may be elicited, so that the Government may know what the views of others are on the subject. The idea is one which was put forward by the late Police Commission, and the Government are not pledged to it in any way; but if it is found that public opinion, as expressed through this Council, is in favour of the provision, then the Government will have no objection to allow it to remain.

"For the rest, the changes proposed in the law are more or less of detail. Powers of arrest are given to chaukidars, thus assimilating their powers to those now exercised by the regular Police. An important section is introduced authorising the Magistrate, if the collections by the punchayet are very bad, or if he finds that the chaukidar is imperfectly paid, to appoint a Government Collector of the chaukidari tax by whom the chaukidari rate will be levied and paid to the chaukidar. This is a provision which exists in the present law only, so far that it is within the competency of the punchayet to apply to the Magistrate to appoint a tahsildar. But the Bill authorises the Magistrate under specified conditions to appoint a tahsildar of his own accord.

"And then, lastly, there is a section introduced under which fines imposed on chaukidars are credited to a District Chaukidari Reward Fund, the control of which rests with the Magistrate. At present fines, when realised, are credited to the Village Chaukidari Fund; that is to say, they pass to the punchayet. The Magistrate has no control over them, and the effect is that if the punchayet and the chaukidar work together and are friendly one with the other, no fine whatever can be inflicted on the chaukidar. It is thought desirable that the Magistrate of the district should have the power of inflicting some punishment on chaukidars other than dismissal. The fine will then be credited to a Reward Fund for distribution among deserving chaukidars, a provision which has always been much needed, and is calculated to improve the administration of the Village Police Force.

"The present legislation will not in any way touch Part II of the existing Act, which relates to chakran or service land. That is a very complicated and elaborate matter, which is reserved for further consideration and legislation. The present Bill is introduced simply with the objects, I have described, of strengthening the control of the executive authorities over the village police.

"I have now the honour to introduce the Bill and to move that it be read in Council."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Bill was read accordingly.

The HON'BLE MR. COTTON said:—"I now move that the Bill be referred to a Select Committee. I may say that it is the intention of the Government to circulate the Bill widely, and to invite non-official as well as official opinion upon it. I propose to add the name of the Hon'ble Mr. Risley to those on the paper. He was a member of the Police Commission, and is in a position to afford valuable assistance in considering the measure. The Committee to whom I propose to refer the Bill will, therefore, consist of the Hon'ble Sir Henry Harrison, the Hon'ble Mr. Allen, the Hon'ble Mr. Risley, the Hon'ble Babu Gonesh Chunder Chunder and the Mover."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

LICENSED WAREHOUSE AND FIRE-BRIGADE BILL.

The HON'BLE SIR HENRY HARRISON moved for leave to introduce a Bill for the regulation of Warehouses and the maintenance of a Fire-brigade.

He said:—"As I am going to ask your Honour afterwards to suspend the Rules of Business, I need not make any remarks on the Bill at this stage."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The HON'BLE SIR HENRY HARRISON applied to the President to suspend the Rules of Business to enable him to introduce the Bill, and to move that it be read in Council and referred to a Select Committee.

The HON'BLE THE PRESIDENT having declared the Rules suspended—

The HON'BLE SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—"I now beg to introduce the Bill, and to move that it be read in Council. The main object of this Bill is, in on word, to relieve the jute industry from bearing the entire cost of the Fire-brigade in Calcutta as it now does. The jute industry has reached this position rather by a process of drift than by any intention on the part of the Legislature, to saddle it with the whole of this charge. As a matter of fact, the Fire-brigade in Calcutta and the establishment of jute warehouses in Calcutta, were almost synchronous. Prior to 1872, there was no Fire-brigade worthy of the name; the Municipality maintained a few hand engines, and whatever they maintained, they paid for. In 1866, when the Municipal Act was amended, the danger arising from jute warehouses, especially from unpressed jute, was so great that certain sections were introduced to provide for the right of inspecting them. Soon after, in 1871, severe fires broke out in Calcutta, which were distinctly traceable and due to jute warehouses, and upon that the Chamber of Commerce, the Trades Association, the British Indian Association, and several other bodies petitioned the Government to take the matter into their serious consideration and protect the public, and the outcome of that was the first Act of 1872, which imposed fees on jute warehouses varying from Rs. 250 to Rs. 1,000, and at the same time provided for the maintenance of an efficient Fire-brigade, and steam fire-engines were ordered out in that year for the first time. Apparently it was not the intention of the Act that the fees should cover the entire cost of the Fire-brigade, because a tax was imposed on insurance offices at the rate of eight annas on every Rs. 10,000 insured, and it was also provided that the Municipalities of the town and the suburbs should make good any deficiency in the income. But, as a matter of fact, partly, I suppose, owing to the great multiplicity of jute warehouses, and partly owing to the fees having been fixed so high, the income very far exceeded the expenditure, as would be seen by the fact that between 1872 and 1881, the Government made grants from the Fire-brigade Fund of Rs. 40,000 to widen the street opposite the Municipal Office; of Rs. 16,552 as a contribution towards the Lock Hospital; of Rs. 10,000 for improvements in the suburbs, and, lastly, of Rs. 60,000 to help towards the widening of a portion of the Chitpur Road. Thus it came about that, although a small portion may have been due to the tax upon insurances which was not abandoned till 1879, practically the jute industry paid for the whole of the Fire-brigade, and so much more that large funds accrued at the disposal of the Government which were appropriated for beneficial purposes for the town and suburbs. Accordingly in 1879 another Act was passed—one amending Act had already been passed in 1875 which does not bear much upon the present question—in order to reduce the fees. The tax on insurances being no longer required was abandoned, and it was arranged that the Government should fix the rates in accordance with the recommendation of the Commissioners, and as a matter of fact, the rate was fixed at a sum not exceeding ten per cent. upon the annual valuation of jute warehouses; and a rule was also passed that the town should bear 7-10ths and the suburbs (not Howrah) 3-10ths of the entire cost of the Brigade. However, as the number of jute warehouses went on increasing, and as land was cheaper and sites more available in the suburbs, it very soon appeared that the town warehouses had to be taxed very much more than those in the suburbs to keep up these proportions. The suburbs met its 3-10ths share with the greatest possible ease, whereas the town had to keep up the rate at its maximum to meet its share. Accordingly in 1883 the Act No. IV, which it is now proposed to repeal by this Bill, was passed—first, to abandon the proportion of 7-10ths and 3-10ths, and to place jute warehouses in the town and the suburbs on the same footing, and instead of having separate Fire-brigades for Howrah and the town and suburbs, as had been done before, to have one Fire-brigade for the whole urban area, for the town and all its environs on both sides of the river, and to introduce the same rule in Howrah as regards fees upon jute warehouses. It was arranged that the inspection of jute warehouses should be vested in the Municipality, as also the collection of the fees, and for this purpose they were allowed to take 20 per cent. of the entire proceeds, and the remaining 80 per cent. were paid to the Commissioner of Police for the maintenance of the Fire-brigade; and as a matter of fact these fees, with the receipts from the petroleum fees and from other sources, had as nearly as possible just maintained the Fire-brigade. So that since 1883 it had come to this, that the jute industry no longer paid more than was necessary, but it still paid practically the whole cost of the Fire-brigade of the town and its environs. The Fire-brigade, which is useful, if not often for pukka houses, very much for bustees and huts, has been entirely supported from this one industry alone; for although 'cotton' is included, almost the whole of the receipts come from jute. The Chamber of Commerce represented that this was not fair; that though there was a provision that any deficit should be made good by the Municipality, yet, as a matter of fact, the rate of fees which was levied was sufficient to meet the entire cost of the Fire-brigade, and upon this representation of the Chamber, the Government were evidently satisfied as to the general justice of the protest, and they accordingly appointed a Committee upon which the Chamber, the Police, the Corporation of Calcutta, the Port Commissioners and some others were represented.

"I was one of the members of that Committee, and therefore I am able to speak from personal knowledge of its proceedings. It was found that all were unanimous that it was not just to expect that the whole cost of the Fire-brigade should be paid by one industry. But then two separate principles claimed recognition. One principle was, that though the jute industry ought not to bear the whole cost, it was sound principle that warehouses for hazardous goods, which, combined with huts and bustees, were the chief sources of fires, should pay more than the ordinary sum payable for substantial pukka houses where the risk of fires was very small. The other principle put before us was, as a matter of fact, that all such distinctions, however justifiable in principle, were difficult to carry out in equity and practice, and therefore should be abandoned. Both in Bombay and in England it has been recognised as the simplest and best course to have a uniform taxation on all classes of property. In Bombay, there is a tax of  $\frac{3}{4}$  per cent. on the valuation for the Fire-brigade. In England, Fire-brigades were generally supported in the same way. But the Committee thought that, in the first place, such a principle was not nearly so applicable to India as to England, because in Calcutta there was scarcely any risk of fire at all from pukka houses in which fires were so seldom lighted in the main building; whereas, on the other hand, we have much more risk from warehouses in Calcutta. In the second place, the Committee thought that, although they might not have been willing to introduce it for the first time, a distinction between hazardous and non-hazardous goods which had been recognised for 20 years ought not to be needlessly abandoned. They thought that there was no reason to pass suddenly from one extreme to another, and consequently they adopted the middle course of continuing to place considerable extra taxation on hazardous goods, and at the same time to make the whole community contribute towards the cost of the Fire-brigade.

"On looking about also they saw there was another source of revenue which clearly ought to be utilised. In the town of Calcutta dangerous and offensive trades pay, as is reasonable, extra taxation in consequence of their character, such as depôts of wood, hay, straw, coal and rags which, barring the latter, cannot be said to be offensive but dangerous, and it seemed to them reasonable that their inflammability should be recognised as a source of income towards meeting the cost of the Fire-brigade. Consequently, the Committee thought that the proceeds of these licenses, which in the Municipality were taken over and above the ordinary trade license, ought to be added to the Fire-brigade Fund, and ought to form one source of its revenue.

"Then came the question of apportionment—a very difficult matter to deal with; because it is obvious that so many indirect considerations enter into what is a fair apportionment, that it is hardly possible to do more than adopt a general approximate apportionment. As regards this, the Committee were at first inclined to think that jute and cotton ought to pay 50 per cent., and depôts of wood, hay, straw, &c., 20 per cent. On further consideration and further correspondence with the Chamber, the proposals made were of this kind. In the first place, that the law was defective at stopping at unpressed and unscrewed jute. In the law, as it now stands, which the Bill which is now introduced will repeal, jute and cotton meant respectively jute and cotton not pressed or screwed for shipment. Now it so happened that one of the largest and worst fires recently occurred in a warehouse which had no unscrewed or unpressed jute; and it was asked why should these, which were obviously hazardous goods, though not in the same degree, be exempted altogether. In the same way it was pointed out that all gunnies were extremely dangerous, and so were rope manufactories; and, therefore, the Chamber contended that the area of hazardous goods ought to be increased. Eventually it was agreed that 20 per cent. was too much to take from depôts of wood, hay, straw, coal and rags, and it was reduced to 10 per cent., and, on the other hand, the percentage to be paid by hazardous goods of the nature of warehouses was extended to 60 per cent. That left 30 per cent. to be met, and the question was considered whether the tax should not be re-imposed upon insurance offices. But looking at the fact that the tax would be paid by the insurers who may be taxed over again, and on various other grounds, the Committee did not recommend that this should be adopted. The Bill, therefore, proceeds on these lines; 60 per cent. of the cost to be imposed on hazardous warehouses, but what is to be exactly included in this has been left somewhat undetermined in the Bill, because the representatives of the Chamber proposed to include a very large number of goods. The Council are probably aware that there is a separate Act for the regulation of petroleum, and that fees are already paid by it for the support of the Fire-brigade. Of course it is not pretended that godowns used for retail trade should be touched. There is a section of the Bill which relates to hazardous goods, but whether all these ought to be included in it or not is a matter upon which the Committee did not make any definite recommendation, because further discussion of them appeared to be infructuous except by the authority which would have the power to decide the point. They thought it best, therefore, to leave it to the Council to determine precisely what should be included. The Bill goes so far as to include, as liable to pay under the hazardous schedule, all kinds of jute, pressed and unpressed, and warehoused for storage, and all store-houses for oil other than petroleum or ropes or rope material or any other substance or thing for the time being subject to the operation of this Act. The system on which it is proposed to work the Act is this: the Commissioner of Police will prepare a budget to show the whole expenditure on the Fire-brigade, on the receipt side of which he shall show all the various receipts for licenses for fireworks, petroleum and other sources. This, of course, will show a deficit which will be met to the extent of 60 per cent. by a tax on warehouses under the Act, and of 40 per cent. on the Municipalities. The reason why 40 per cent. is to be taken from the Municipalities is this, that, under the present law, the Municipalities have the entire control of the license fees from dangerous goods, such as wood, hay, straw, coal and rags, and it was not thought desirable to fetter their discretion more than at present; it was therefore left to them to decide what fee to impose. At present they do get nearly ten per cent. of the cost of the Fire-brigade, but it is open to them, as far as the law allows, to increase or decrease these fees, and then make good the remainder. If they keep the fees as they are now actually collected, the amount which they will have to contribute from other funds will be about 30 per cent. These fees are left in their possession and control, and all the Government will expect from them will be a contribution of 40 per cent. The other 60 per cent. will be raised in a somewhat tentative manner by licenses on hazardous warehouses. Estimates will have to be framed of the assessed value of the properties, and a percentage fixed. If in the first year it proves too much, in the next year the Government will reduce it. Anyhow, it will be the duty of the Government to work this percentage so that it practically provides for the share which falls on these industries. One more change the law introduces, mainly in the interests of economy. It is to transfer the inspection of these warehouses from the Municipality to the Police. The Police have now the inspection of all petroleum godowns; they have facilities in their present establishment far greater than the Municipalities have, who have to maintain a special establishment for the purpose.

“The Police have an organization which already enables them to carry out inspections, and no doubt they will carry it out at a much cheaper cost than the 15 per cent. which is estimated to be the cost to the Municipality. The Municipality will continue to grant licenses at the rate at which the Government may lay down, and they will collect the fees, and after appropriating 5 per cent., will make over the rest to the Government. As regards the charge of the Fire-brigade, the question was raised whether any alteration should be made in its management; but the Committee, and the Government in accordance with their views, considered that the management of the Fire-brigade has been highly satisfactory. I speak with some personal knowledge, and I think it is very well managed. Though it was originally under the Corporation, it was found convenient as early as 1872 to make over the management to the Commissioner of Police. The Act of 1879 sanctioned this change, and that arrangement has remained in force ever since. But as regards economy and efficiency, it is much better managed than in Bombay, where a  $\frac{3}{4}$ th per cent. rate is levied. There the Fire-brigade is in the hands of the Corporation, and the expenses are out of all proportion to the collection of the rates. The Police furnishes a very efficient body of firemen, who are only paid on the occurrence of fires, which is a far more economical arrangement; and it is a great advantage that the same men who have the management of the brigade should, in case of necessity, have Police powers also. Therefore the Act leaves the management and control of the Fire-brigade untouched. These are the general outlines of the Bill under consideration. I now beg leave to introduce it, and to move that it be read in Council."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Bill was read accordingly.

The HON'BLE SIR HENRY HARRISON also moved that the Bill be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble the Officiating Advocate-General, the Hon'ble Mr. Wallis, the Hon'ble Shahzada Mahommed Furrokh Shah and the Mover.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned sine die.

It appears to the Lieutenant-Governor to be desirable, when publishing the revised rules under the Indian Factories Act, to take the opportunity to place on record the principal amendments made in the original Act XV of 1881 by Act XI of 1891, which came into force on the 1st January 1892.

2. The principal changes made by the new Act XI of 1891 are as follows:—

- (1) The meaning of the term “factory” has been changed, so that it now includes premises (of certain descriptions) where 50 workmen, not 100 as formerly, are employed.

Section 3 of Act XI of 1891.
- (2) The term “factory” may be extended to include other premises, for all or sundry purposes, if less than 50, but not less than 20 workmen are employed.

Section 18 of Act XI of 1891.
- (3) The term “child” now includes any person under the age of 14 years, and not 12, as formerly. Now, no child under the age of 9 may be employed; formerly, no child under 7 could be employed.

Sections 5 and 9.

(4) Inspectors of factories can now be appointed either by name or by office, and, besides any other persons who may be so appointed, the District Magistrate remains Inspector of all factories in his district.

Section 6.

(5) The payment of prescribed fees to certifying surgeons for examining children and granting certificates of age to them, has now been provided for by the law, instead of being left to executive order.

Section 8.

Section 15(2).

(6) The fraudulent use of certificates of age has been made punishable with fine.

(7) An interval during the day for food and rest is to be allowed to all operatives, and not to children only as before. Sunday holidays are, with some small exceptions, to be obligatory for all operatives.

Section 10.

(a) There must be a stoppage of work for a full half hour between noon and 2 P.M., except in factories in which a system of employment in shifts or sets approved by the local Inspector is in force.

(b) Employés may work on Sundays to examine and repair machinery, but otherwise no person may be employed in a factory on a Sunday, unless he has had or will have a holiday on one of the three days preceding or succeeding the Sunday.

(c) The Governor-General in Council may exclude any class of factories from the operation of the rules as to holidays and stoppage of work, and the Local Government may allow Sunday labour in factories where certain kinds of necessary work are performed.

(8) Special provision has been made for the protection of women and children. No woman may be employed before 5 A.M. or after 8 P.M. No woman may be employed for more than 11 hours in any one day, and every woman is to be allowed rest in the proportion of  $1\frac{1}{2}$  hours to 11 hours' actual work. Factories of any class employing women in particular processes may be exempted from these provisions. No child may be employed before 5 A.M. or after 8 P.M.

The maximum employment for a child has been reduced from 9 to 7 hours, and for every 6 hours' actual work a child must be allowed an interval of half an hour.

Notices are to be put up in English and the vernacular, showing the intervals of rest allowed for women and children.

(9) Rules can be made for the water-supply, proper ventilation, and sanitation of factories; also for the prevention of overcrowding in them.

Section 16.

(10) Occupiers of factories can be required to furnish such returns, occasional or periodical, as may be necessary for the effectual carrying out of the Act.

Section 16.

3. It has been announced that it is not the intention of the Governor-General in Council to exercise the powers enabling him to exempt persons and factories from the rules which require stoppage of work for food and rest and cessation from Sunday labour, and regulate the employment of women, except in cases in which the parties interested make, through the Local Government, a formal application for exemption and bring forward convincing reasons in justification of their proposals. The Local Government will then determine upon the representations of those interested in the industries concerned, and upon a review of the circumstances of each case, what industries are entitled to exemption under the powers which the Act enables it to exercise. It is the intention of the Government of India to allow Sunday labour only in rare and exceptional cases, in addition to the cases in which the Local Government can allow it in factories where certain kinds of necessary work are performed. The Local Government will decide whether the work performed satisfies the conditions of any one of the three heads specified, i.e., where the work performed (i) necessitates continuous production for technical reasons, or (ii) supplies the public with articles of prime necessity which must be made every day, or (iii) by its nature cannot be carried on, except at stated seasons, or at times dependent on the irregular action of natural forces, but, if it does, the exemption will be granted as a matter of course.

4. With a view to securing a strict observance of all the provisions of the Factory Act, it has been decided to appoint a special Inspector under section 3 of Act XV of 1881 for Bengal, and his services will also be utilized in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh. Should it be found feasible and expedient hereafter to extend his jurisdiction, this will be done; but for the present it will be limited to the provinces mentioned. Mr. C. A. Walsh of the Locomotive Department of the Superior Revenue Establishment of State Railways has been selected for the post, and his appointment will be duly notified.

5. Besides the special Inspector, the Civil Surgeons of districts, or private medical practitioners, if suitable persons can be found, will also be appointed Inspectors conjointly with District Officers. The medical men so appointed will also be the Certifying Surgeons under section 5 of the Act, as the Lieutenant-Governor believes that the amalgamation of the duties of Inspector and Certifying Surgeon will help to secure the more effective performance of the duties of inspection. In the case of children employed in a factory, when an Inspector, seeing them at work, has reason to believe them to be under the age limit prescribed by the Act, he can take evidence on the spot or otherwise. He would also be entitled to take exception to the certificate which a child holds as not applying to him, and to prohibit his employment until he procured another certificate; and, if he had been himself the certifying officer, he could probably say whether a particular child was of such an age or physique that the certificate produced would have been signed by him. A medical officer would be the best authority on all questions of sanitation in connection with factory labour, and his visits of inspection should be made at irregular hours. The duties of the medical officer will be limited generally to seeing that the provisions of the law as regards children are not infringed, and to suggesting sanitary improvements to the Magistrate, who, by virtue of his office, will be an Inspector. In the 24-Parganas, where the time of the District Magistrate is already fully occupied, the senior Covenanted Assistant or Joint-Magistrate will be the ex-officio Inspector.

6. Under section 5 of Act XV of 1881 as amended, a fee of 4 annas will be paid to the Civil Surgeons of districts, or such other persons practising medicine or surgery as the Local Government may from time to time declare to be Certifying Surgeons for any local areas, for each certificate granted by them. The same medical officers, who will be appointed under section 3 of the Act by name or by office to be Inspectors, will also be required to give the necessary certificates of age under section 5. These officers will be as follows:—

I. In the district of the 24-Parganas—

- (1) The Resident Medical Officer of the Campbell Medical Hospital, for so much of the town of Calcutta as lies to the south of Canning Street, and for Sealdah.
- (2) The Resident Medical Officer of the Mayo Hospital, Calcutta, for so much of the town of Calcutta as lies to the north of Canning Street.
- (3) The Civil Surgeon of Hooghly for thána Naihati, in the 24-Parganas.
- (4) The Station Staff Surgeon of Dum-Dum for that sub-division.
- (5) The Medical Officer in charge of the Northern Suburban Hospital for Baranagore in the 24-Parganas.
- (6) Mr. J. M. Comley, M.R.C.S., for the factories at Budge-Budge.
- (7) The Civil Surgeon of the 24-Parganas, for the rest of the district.

II. For all other districts, the Civil Surgeon of the district.

The officers indicated in this paragraph will notify to the managers of the factories with which they are respectively concerned the place where and the time when they will be prepared to examine candidates for employment and grant certificates of age.

7. A Committee composed of the officers and gentlemen named in the margin was appointed to assist Government in framing the rules and forms of registers under the Acts. The rules, &c., as framed by them were published in draft as required by the law, and criticisms were invited for a period of two months. A few criticisms have been received, and the rules finally approved by the Lieutenant-Governor, after consideration of the suggestions made, are now published for general information. But the Lieutenant-Governor will be prepared to prescribe any rules which experience and the reports of the several Inspectors may hereafter show to be required.

8. The notification of the Government of India, No. 428, dated 25th March 1892, under section 18, clause (2) of the Indian Factories Act XV of 1881, as amended by Act XI of 1891, has been attached to the Rules under the Act for convenience of reference.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS
TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVA-
SATURDAY, THE 30TH OF APRIL 1892.

DURING the greater part of the previous week conditions had been slightly disturbed, and local storms with rain had been numerous in East and North Bengal. On the last day or two, however, the number of nor'-westers which had occurred had become much smaller, and weather was generally becoming fairly settled. The changes of meteorological conditions which occurred on the 24th were generally very small and of little importance, and weather therefore continued fine, but the readings recorded on the morning of the 25th instant showed that a very rapid fall of pressure had occurred, which had formed a well-defined though rather shallow barometric depression in Bihâr with a centre near Bhâgalpur, where pressure was about a quarter of an inch below the normal, and which feeble depression produced a slight cyclonic circulation of winds over a part of the province; while apparently, owing also to the existence of this depression, extremely strong moist winds set in over the head of the Bay, and spread over a large part of the interior of the province. Conditions continued to a great extent unaltered on the 26th, while on the 27th a very rapid increase of pressure took place, the rise being very large in the north of the province, and at Dinajpur it almost equalled a quarter of an inch. These disturbed conditions naturally gave rise to a few local storms with rain in East and North Bengal, but the falls were not very general. On the 28th pressure continued to rise generally over the province, but there were a good many stations reporting local falls of the barometer, again pointing to the existence of disturbed conditions; and on the 28th a considerable number of stations in the eastern and northern districts reported moderate rain accompanying local storms. On the 29th the pressure changes continued rather irregular, and local storms were reported in the central and south-eastern districts; but on the 30th a very rapid fall of pressure took place, particularly in North-East Bengal, where again pressure became nearly a fifth of an inch below the normal, while the general pressure over the province was a tenth of an inch in defect. Again, owing to the existence of these disturbed conditions, local storms with rain occurred in the southern, eastern and northern districts, and on this day a few stations in North Bihâr even reported rain. It will thus be seen that for the greater part of the week conditions have been disturbed, principally in the eastern and northern districts, and thus local storms with rain have been rather numerous. The meteorology of the week has also been characterised by the unusually large barometric changes which have occurred, and by the tendency to the formation of low-pressure areas in the north and north-east of the province, and probably in consequence of this distribution of pressure by the existence of unusually strong southerly winds at the head of the Bay.

Pressure.—The mean pressure for the week has been largely below the normal, the defect at the majority of stations exceeding a tenth of an inch, and generally varying from 0.09" to 0.12". The defect is largest at Sibnagar, where it equals 0.134," and in Assam generally it equals 0.11." It has also been rather large at the stations in Central and West Bengal and South Bihâr, where at the beginning of the week a distinct barometric depression existed.

Temperature.—The variations of temperature have also been very considerable during the week, and the average mean temperature of the whole province has been no less than 3.4° in excess of the normal, while in South Bihâr and Chota Nagpur the excess has been as large as 5°. In Assam, on the other hand, the excess has only equalled 0.8°.

Some very high maximum temperatures have been recorded during the week, and thus temperatures of from 110° to 113° have been registered at Cuttack, Balasore, Midnapore, Bankura, Raniganj, Dehri, Arrah, Gaya, and Chaibasa.

Rainfall.—The average fall of rain in East Bengal during the week has been 2.68 inches, or about 18 per cent in excess of the usual fall for the period. North Bengal has averaged 0.80 inch and South-West Bengal 0.50 inch, or about half the normal fall in each case. North Bihâr has received the small fall of 0.12 inch, but the other divisions have been practically rainless. These falls, from the nature of the rainfall, have been rather unequally distributed. In East Bengal the districts of Chittagong, Chittagong Hill Tracts, and Tippera have received abundant rain, and the remaining districts, and particularly Faridpur, less abundant rain. In North Bengal, Darjeeling, Pabna, and Malda have received decidedly heavy rain, Bogra and Dinajpur moderate rain, and the other districts smaller amounts. In South-West Bengal, Murshidabad, 24-Parganas, Howrah, Hooghly, and parts of Burdwan and Jessore districts have received good rain, and the other districts small amounts; and finally, in North Bihâr the falls have been mainly confined to the Purnea and North Bhâgalpur districts, though a few showers have also fallen in the Darbhanga district.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 30th of April 1892:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

o, overcast; g, gloomy; d, drizzling rain; p, passing temporary showers; t, thunder; <, lightning.

* Includes 1,179 tons and 8,805 tons during 1892 and 1891, respectively, carried for Revenue, for which no "Up" and "Down" register maintained.
† Railway plant and rolling-stock 8,957 tons and 9,413 tons for the years 1892 and 1891, respectively, for which no "Up" and "Down" register maintained.

Statement of principal commodities carried on the Eastern Bengal State Railway during the month of February 1892.

INCREASES.
	Tons.		Tons.
Coal ... ..	6,730	Magra Hat also contributed to the increase, due to the water in the canal being too low to admit of country boats carrying the traffic.
Partly due to provision for brick-burning.
Rice ... ..	5,290	Seeds ... ..	3,044
The chief increase is in despatches from Goalundo, Joypurhat, Nawabganj, and Sara Ghut. This is due to a rise in prices in the northern districts.		Chiefly from Sirajganj, Kasba, and Araria. The demand in Calcutta was brisk.
DECREASES.
	Tons.		Tons.
Jute, unscrewed ... ..	18,011	Jute, screwed ... ..	4,723
The decrease was general at jute-booking stations, due to short crop.		Haldibari, Darasni, Jalpaiguri, Kalir Bazar, and Mymensingh show the principal decreases, due to short crop.

PART I.

Orders and Notifications by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, the High Court, Government Treasury, &c.

ORDERS BY THE LIEUT.-GOVERNOR OF BENGAL.

NOTIFICATION.

The 7th May 1892.—The Lieutenant-Governor announces with profound regret the death by cholera at Chittagong, on the 5th May 1892, of Sir Henry Leland Harrison, Knight, Senior Member of the Board of Revenue and Member of the Bengal Legislative Council.

After a distinguished University career, Sir Henry Harrison joined the Indian Civil Service in 1860. He early attracted the attention of Government and was appointed Junior Secretary in 1867. For nearly six years he was Magistrate and Collector of the important district of Midnapore, and acquired the reputation of being one of the best district officers in Bengal. He then served as Secretary to the Board of Revenue, and for a short time as Secretary to Government. In April 1881 he was appointed Chairman of the Corporation and Commissioner of Police, Calcutta. For nine years he discharged the duties of this difficult office in a manner which won for him the approval of Government and the esteem and respect of the public. His name will always be associated with a period of greatly improved Municipal administration, and his public services to Calcutta constitute a large part of the history of the Metropolis during the past decade. In April 1890 he was appointed a Member of the Board of Revenue. The news of his sudden death, while visiting the district of Chittagong in the discharge of his duties as a Member of the Board, will be received with universal sorrow. This calamitous event has deprived the Lieutenant-Governor of one of his most trusted advisers, the Civil Service of one of its most distinguished ornaments, and the province and people of Bengal of one of their truest friends.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL,—MARINE DEPARTMENT.

[Second Publication.]

NOTIFICATION.

The 3rd May 1892.

No. 33 Marine.—Under the powers conferred upon him by section 29 of the Indian Steam-Vessels Act, 1884, as amended by subsequent enactments, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, to make the following rules, in supersession of those published in the Appendix to the Calcutta Gazette of the 5th February 1890, to regulate the granting of certificates of competency to Masters of Inland Steam-Vessels:—

REGULATIONS RELATING TO THE EXAMINATION OF MASTERS OF INLAND STEAM-VESSELS.

- 1 Certificates of Competency will be granted to those persons who pass the requisite examinations, and otherwise comply with the requisite conditions. For this purpose arrangements have been made for holding examinations periodically at the Port of Calcutta.
Certificates granted to persons who pass examinations.
2. The examinations will be held by the Port Officer and one or more other examiners, to be appointed by the Government from time to time. They will commence early in the forenoon, and will be continued from day to day until all the candidates whose names appear upon the Port Officer's list on the day of examination are examined.
Examinations continued till all the candidates are examined.

3. Candidates for examination must make their application upon the appropriate form (Exn. 2b), which must be filled up at the Port Office. The Exn. 2b properly filled in, together with the candidates' testimonials and discharges, must be lodged with the Port Officer not later than the day before the day of examination.

4. Testimonials of character, and of sobriety, experience, ability, and good conduct on board ship for at least the twelve months of service immediately preceding the date of application to be examined, will be required of all applicants, and without producing them no person will be examined. As such testimonials and discharges may have to be verified before the candidate can be examined, it is desirable that they should be handed in, together with the Form Exn. 2b, as early as possible.

5. The testimonials of servitude of Foreigners and of British seamen serving in foreign vessels, which cannot be verified by the Port Officer, must be confirmed either by the Consul of the country to which the ship in which the candidate served belonged, or by some other recognized official authority of that country; or by the testimony of some credible person on the spot having personal knowledge of the facts required to be established. The production, however, of such proofs will not of necessity be deemed sufficient. Each case must be decided on its own merits; and if the sufficiency of the proofs given appears to be at all doubtful, the point must be referred to the Government.

6. Should any doubt exist as to the age of a candidate, he will be required to produce a certificate of birth or baptism.

7. Foreigners must prove to the satisfaction of the Examiners that they can speak and write the English language sufficiently well to perform the duties required of them on board a British vessel. In the case of natives of India who may not be able to speak English, their certificates shall be endorsed to the effect that they are valid only for vessels manned and officered entirely by Asiatics.

Colour Tests.

8. The Government have made the following arrangements for the examination of persons as to their ability to distinguish colours:—

9. Examinations in colour are open to any person serving or about to serve in the Mercantile Marine.

10. Any persons including the holders of Certificates of Competency, or persons about to apply for Certificates of Competency, if desirous of being examined in Colours only, must make application to the Port Officer on Form Exn. 2a, and pay a fee of one rupee.

11. He must on the appointed day attend for examination at the Examiner's Office and if he passes he will receive a certificate to that effect.

12. If he fails, it will be open to him to be examined again in Colours as often as he pleases on payment of the fee of one rupee at each fresh attempt.

13. The application of a candidate who is presenting himself for examination for a Master's Certificate must be made on Form Exn. 2b. Such examination will commence with the colour test; and if the candidate does not, at the time of making application, hold a Certificate of Competency of any grade, and should fail to distinguish correctly any one of the colours used in the test, he will not be allowed to proceed with the examination.

14. The fee he has paid for examination for a Certificate of Competency will include the fee for the Colour test, and, with the exception of one rupee, will in such event be returned to him.

15. A candidate for examination for a Certificate of Competency who, at the time of making application, does not possess a certificate, and who fails to pass the Colour test, may not be re-examined until after the lapse of three months from the date of his first failure. If he fails a second time, he will be allowed a third trial at the expiration of another three months from the date of his second failure. A fresh fee must be paid at each succeeding examination.

16. It is therefore obviously to the advantage of Candidates for Certificates of Competency to apply in the first instance to be examined in Colours only on Form Exn. 2a.

17. A candidate who holds a Certificate of Competency, and who, on presenting himself for examination for a certificate of a higher grade, is unable to pass the Colour test, will notwithstanding be permitted to proceed with the examination for the certificate of the higher grade.

18. Should he pass this examination, the following statement will be written on the face of the higher certificate which may be granted to him, viz.—“This Officer has failed to pass the examination in Colours.”

19. Should he ultimately fail to pass the examination, a like statement, relating to his being colour blind, will be made by the Port Officer on his existing certificate before it is returned to him.

20. Holders of certificates which bear the statement of their having failed to pass in Colours, and who may desire to have the statement removed from their certificates, must obtain the special permission of the Government.

Qualifications for Certificates of Competency as First Class Masters.

21. Examination in Colours.—All candidates for certificates of competency must first be examined in Colours.

22. A candidate for a certificate as first class master of inland steam-vessels must be not less than twenty-four years of age, and must have served as second class master in charge of a steam-vessel for not less than three years, or he must be not less than twenty-two years of age, hold a certificate of competency as second mate granted under Act I of 1859 (for the amendment of the law relating to Merchant Seamen), or the Merchant Shipping Acts, 1854 to 1883, or a certificate to which the provisions of any such Act have been made applicable under the Merchant Shipping (Colonial) Act, 1869, and have served as mate of an inland steam-vessel or master of a river flat for not less than one year; or he must be not less than twenty-four years of age, and must have served either not less than three years at sea and three years as mate of a river-steamer or master of a river flat, or not less than six years as mate of a river steamer or master of a river flat.

23. Each candidate will be examined apart, and visd voce, in each and all of the following subjects:—

- (1)—The rules of the road.
- (2)—The management of river steamers under all contingencies.
- (3)—The tide table.
- (4)—Storm signals.
- (5)—The provisions of Act VI of 1884, and the rules framed under sections 21, 29, 50 and 51 of the Act.

Qualifications for Certificates of Competency as Second Class Masters.

24. Examination in Colours.—All candidates for Certificates of Competency must first be examined in Colours.

25. A candidate for a certificate as second class master of an inland steam-vessel must not be less than twenty-one years of age and must produce satisfactory certificates of sobriety and intelligence, and that he has served three years as Mate of a small steam-vessel or as chief helmsman of a steam-vessel of over 80 horse-power, and shall be examined visd voce as to his knowledge in the following subjects:—

- (1)—The rules of the road.
- (2)—The management of small river steamers.
- (3)—Storm signals.

Failure.

26. If a candidate fails, he will not be re-examined until after a lapse of three months from the date of such failure.

Re-examination in case of failure.

Certificate of lower grade.

27. If a candidate has failed in his examination, but the subjects in which he has failed are not included in the subjects required for a certificate of a lower grade, he may, if he desires it, receive a certificate of such lower grade.

28. No part, however, of the fee he has paid will be returned to him, and on presenting himself, when entitled so to do, for re-examination for the higher grade of certificate, he will be required to pay again the full fee.

Fees.

29. Candidates for examination, in making their application on Form Exn. 2b, will be required to pay the examination fee before any step is taken, whether by enquiring into their services or testing their qualifications, &c. Should it be found that their service is not sufficient to entitle them to be examined, or should their testimonials be unsatisfactory, or should they from any other cause not be examined, no part of the fee will be returned to them, but when they have fulfilled the requisite service, or are able to produce satisfactory testimonials, as the case may be, they will be allowed to again present themselves for examination for a certificate of the same grade without paying any further fee.

30. The fee for examination must be paid to the Port Officer. In any case in which a candidate offers money to any other officer, and in any place but in the Port Office, the candidate so offering money will be regarded as having committed an act of misconduct, and will be rejected and not allowed to be again examined for twelve months.

Fees to be paid by applicants for examination.

31. If a candidate fails in his examination, no part of the fee will be returned to him.

32. If the candidate satisfy the examiners as to his knowledge of the prescribed subjects, and generally as to his competency to command an inland river steamer, they shall certify the same to the Government, which will then grant a certificate to the candidate.

33. The fees are as follows:—

	Rs.
First Class Master	16
Second Class Master	6

General.

34. Certificates of competency of first and second class masters shall be made and issued in the forms hereunto annexed.

35. Every certificate of competency shall be made in duplicate, and one copy shall be delivered to the person entitled to the certificate, and the other shall be kept and recorded by the Port Officer of Calcutta.

NOTIFICATION.

The 3rd May 1892.

No. 34 Marine.—Under the powers conferred upon him by section 29 of the Inland Steam-Vessels Act, 1884, as amended by subsequent enactments, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, to make the following rules, in supersession of those published in the Appendix to the Calcutta Gazette of the 5th February 1890, to regulate the granting of certificates of competency to Engineers and First class Engine-drivers of Inland Steam-Vessels :—

REGULATIONS RELATING TO THE EXAMINATION OF ENGINEERS AND FIRST CLASS ENGINE-DRIVERS OF INLAND STEAM-VESSELS.

1. Certificates of competency will be granted to those persons who pass the requisite examinations and otherwise comply with the requisite conditions. For this purpose examiners have been appointed and arrangements have been made for holding the examinations periodically at the port of Calcutta.

2. The examinations will commence early in the forenoon, and will be continued from day to day until all the candidates whose names appear upon the Port Officer's list on the day of examination are examined.

3. Candidates for examination must make their application upon Form Exn. 3b, which must be filled up at the Port Office. The Exn. 3b, properly filled in, together with the candidate's testimonials, must be lodged with the Port Officer not later than the day before the day of examination.

4. Testimonials of character and of sobriety, experience, ability, and good conduct, for at least the 12 months immediately preceding the date of application to be examined, will be required of all applicants, and without producing them no person will be examined. If the service has been on shore, the testimonial must be signed by an employer; if at sea, by either the master, managing owner, chief or superintending engineer.

5. As such testimonials and discharges may have to be verified before the candidates can be examined, it is desirable that they should be handed in, together with the Form Exn. 3b, as early as possible.

6. The testimonials of servitude of Foreigners and of British seamen serving in foreign vessels, which cannot be verified by the Port Officer, must be confirmed either by the Consul of the country to which the ship in which the candidate served belonged, or by some other recognised official authority of that country, or by the testimony of some credible person on the spot, having personal knowledge of the facts required to be established. The production, however, of such proofs will not of necessity be deemed sufficient. Each case must be decided on its own merits; and if the sufficiency of the proofs given appears to be at all doubtful, the point must be referred to the Government.

Certificate as to age.

7. Should any doubt exist as to the age of a candidate, he will be required to produce a certificate of birth or baptism.

8. Foreigners must prove to the satisfaction of the Examiners that they can speak and write the English language sufficiently well to perform the duties required of them on board a British vessel.

9. Services which cannot be verified by proper entries in the articles of the ships in which the candidates have served cannot be counted.

Qualifications for certificates of competency as Engineers.

Qualification of candidate for Inland Engineer's Certificate.

10. A candidate must be not less than twenty-two years of age :—

(a) He must have served an apprenticeship to an engineer of three years in England or five years in India, and must prove that during the period of his apprenticeship he has been employed on the making and repairing of engines. Or, if he has not served an apprenticeship, he must prove that for not less than three years in England or five years in India he has been employed as a journeyman or masterhand in some factory or workshop on the making or repairing of engines. In either case he must also have served two years thereafter in the engine-room of a steamer of over 80 horse-power, or as a certificated engine-driver in a steamer of less than 80 horse-power.

Or, failing the above service, he must have served as a certificated engine-driver in charge of a steamer for not less than four years.

(b) He must be able to give a description of boilers and the methods of staying them, together with the use and management of the different valves, cocks, pipes, and connections.

- (c) He must understand how to correct defects from accident, decay or other causes, and the means of repairing such defects.
- (d) He must understand the use of the barometer, thermometer, and salinometer, and the principles on which they are constructed.
- (e) He must state the causes, effects, and usual remedies for incrustation and corrosion.
- (f) He must be able to state how a temporary or permanent repair could be effected in case of derangement of a part of the machinery, or total breakdown.
- (g) He must write a legible hand, and understand the first five rules of arithmetic and decimals, and their application to questions about consumption of stores, and full capacities of tanks and bunkers, the duty of pumps, and the direct strains in engines and boilers.
- (h) He must be able to pass a creditable examination as to the various constructions of paddle and screw engines in general use; as to the details of the different working parts, external and internal, and the use of each part.

Qualifications for certificates of competency as first class Engine-drivers.

11. Candidates for examination must make their application upon the appropriate Form (Exn. 3b.), which must be filled up at the Port Office.

12. A candidate for a certificate of competency as first class engine-driver must have attained the age of twenty-two years.

13. He must have served an apprenticeship of at least four years if in India, or three years in the United Kingdom, and have served as assistant engineer for one year on a steamer of not less than 80 horse-power.

Or he must have been three years principal serang or tindal in the engine-room of a steamer, or have been for three years in charge of the engine of a factory or mill under a European manager or engineer, as well as one year principal serang or tindal or assistant engineer in the engine-room of a steamer under a certificated engineer.

14. He must have the testimonial shown in Appendix B filled up by the engineer with whom he has last served, or his other testimonials must contain all the particulars therein required.

15. He must pass a viva voce examination before the Board of Examiners as to the working of an engine and the use of its different parts.

16. He must be able, if required, to show his practical qualifications by one week's trial in a steamer after fulfilling the other tests to which he will be subjected.

General Rules as to Examinations.

17. All books necessary for the use of candidates under examination will be provided by the Government, and applicants will not be permitted to take into the examination room any book, paper, document, or memoranda of any description whatever; and, subject to the provisions referred to hereafter, they will also not be allowed to work out their problems on a slate or on waste paper.

18. Candidates will be allowed in the time allotted to cancel any part of their work, and, when required, additional papers will be supplied by the Examiners. These additional sheets must be attached to, and form part of, the examination papers.

19. In the event of any candidate being discovered copying from another, or affording any assistance or giving any information to another, or communicating in any way with another during the time of examination, he will be regarded as having failed in his examination, and will be turned back for three months, in the same manner as if he had failed in the practical part of the examination; and no part of the fees he may have paid for examination will be returned to him.

20. If a candidate leaves the room before answering any question which has been given to him, he cannot afterwards be permitted to answer it, but the examiners may substitute other data or another question.

21. All applicants presenting themselves for examination for certificates of competency as engineers will be required to give written answers to eight out of a list of ten questions selected from Form Exn. 15a, "Elementary Questions for the first examinations of Engineers for certificates of competency." These questions are intended to furnish a record to some extent of the candidate's knowledge at the time of his examination, and also to induce the candidates to pay more attention to their handwriting and spelling.

22. The Form Exn. 15b., on which these answers will be written, contains also some questions as to the experience of the applicant, to be answered by him in writing.

23. Examiners may add to their viva voce questions on the practical management of steam-engines and boilers any of those contained in Exn. 15a.

24. If at the expiration of the time allowed the candidate has worked out correctly the whole of the questions set to him, and given satisfactory answers in the viva voce examination, he will be declared to have passed.

25. If at the expiration of the time allowed he has not worked out the whole of the questions set to him, but if the result of the viva voce examination, taken in connection with the answers to such of the questions as he has worked out, is sufficient to satisfy the Examiner, that the applicant is competent to take charge of engines, he will be declared to have passed.

26. In other cases he will be declared to have failed.

(Exn. 15.)

27. A report of the examination, and the examination papers, will be forwarded to the Government on the Form Exn. 15.

28. If the candidate passes, he will receive the Form Exn. 16 upon which the Government will issue the certificate to the candidate, whose testimonials, &c., will be returned at the same time. It is therefore important that the port of destination of the certificate should be the same on both the Form Exn. 16 and the Form Exn. 2. If circumstances should make any alteration necessary, the examiners should see that it is made in both forms, otherwise delay in the issue of the certificate may be caused.

Fees.

SUMMARY OF THE RAINFALL AND METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF APRIL 1892.

At the commencement of the month fine weather of ordinary hot season character prevailed in all districts, though the pressure distribution was a little anomalous, inasmuch as there was a very considerable excess of pressure in the north-east of the province, while the excess diminished rapidly in amount towards the west. Hence easterly and south-easterly winds prevailed generally, and the air was unusually moist. Owing apparently to an increase in the strength of the westerly winds blowing in Central and Upper India, and which began to force back the moist easterly winds blowing in Bengal, conditions began to change from the 4th, from which date local storms with rain commenced in Assam and North Bengal, and which afterwards spread towards the south-west, and fairly general but very irregular rainfall was received in all districts, except parts of Behar and Chota Nagpur and Orissa, during the first week of the month. At the end of this period pressure had fallen to almost its normal amount, while winds had become of the normal westerly character at the western stations and south-westerly in the south-west of the province, while the easterly element in North Bengal and North Bihâr had become weak. A few local storms with rain again occurred in the north and centre of the province about the 12th, but the meteorological changes which took place up to this time were generally small. A steady relative increase in pressure at the eastern stations then took place, baric gradients from east to west became steeper, and what was almost a barometric depression was formed in the extreme west of the province, and winds therefore became more easterly than they had been. At this time a series of local storms with rain set in over the greater part of South-West Bengal, the whole of North Bengal, the Purnea, North Bhâgalpur, and Darbhanga districts of North Bihâr, the Monghyr and South Bhâgalpur districts of South Bihâr, the Sonthul Parganas, and a considerable part of Chota Nagpur. On the 19th the area of defective pressure in the west of the province extended, and in parts of Bihâr and South-West Bengal pressure became from an eighth to a tenth of an inch below the normal, and this defective pressure continued to become more strongly marked up till the 22nd, when there was a defect of about a quarter of an inch in Bihâr and North Bengal. Hence baric gradients for the whole of this time were unusually steep in Bengal and at the head of the Bay, and strong winds bringing up much moisture blew over the province from the Bay, and therefore during the whole of this period local storms with rain were numerous in East and North Bengal, while a considerable number of showers also occurred in South-West Bengal, and Orissa. From the 23rd, however, pressure began to increase rapidly, and by the 24th the feeble depression had disappeared. Again on the 25th a rapid fall of pressure gave a well-defined though shallow barometric depression over Bihâr, which filled up on the 27th and 28th, while again on the 30th a very rapid fall of pressure took place, particularly in the north-east of the province, where a defect of about a fifth of an inch below the normal was recorded. Hence during the existence of these shallow low-pressure areas strong moist southerly winds were drawn in from the Bay, and a good many local storms with rain occurred, principally in East and North Bengal, up till quite the close of the month.

The principal features in the meteorology of April therefore have been the well-marked tendency to the formation of low-pressure areas or feeble barometric depressions over Bengal, and particularly over the north of the province, which has been accompanied by unusually large oscillations of pressure. With this distribution of pressure the southerly winds blowing from the Bay over Bengal have been exceptionally strong,—far stronger indeed than the winds which are experienced in the south-west monsoon. These strong southerly winds have brought up large quantities of moisture to the province, and have hence facilitated the formation of very numerous local storms or nor'-westers with rain, and thus the rainfall for the month has been rather largely in excess of the normal in East and North Bengal, the excess equalling from more than sixty to about eighty per cent. The rainfall has also been about normal in amount in South-West Bengal and in North and South Bihâr; but, on the other hand, it has been very considerably in defect in Orissa and Chota Nagpur.

Pressure.—The mean pressure for the whole month has been very distinctly in defect of the normal. This defect generally ranges from about 0.02" to 0.03" in the south of the province to about 0.05" to 0.06" at the northern stations, the mean defect at such stations as Sibsaagar and Gaya being about 0.06" and upwards. In Assam the general defect equals 0.036", which is a little higher than the general defect for Bengal.

Temperature.—The variations of temperature during the month have been rather large. During the first week or ten days the mean temperature of the province was about 2.3° in excess of the normal. During the week ending the 16th of April the excess had fallen to 1.6°, while in the week ending the 23rd the general temperature of the whole province was practically normal, though defects were registered in East and North Bengal and North Bihâr, and excess temperatures in Orissa and Chota Nagpur. Finally, during the last week of the month temperature rose very considerably, and became about 3.4° in excess of the normal. Thus the mean temperature of the province for the month has been no less than 1.8 in excess of the normal for the period, but the highest excess has been recorded in South Bihâr and Chota Nagpur, where it is from three to three and-a-half degrees. In Assam the small excess of 0.8° only has been recorded.

The highest temperatures recorded in each of the divisions during the month have been— in Orissa 112·5° at Balasore and 112·4° at Cuttack ; in South-West Bengal 112·4° at Midnapore ; in East Bengal 98·6° at Dacca ; in North Bengal 104·8° at Rampur Baolia and 104·1° at Malda ; in North Bihár 110·7° at Chupra ; in South Bihár 112·6° at Gaya ; in Chota Nagpur 102·3° at Chaibassa, and in Assam 94·8° at Dhubri.

Rainfall.—The falls in East Bengal have averaged more than six and-a-half inches, or two and-a-half inches in excess of the normal, and in North Bengal nearly four and-a-half inches, or about two inches more than usual. South-West Bengal has averaged two inches, North Bihár about an inch, and South Bihár about four-tenths,—in all cases nearly normal amounts. Orissa, however, has only received an average fall of five-tenths, or about one-third of the usual fall, and Chota Nagpur only a tenth of an inch, or less than a quarter of the average amount for April.

Taking up these divisions rather more in detail, in East and North Bengal all the districts have received fairly abundant rainfall ; in South-West Bengal Murshidabad, Burdwan, 24-Parganas, Howrah, Hooghly, Nadia, Jessore, and Khulna have received good rain, Midnapore, Birbhum, and West Burdwan moderate rain, and Bankura, South-West Midnapore, and South 24-Parganas light rain only. In North Behar rainfall has been mainly confined to the Purnoa and North Bhágalspur districts, and in South Bihár to the South Bhágalspur, Monghyr, and Sonthal Parganas districts. In Chota Nagpur only Manbhum and Singhbhum have received light rain.

In Assam there has been very heavy rain during the month, for Silchar has received 24·90 inches, and Sibsagar 15·19 inches, while Dhubri only reports 8·49 inches.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the month of April 1892 :—

Explanation.—.. indicate that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the denotation of a rainy day is when at least 0.1 inch of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 10th May 1892.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS
TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVA-
TIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M.,
SATURDAY, THE 7TH OF MAY 1892.

At the close of the previous week conditions were a little disturbed in Bengal from the fact that a shallow low-pressure area existed over Bengal, the centre of the defective pressure being in North Bengal, where a defect of about a fifth of an inch was registered. With these disturbed conditions a series of local storms or nor'-westers with rain occurred on the evening of the 30th April, the rainfall from which was reported on the morning of the 1st of May, or the first day of the present week, and from this cause the stations in all districts of East Bengal, except parts of Tippera and Mymensingh, reported moderate rain on this day. Pressure, however, commenced to rise moderately to rapidly on the morning of the 1st; the increase was still more marked on the 2nd, when pressure became above the normal, the excess being small in the south-western districts, while in North Bengal it almost amounted to a tenth of an inch. On the 3rd the pressure changes were small and variable, and on the 4th there was a slow to moderate fall, and on the 5th a slight rise, and the general pressure over the province still remained fairly normal. On the 6th and 7th, however, pressure was generally falling slowly to moderately, and on the latter date pressure became below the normal over the whole province. Hence the disturbed conditions which existed at the commencement of the week rapidly passed away with the disappearance of the depression and the establishment of high pressure, and except in or near the hills in North Bengal, rainfall practically ceased from the 1st. Towards the close of the week, however, with the falling pressures conditions became less settled than they had been, and on the 7th, or the last day of the week, rain which had probably fallen during local storms was reported at almost all the stations in North Bengal and at a few in East Bengal. During the whole of the week the fluctuations of temperature have not been very large, and on the whole temperature has been generally rising. Winds have also been fairly normal in character, being southerly at the southern stations, south-easterly in East Bengal, and easterly along the line of the hills, while at a few of the western stations westerly and south-westerly winds have been reported. Hence these winds have brought up a good deal of moisture to the province, though the number of local storms during the present week has been much smaller than in the previous week, owing to the disturbed conditions being less pronounced. Hence only East and North Bengal have received moderate rain during the week, the amounts being decidedly smaller than the normal for the period, while Assam has also received moderate to heavy rain. The other divisions of Bengal have, however, been almost rainless for the week, as only a few isolated storms have occurred in various districts.

Pressure.—The mean pressure for the week has been decidedly in excess of the normal, the excess usually ranging from 0.03" to 0.05". The smallest excess pressures are, however, reported from North Bengal and North Bihar, where they only average about 0.01" to 0.02". In Assam also the excess pressures have been comparatively small, and at Dhubri and Silchar they equal about 0.02", while at Sibsagar even a defective pressure is recorded, but the correctness of this is doubtful.

Temperature.—It has been exceptionally high during the week, and the mean temperature for the whole province has been no less than 4.2° in excess of the normal. This excess has been fairly equally distributed except in South-West Bengal, where it equals 5.4°. In Assam there has been an excess temperature of only one degree.

Rainfall.—The average rainfall in North Bengal has equalled about one and-a-half inches, or a little less than the normal fall, while in East Bengal the falls have averaged about nine-tenths of an inch, or not much more than a third of the usual amount. The falls in all other divisions have been so small that rainfall has been practically absent in them.

These falls have also been rather irregularly distributed. In North Bengal the falls have been rather abundant in the districts of Jalpaiguri and Kuch Bihar, and to a less extent in Darjeeling and Rangpur; the other districts generally have received moderate rain except Malda, which has been practically rainless. In East Bengal, Chittagong, Chittagong Hill Tracts, and Tippera have received good rain and the other districts rather small amounts, except in the case of Backergunge which has been rainless.

In Assam during the week Dhubri has received 4.61 inches, Silchar 2.41 inches, and Sibsagar 2.11 inches of rain.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 7th of May 1892:—

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park Street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore .003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 0.2° lower; and, finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0.6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

NOTIFICATION.

The 3rd May 1892.

No. 33 Marine.—Under the powers conferred upon him by section 29 of the Inland Steam-Vessels Act, 1884, as amended by subsequent enactments, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, to make the following rules, in supersession of those published in the Appendix to the Calcutta Gazette of the 5th February 1890, to regulate the granting of certificates of competency to Masters of Inland Steam-Vessels :—

REGULATIONS RELATING TO THE EXAMINATION OF MASTERS OF INLAND STEAM-VESSELS.

1. Certificates of Competency will be granted to those persons who pass the requisite examinations, and otherwise comply with the requisite conditions. For this purpose arrangements have been made for holding examinations periodically at the Port of Calcutta.
Certificates granted to persons who pass examinations.
2. The examinations will be held by the Port Officer and one or more other examiners to be appointed by the Government from time to time. They will commence early in the forenoon, and will be continued from day to day until all the candidates whose names appear upon the Port Officer's list on the day of examination are examined.
Examinations continued till all the candidates are examined.
3. Candidates for examination must make their application upon the appropriate form (Exn. 2b), which must be filled up at the Port Office. The Exn. 2b properly filled in, together with the candidates' testimonials and discharges, must be lodged with the Port Officer not later than the day before the day of examination.
4. Testimonials of character, and of sobriety, experience, ability, and good conduct on board ship for at least the twelve months of service immediately preceding the date of application to be examined, will be required of all applicants, and without producing them no person will be examined. As such testimonials and discharges may have to be verified before the candidate can be examined, it is desirable that they should be handed in, together with the Form Exn. 2b, as early as possible.
Testimonials of character, conduct, and ability required.
5. The testimonials of servitude of Foreigners and of British seamen serving in foreign vessels, which cannot be verified by the Port Officer, must be confirmed either by the Consul of the country to which the ship in which the candidate served belonged, or by some other recognized official authority of that country; or by the testimony of some credible person on the spot having personal knowledge of the facts required to be established. The production, however, of such proofs will not of necessity be deemed sufficient. Each case must be decided on its own merits; and if the sufficiency of the proofs given appears to be at all doubtful, the point must be referred to the Government.
Testimonials of Foreigners.
6. Should any doubt exist as to the age of a candidate, he will be required to produce a certificate of birth or baptism.
Certificates as to age.
7. Foreigners must prove to the satisfaction of the Examiners that they can speak and write the English language sufficiently well to perform the duties required of them on board a British vessel. In the case of natives of India who may not be able to speak English, their certificates shall be endorsed to the effect that they are valid only for vessels manned and officered entirely by Asiatics.
Foreigners to know English.

Colour Tests.

8. The Government have made the following arrangements for the examination of persons as to their ability to distinguish colours :—

9. Examinations in colour are open to any person serving or about to serve in the Mercantile Marine.

10. Any persons including the holders of Certificates of Competency, or persons about to apply for Certificates of Competency, if desirous of being examined in Colours only, must make application to the Port Officer on Form Exn. 2<sup>a</sup>, and pay a fee of one rupee.

11. He must on the appointed day attend for examination at the Examiner's Office and if he passes he will receive a certificate to that effect.

12. If he fails, it will be open to him to be examined again in Colours as often as he pleases on payment of the fee of one rupee at each fresh attempt.

13. The application of a candidate who is presenting himself for examination for a Master's Certificate must be made on Form Exn. 2<sup>b</sup>. Such examination will commence with the colour test; and if the candidate does not, at the time of making application, hold a Certificate of Competency of any grade, and should fail to distinguish correctly any one of the colours used in the test, he will not be allowed to proceed with the examination.

14. The fee he has paid for examination for a Certificate of Competency will include the fee for the Colour test, and, with the exception of one rupee, will in such event be returned to him.

15. A candidate for examination for a Certificate of Competency who, at the time of making application, does not possess a certificate, and who fails to pass the Colour test, may not be re-examined until after the lapse of three months from the date of his first failure. If he fails a second time, he will be allowed a third trial at the expiration of another three months from the date of his second failure. A fresh fee must be paid at each succeeding examination.

16. It is therefore obviously to the advantage of Candidates for Certificates of Competency to apply in the first instance to be examined in Colours only on Form Exn. 2<sup>a</sup>.

17. A candidate who holds a Certificate of Competency, and who, on presenting himself for examination for a certificate of a higher grade, is unable to pass the Colour test, will notwithstanding be permitted to proceed with the examination for the certificate of the higher grade.

18. Should he pass this examination, the following statement will be written on the face of the higher certificate which may be granted to him, viz.—“This Officer has failed to pass the examination in Colours.”

19. Should he ultimately fail to pass the examination, a like statement, relating to his being colour blind, will be made by the Port Officer on his existing certificate before it is returned to him.

20. Holders of certificates which bear the statement of their having failed to pass in Colours, and who may desire to have the statement removed from their certificates, must obtain the special permission of the Government.

Qualifications for Certificates of Competency as First Class Masters.

21. Examination in Colours.—All candidates for certificates of competency must first be examined in Colours.

28. No part, however, of the fee he has paid will be returned to him, and on presenting himself, when entitled so to do, for re-examination for the higher grade of certificate, he will be required to pay again the full fee.

Fees.

29. Candidates for examination, in making their application on Form Exn. 2b, will be required to pay the examination fee before any step is taken, whether by enquiring into their services or testing their qualifications, &c. Should it be found that their service is not sufficient to entitle them to be examined, or should their testimonials be unsatisfactory, or should they from any other cause not be examined, no part of the fee will be returned to them, but when they have fulfilled the requisite service, or are able to produce satisfactory testimonials, as the case may be, they will be allowed to again present themselves for examination for a certificate of the same grade without paying any further fee.
30. The fee for examination must be paid to the Port Officer. In any case in which a candidate offers money to any other officer, and in any place but in the Port Office, the candidate so offering money will be regarded as having committed an act of misconduct, and will be rejected and not allowed to be again examined for twelve months.
- Fees to be paid by applicants for examination.
31. If a candidate fails in his examination, no part of the fee will be returned to him.
32. If the candidate satisfy the examiners as to his knowledge of the prescribed subjects, and generally as to his competency to command an inland river steamer, they shall certify the same to the Government, which will then grant a certificate to the candidate.

Qualifications for certificates of competency as first class Engine-drivers.

11. Candidates for examination must make their application upon the appropriate Form (Exn. 3b.), which must be filled up at the Port Office.

12. A candidate for a certificate of competency as first class engine-driver must have attained the age of twenty-two years.

13. He must have served an apprenticeship of at least four years if in India, or three years in the United Kingdom, and have served as assistant engineer for one year on a steamer of not less than 80 horse-power.

Or he must have been three years principal serang or tindal in the engine-room of a steamer, or have been for three years in charge of the engine of a factory or mill under a European manager or engineer, as well as one year principal serang or tindal or assistant engineer in the engine-room of a steamer under a certificated engineer.

14. He must have the testimonial shown in Appendix B filled up by the engineer with whom he has last served, or his other testimonials must contain all the particulars therein required.

15. He must pass a viva voce examination before the Board of Examiners as to the working of an engine and the use of its different parts.

16. He must be able, if required, to show his practical qualifications by one week's trial in a steamer after fulfilling the other tests to which he will be subjected.

General Rules as to Examinations.

17. All books necessary for the use of candidates under examination will be provided by the Government, and applicants will not be permitted to take into the examination room any book, paper, document, or memoranda of any description whatever; and, subject to the provisions referred to hereafter, they will also not be allowed to work out their problems on a slate or on waste paper.

18. Candidates will be allowed in the time allotted to cancel any part of their work, and, when required, additional papers will be supplied by the Examiners. These additional sheets must be attached to, and form part of, the examination papers.

19. In the event of any candidate being discovered copying from another, or affording any assistance or giving any information to another, or communicating in any way with another during the time of examination, he will be regarded as having failed in his examination, and will be turned back for three months, in the same manner as if he had failed in the practical part of the examination; and no part of the fees he may have paid for examination will be returned to him.

20. If a candidate leaves the room before answering any question which has been given to him, he cannot afterwards be permitted to answer it, but the examiners may substitute other data or another question.

21. All applicants presenting themselves for examination for certificates of competency as engineers will be required to give written answers to eight out of a list of ten questions selected from Form Exn. 15a, "Elementary Questions for the first examinations of Engineers for certificates of competency." These questions are intended to furnish a record to some extent of the candidate's knowledge at the time of his examination, and also to induce the candidates to pay more attention to their handwriting and spelling.

22. The Form Exn. 15b., on which these answers will be written, contains also some questions as to the experience of the applicant, to be answered by him in writing.

23. Examiners may add to their viva voce questions on the practical management of steam-engines and boilers any of those contained in Exn. 15a.

24. If at the expiration of the time allowed the candidate has worked out correctly the whole of the questions set to him, and given satisfactory answers in the viva voce examination, he will be declared to have passed.

25. If at the expiration of the time allowed he has not worked out the whole of the questions set to him, but if the result of the viva voce examination, taken in connection with the answers to such of the questions as he has worked out, is sufficient to satisfy the Examiner that the applicant is competent to take charge of engines, he will be declared to have passed.

26. In other cases he will be declared to have failed.

(Exn. 15.)

27. A report of the examination, and the examination papers, will be forwarded to the Government on the Form Exn. 15.

28. If the candidate passes, he will receive the Form Exn. 16 upon which the Government will issue the certificate to the candidate, whose testimonials, &c., will be returned at the same time. It is therefore important that the port of destination of the certificate should be the same on both the Form Exn. 16 and the Form Exn. 2. If circumstances should make any alteration necessary, the examiners should see that it is made in both forms, otherwise delay in the issue of the certificate may be caused.

Notification of having passed will be given to successful candidates (Exn. 16).

Fees.

29. Candidates for examination, in making their application on Form Exn. 36, will be required to pay the examination fees before any step is taken, whether by inquiring into their services or testing their qualifications, &c. No part of the fee will under any circumstances be returned to them; but should it be found that their service is not sufficient to entitle them to be examined, or that their testimonials are unsatisfactory, they will be allowed to present themselves for examination without paying any further fee, when they have fulfilled the requisite service, or are able to produce satisfactory testimonials, as the case may be.

30. The fee for examination must be paid to the Port Officer. In any case in which a candidate offers money to any other officer, and in any place but in the Port Office, the candidate so offering money will be regarded as having committed an act of misconduct, and will be rejected and not allowed to be examined for twelve months.

31. If a candidate fails in his examinations, no part of the fee he has paid will be returned to him.

32. The fees are as follow:—

	Rs.
Engineers ... ..	12
First class engine-drivers ... ..	10

Failure.

33. If the applicant fails in the rule and practical part of the examination, he may not present himself for re-examination until he can produce proofs of three months' further service afloat. If he fails in arithmetic or drawing only, he may come up again at any time. Engine-drivers may be examined de novo after six months, if the past examination showed that they might reasonably be expected to qualify.

General.

34. Certificates of competency of engineers and first class engine-drivers shall be made out and issued in the forms hereunto annexed.

35. Every certificate of competency shall be made in duplicate, and one copy shall be delivered to the person entitled to the certificate, and the other shall be kept and recorded by the Port Officer of Calcutta.

OUTTURN OF RABI AND SPECIAL CROPS IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1891-92.

The following are published for general information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

REVENUE DEPARTMENT, AGRICULTURE;
Calcutta, the 14th May, 1892.

C. E. BUCKLAND,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

Outturn of rabi and special crops in Bengal for the year 1891-92.

Rabi crops.—The climatic conditions most favourable to the cultivation of rabi crops in Bengal and Bihâr are when monsoon rains cease early in October, but are followed by comparatively fine weather, with a few light showers during the remainder of that month and the first fortnight of November. In December and January there should be showers to enable the crops to attain their full development. At the time of harvesting during the latter half of February and March, the weather should be dry. Continuous cloudy weather at this time causes damage, and is attended with injury from insects of various kinds and from fungoid pests.

In the rabi season, 1891-92, the conditions were unfavourable throughout the greater portion of Bengal and Bihâr. Deficient rainfall at the sowing season, towards the end of October and the beginning of November, contracted the area sown in the districts of Patna, Gaya, Darbhanga, Malda, Sonthal Parganas, and Palâmau. On the other hand, owing to the scantiness of the monsoon rains of 1891, and the consequent partial failure of winter rice, there was an extension of the area sown under rabi in Rajshahi, Bogra, Pabna, Faridpur, and Purnea. The deficiency of rain in the latter half of October and the first half of November injuriously affected the outturn also in all parts of South-West, East and North Bengal, North and South Bihár, Chota Nagpur, and Orissa, with the exception of the districts of Mymensingh, Rajshahi, Bogra, and Singbhum, the Sadar subdivision of Balasore, and the subdivisions of Magura, Brahmanbaria, Chandpur, and Banki, in which rain fell in the latter half of October and in the beginning of November. Excessive rain at the time of, and immediately after, sowing reduced the outturn in Singbhum, and in Bhadrak in the district of Balasore. A general drought throughout the rabi season further aggravated the injury. A cyclone in the month of November did much harm to the rabi crops in the Sadar and Kendrapara subdivisions of Cuttack, and in Puri; and hailstorms, when the crops were approaching maturity, did considerable damage in the Sadar subdivision of Faridpur. Locusts injured rabi plants in the Chittagong Hill Tracts. Deposits of silt, however, left by the floods of last year had a beneficial effect on some of the crops in the subdivisions of Goalundo, Brahmanbaria, Chandpur, Banki, and Jajpur.

Taking the Lower Provinces as a whole, the outturn of the rabi crops may be estimated at 9 annas.

Special crops.—During the season which has just expired, deficiency of rainfall throughout the monsoon months from June to October affected the outturn of sugarcane more or less, in all parts of the Lower Provinces, except Chota Nagpur and Orissa. Heavy rain in August, and a cyclone in November, injured the crop in the districts of Cuttack and Puri.

Tobacco—This crop was damaged by excessive rain and cyclonic winds in the month of November in Cuttack and Puri, and by a total cessation of rain towards the end of the season in February and March in Manbhum. An average crop is reported from the subdivisions of Basirhat, Bangaon, Brahmanbaria, Banki, Jajpur, Kolhan, and from the Sadar subdivision of the districts of Jessore, Chittagong, and Saran.

Poppy.—The outturn of poppy was seriously affected by the very dry weather at the beginning of the season in October in the Sadar and Siwán subdivisions of the district of Saran. This crop was damaged by cloudy and rainy weather at the end of February in the subdivision of Jahánabad, in the district of Gaya, and by high westerly winds in Patna. Hailstorms and high winds also did some harm in Shahabad. A full average crop is reported for the district of Monghyr, and for Hajipur, in the district of Muzaffarpur, but the average outturn throughout the poppy-growing districts is estimated at 11 annas only.

Mulberry.—A full average crop of mulberry is reported from the district of Bogra and from Kandi, in the district of Murshidabad. The average outturn for all mulberry-growing districts is estimated at 11 annas.

The outturn is represented in fractions of a rupee, sixteen annas being taken to represent an average crop.

M. FINUCANE,

Director of the Department of Land

Records and Agriculture in Bengal.

The 2nd May, 1892.

The deficiency of rainfall and of floods has been unfavourable to the growth of the plants. The prospect was good at the sowing season, but last year the high floods were injurious to the growth of the plants.	The rainfall in the month of October was slightly deficient. Burshidabad.	Sadar	762	310	439	Barley, Wheat, Pulses	13 annas	16 annas	Want of rain affected the outturn much this year in all the sub-divisions except Jungipore, where it is estimated at 14 annas owing to the absence of floods and to the earlier cultivation of lands. The want of silt deposits has reduced the area of land under cultivation in the Lalbagh sub-division. The previous year's crop suffered much at Jungipore, owing to heavy floods and also to deficiency of rainfall at the sowing time.	The total area of the district, as given in the latest Bengal Administration Report, is 2,111 square miles. The area under rabi crops seems to be over-estimated.

Chakpur	Sadar	4,118	2,600	215	Mustard, Potato, Wheat, Barley, Rice, Oilseed, Bengal gram, Chillies	1 annas	12 annas	Owing to partial failure of winter rice on account of insufficient rain, the lands of this crop were utilized for rabi this year.	The total area of the district, as given in the latest Bengal Administration Report, is 4,117 square miles. The average rainfall for the rabi season from the 14th of October to the 26th of March for the Sadar station is 3'88 inches. The actual rainfall for this period during the present season has been only 0'84 inches. The deficiency must have injuriously affected the outturn.

Rangpur	Rangpur	1,151	900	10 30	Wheat Pulses	12 annas 12 "	14 annas 14 "	The Collector, Mr. Maguire, says—"I have been here too short a time to be able to give any definite opinion either as to the area under the various crops or to their outturn. The outturn is given according to the report and I think it must in most cases be overestimated. The cropped area does not agree with that given in returns of agricultural statistics, but I do not know how the figures in those were obtained, nor can I explain differences at present."	Discrepancies in areas have been noticed in the Remarks column of the Returns of Agricultural Statistics, and the Collector has been requested to revise his figures. Pending receipt of the revised figures, the figures now sent by the Collector have been accepted for this forecast.

The long drought between the middle of November 1891 and middle of February 1892 prevented the growth of mustard, and of a few other crops, but the rest started well in favourable circumstances early in the season, and did very fairly. The heavy rain and the salt left by the high floods increased the outturn in 1891 of the crops for which the land had to be ploughed since the third week of October 1890; but those (e.g., muskharai) which were then on the ground suffered from the floods, and others were retarded by the difficulty of timely preparation. Some damage was done at the beginning of November 1890 by locusts in the north-west of the district.	No rain fell from the 14th of November up to the 8th of February. This greatly retarded the development of the crops, which had started well with the showers that fell in the first week of November. The area estimated to be under rabi crops seems to be too large.

The decreased outturn is due to the unusually scanty rainfall during the year, and also to the fact that no rain worth speaking of fell in the months of December, January, and February. The light shower of rain, however, that fell in February did some good to the standing crops, and had it not been for this the outturn would have been a little less than it is now.

RAJSHAHI DIVISION

Dinajpur	Sadar	4,118	2,600	Jute Tobacco Sugarcane Ganja	220	10 16 12 12	18 12 14 12	The rainfall was excessive at the time of sowing and insufficient in June last year. Some damage was also caused to jute by locusts. Hence the outturn was low. The increase in the outturn of tobacco this year is due to timely rain at the time of sowing.	The total area of the district, as given in the latest Bengal Administration Report, is 4,117 square miles. A series of rain in May not only affected sugarcane, but also decreased the outturn of jute, by submerging the seedlings just after they were sown.

Rajshahi	Sadar	944	588	Jute Tobacco Sugarcane Mulberry	85	8 6 17 11	18 6 10 14	The cultivators could not sleep jute owing to insufficient inundation, and hence the decrease in outturn. The high demand of last year for mulberry induced the cultivators to grow sugarcane to a very large extent, hence the increase in area under sugarcane. The decrease in area shown this year at Nowgong is due to the bad market of the previous year.	The total area of the district, as given in the latest Bengal Administration Report, is 2,380 square miles. The outturn is below the average owing to the want of rain at the time of ploughing, and heavy rainfall at the time of sowing.

Bogra	Bogra	1,452	913	Jute .. ..	.....	15	13	The area of the principal special crops was extended in 1891 over part of the area usually cultivated with rice, because of the short rainfall in 1891.	The outturn for Bogra appears to have been over-estimated; although in April and May there was sufficient rain, in the following months up to the end of October, the rainfall was not enough to enable the crops to attain their proper development.

Tobacco was damaged by the November cyclone, attended with heavy rain, in all but the Jajpur and Banki sub-divisions where the force of the cyclone was less felt, and there was also a good deal of silt deposited on the tobacco-growing land in these two sub-divisions.	Total area of the district, as given in the latest Bengal Administration Report, is 3,632 square miles. The area for sugarcane appears too low.

ADMINISTRATIVE SETTLEMENT REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR OF LAND RECORDS AND AGRICULTURE, BENGAL, FOR THE YEAR ENDING 30TH SEPTEMBER 1891.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—LAND REVENUE.

Darjeeling, the 15th May 1892.

RESOLUTION—No 150T—R

READ—

The Annual Report of the Director of the Department of Land Records and Agriculture, Bengal, for the year ending 30th September 1891

In September 1891 the Lieutenant-Governor issued orders that in future the Director should furnish two settlement reports in the course of the year, viz, (I) financial, for the period from the 1st April to the 31st March, consisting of a brief, mainly statistical and financial, account of the progress of settlement work, and (II) administrative, for the period from the 1st October to 30th September, containing a full account of the progress of survey and settlement work in the Province. It was laid down that the latter report should ordinarily be due to the Board on the 15th November, and to the Local Government on the 15th December. As the Director was absent on privilege leave until early in November, punctual submission of the first report was not expected, but he was desired to prepare it as soon as possible after his return. Instructions were given in the Government Resolution of the 28th September 1891, on Mr. Finucane's annual report for the financial year 1890-91, with a view to the preparation of the report in the manner required by Government. The present report, which is the first Administrative Settlement Report furnished under the new system, is a great improvement on the reports previously laid before Government. It bears, however, so late a date as the 18th March 1892, and was not forwarded by the Board until the 14th April. The Lieutenant-Governor is aware that Mr. Finucane has been constantly on tour since his return from leave, and it appears that he has been unable to obtain the material required by him from the Deputy Surveyor-General and several of the Settlement Officers. It is anything but satisfactory that the survey reports for Jalpaiguri, the Burdwan Raj khas mahals, Chittagong and Sarail, were not received by Mr. Finucane until the 11th to 30th of January (although they referred to the survey year which ends on 30th September), and that no report was furnished for Orissa. His Honour trusts that, with the appointment of Colonel J. E. Sandeman as Director of Bengal Surveys, all such irregularities will cease. No explanation has been offered for the delay in the local settlement reports. Sir Charles Elliott is willing to make due allowance for the change of system, and he agrees with Mr. Finucane in hoping that, timely notice having been given of what is required, the difficulties lately encountered will disappear, and that the next annual report will be submitted on the prescribed date.

2. Mr. Finucane has followed an intelligent order in dealing consecutively with (1) Government estates and temporarily-settled tracts, which are necessarily the most important settlement operations from a revenue point of view, (2) Wards' estates, and (3) private estates. In accordance with the orders on his last annual report, the Director has placed his account of the Orissa, Chittagong and Jalpaiguri settlements in the forefront of his report. Apart from the special position to be assigned to the Orissa, Chittagong and Jalpaiguri operations, Government also desired that an intelligent geographical order should be adopted both as regards the civil divisions and the districts and estates in those divisions. These instructions appear to have escaped notice, for the order observed has been as follows :—

(1) GOVERNMENT ESTATES.		(2) WARDS' ESTATES.		(3) PRIVATE ESTATES.
Division.	District.	Division.	Estate.	Division.	District.
Dacca ..	Backergunge.	Burdwan ...	Burdwan Raj	Burdwan ...	Midnapore.
Chittagong	Tippera.		Khas Mahals.	Ditto ...	Birbhum.
Ditto ...	Noakhali.	Bhāgalpur .	Srinagar-Ba-	Rajshahi ...	Dubalhati (Raj-
Dacca ...	Dacca.		naili.		shahi).
Burdwan ...	Midnapore.	Dacca ...	Dakhin Shah-	Chittagong	Tippera.
Presidency	Nadia.		bāzpur.	Bhāgalpur	Sonthal Parga-
		Chittagong	Sarail (Tip-		nas.
		Oriassa ..	Kujong and Kanika.

It is evident that geographical order has not been carefully or consistently maintained, and the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that it will not be necessary to again repeat his orders on this point. The appendices have been properly totalled as desired by Government.

3. Oriassa.—The Survey Department, as already mentioned, has furnished no report of its work in Oriassa. But it appears that 361 square miles were cadastrally surveyed by the end of September 1890, and 687 square miles between that date and the end of September 1891, total 1,048 square miles. The total expenditure on the survey is stated to have been Rs. 2,19,031, or just Rs. 209 a square mile. This is a considerable increase on the rate, Rs. 165 per square mile, previously reported. It is mentioned that Mr. Patterson, the survey officer, unfortunately overlooked the survey rule which requires parchas or jamabandi slips to be given to the raiyats at the time of survey; also the errors and inaccuracies of the khasras prepared by the Survey Department delayed the work of attestation, and even now the records of all the villages measured by Mr. Patterson before last rains have not all been sent in. With regard to these and other matters which have come to his notice, the Lieutenant-Governor thinks it right to put on record his opinion that Mr. Patterson was entirely unfit for the position in which he was placed by the Survey Department, and that a hopeless block would have ensued had that officer not left Oriassa, and had Colonel Sandeman not come in to set matters straight. Mr. H. R. Reily was in charge of the settlement since he joined on 16th February 1891 to the end of the year under report. He was assisted by Mr. Walsh, a Civilian of experience, Mr. Ambica Charan Sen, Mr. Tahiruddin Ahmed, and Mr. Baroda Charan Mitra, Statutory Civilians, Babus Hurish Chandra Roy and Chaku Lal Sarkar, besides others who from ill-health or other causes did not remain long in the Department. There were six circles and nine Assistant Settlement Officers in charge of them at different times, who were, it is said, in the field on an average 63 days each. This information would have been more valuable if the time during which they were on duty had also been mentioned. In future the Director should state for each officer the number of days (a) on duty, (b) on leave, (c) on tour. The six circles have lately, i.e., in March 1892, been re-arranged under eight officers. The demarcation work has been transferred to the Survey Department. Up to 30th September the status of 29,190 tenants was determined and their rents recorded, and 138,042 plots were attested over an area of 83,752 acres. Jamabandi slips are now being distributed by the Survey Department, and it is hoped that in future each officer will be able to attest daily many more than 600 plots, which is the standard of work laid down, and to some extent attained, in Chittagong. No rents were settled and no land revenue assessed. Out of the 464 patwāris in Oriassa, 277 were trained in survey, but their work is found to be more expensive than that of amins. Arrangements have been made also for the utilization of the kánungos as required. The expenditure on settlement during the portion of the year ending 30th September 1891, during which the work was in progress, was Rs. 45,598.

The survey and settlement of Banki, in Cuttack, were completed before March 1891, at an average cost of 7 annas and 10 pies per acre. The estimate for a non-professional survey and for settlement was Rs. 1,64,411 for the 76,800 acres of the estate: the actual cost of a professional survey has been Rs. 25,097 and of the settlement Rs. 12,598, total Rs. 37,695, the increase of revenue obtained being Rs. 7,974. The final report of the proceedings has not yet been received. The Lieutenant-Governor has already characterised this delay as very unsatisfactory; a full explanation will be required from the Settlement Officer.

4. Chittagong.—Mr. Slack was in charge of the operations till the 11th of July, and Mr. C. G. H. Allen for the rest of the year under report. They were assisted by Mr. Atul Krishna Rai (for one month only), Babu Durga Charan Ghose, Babu Romesh Chunder Das, as Assistant Settlement Officers. The demarcation of the Sadar sub-division was completed with the exception of the hilly portions, the work done comprising 465 villages. The cadastral survey of 380 square miles had been accomplished by September 1890, and during the season under report 348 square miles were done, besides 112 square miles of topographical work. After September 1891 534 square miles of cadastral and 252 of new topographical survey remained, besides some important traverse work. Arrangements have been made to accelerate the rate of progress. Since the 1st January 1891 the work of preparing the records required for attestation in the Sadar sub-division has been made over to the Settlement Department. The records of 212 villages with an area of 205 square miles were handed over for settlement work. The Khanapuri of 477,682 plots was completed, and the entries regarding 306,463 plots were revised. In the Sadar sub-division the status of 33,679 tenants was determined and their existing rents were recorded. No fair-rent decisions were passed, and no land revenue was assessed. A scheme has been sanctioned for strengthening and utilising the khas tahsil establishment for the maintenance of the records.

In Old Thana Ramu the survey had been completed by September 1890. The settlement work was mainly conducted by Babu Jogendra Kumar Bose, who completed the attestation, dealing with the lands of 15,389 tenants, disposed of 558 original suits and 1,062 objections, and passed eight fair-rent decisions. Fair-rent decisions have been passed in 43 of the 50 villages in Ramu. Soil class maps are now in preparation and statements of the revenue assessable on the average soil class rates are being drawn up. The settlement expenditure amounted, during the year, to Rs. 58,892 in the Sadar and Rs. 15,389 in Ramu, the cost of the survey being Rs. 1,32,540 in the Sadar sub-division. A reasonable standard of work expected from each amín and Assistant Settlement Officer has been drawn up in Chittagong, but from the monthly progress reports received, His Honour has reason to fear that the standard required is not attained.

5. Jalpauri.—By the end of the year under report 765 square miles had been cadastrally surveyed, being practically the whole of the area under settlement. Besides this 174 miles of forest and 61 of waste lands had been surveyed, leaving 290 of forest and 340 of waste lands for the survey work of the current year. The records of 3,430 jotes were made over to the Settlement Officer. An area of 162,063 acres in 3,507 jotes in the Mainaguri tahsil was assessed during the year, giving an increase of Rs. 36,210 revenue, but the revised assessment has not been finally passed by the Commissioner. Mr. Sunder was in charge throughout the year, and was on tour for 217 days. He records the constant struggles of his subordinates with fever; he has at different times had five assistants, but the climate of the Duars has necessitated several changes among them. The three men last appointed have been employed in pargana Moraghat in collecting information preparatory to the settlement of the rates on jotes in the Falakata tahsil. It is unsatisfactory to find that some of the later records of the Survey Department were so carelessly prepared that they had to be returned for revision. The increase of revenue, amounting to Rs. 60,000, expected in the Mainaguri tahsil, is chiefly due to the extension of cultivation on nearly every jote, to the recovery of the amount which was remitted seven years ago under the reduction scheme then advocated and apparently sanctioned under misapprehension, and to the application of the rates approved for this settlement. Considerable delay has been caused by the necessity of requiring the people to record the mutations of ownership and to pay the fees due on this account. The cost of the survey during the year is separately stated to have been Rs. 1,03,658 or Rs. 1,10,784. Such discrepancies should be cleared up before this annual report is laid before Government. The expenditure on settlement was Rs. 30,459.

6. The work done in the settlement operations in progress, other than the important proceedings mentioned in the preceding paragraphs, has been sufficiently summarized in the Director's report, to which reference may be made. As the details have been reviewed for the financial year 1890-91, it is not necessary, especially at this late date, to review them again. A very few observations only are now required. In future the Administrative Settlement Report for the year ending 30th September will be the main report of the year, and the principal comments of Government will be reserved for the Resolution on it. The Srinagar-Banaili settlement, which has been completed, will shortly come under separate review. The Lieutenant-Governor understands that the dispute as to the standard of measurement in pargana Akberabad in the Malda district has been settled ex parte. In Backergunge there were 27 Government estates under settlement under the Tenancy Act, and up to the close of the year under report the proceedings had cost Rs. 30,015. The Director does not mention the enhanced revenue to be set against this expenditure, but from the statements furnished by the Collector of Backergunge it appears that an increase of revenue to the amount of Rs. 5,639 has already been obtained from seven of the villages, i.e., estates, and that a total increase of Rs. 25,114 is expected from the 27 estates. An explanation has been given of the discrepancies noticed in paragraph 11 of the Government Resolution of the 28th September 1891 in the number of estates under settlement. It is a matter for satisfaction that the compromise accepted by the Manager and the raiyats in Sujamutha has been worked out and brought into effect. The Lieutenant-Governor concurs with the Director that the number of days spent on tour by the Settlement Officer, Dwijendra Lall Roy, viz 65, in spite of the orders repeatedly given to him to go into every village and dispose of objections on the spot, was utterly inadequate. The Manager of the Burdwan Raj will be informed of the want of co-operation on the part of the Raj officials which has entailed delay and extra expense.

7. The total area of Government estates and temporarily-settled tracts under survey and settlement during the year was 9,090 square miles, of which 2,381 miles had been surveyed prior to, and 1,397 miles were surveyed during, the year under report, total 3,778 square miles; the total expenditure on survey and settlement from the beginning of the operations to the end of the year being Rs. 13,04,875, and the increase of revenue actually obtained being Rs. 1,10,078, or 8.44 per cent. on the outlay. This amount does not represent anything like the increase that will be obtained when the settlement operations are completed in Chittagong, Orissa, and Jalpaiguri, which are expected to yield an increase of revenue, amounting to about eight lakhs of rupees in addition to what has been actually obtained. The total area of wards' estates under settlement is 2,226 square miles, of which 1,945 square miles had been surveyed prior to, and 50 square miles were surveyed during, the year under report, total 1,995 square miles; the increase of rental actually obtained amounted to 6.96 per cent. on the outlay. The total area of private permanently-settled estates under survey and settlement was 815 square miles (inclusive of the Sonthal Parganas estates), the increase of rental obtained being 42.49 per cent. on the outlay.

From a revenue point of view, these results may be considered to be satisfactory. There has nowhere been any serious opposition to the proceedings, nor has any serious dissatisfaction with the results been expressed, on the part of either the landlords or tenants concerned.

8. Sir Charles Elliott agrees with the Board that much labour has been bestowed on the preparation of the Director's report, and that valuable financial results will be obtained from the operations under notice. He has had occasion more than once to state the importance which he attaches to surveys and settlements on administrative and statistical grounds, and his views are corroborated by everything that comes before him, especially in a Province dominated, as Bengal is, by the permanent settlement. The work done by Mr. Finucane in supervising the Settlement Department again merits the acknowledgments of Government.

(ORDER—Ordered that the Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

Ordered, also, that a copy of the Resolution be submitted to the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department for information, and that a copy be forwarded to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, for information and guidance.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. E. BUCKLAND,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS
TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVA-
TIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M.,
SATURDAY, THE 14TH OF MAY 1892.

THE meteorological conditions in Bengal at the close of the previous week were distinctly disturbed, and local storms with rain were occurring in Assam and in East and North and part of Central Bengal. The meteorological changes which took place from the 7th to the 8th instant, or the first day of the present week, rather increased the disturbance, for pressure fell moderately to rapidly over the whole province, the fall being largest at the western stations, and a very shallow low-pressure area may be said to have existed over part of Bihār and Western Bengal on this day. On the morning of the 8th, therefore, the majority of stations, except those in Bihār and Chota Nagpur and parts of Orissa, reported moderate to heavy rain which had fallen during local storms. Conditions remained practically unaltered on the 9th and 10th, and pressure continued unusually low over the whole province; but on the 11th and 12th the changes of pressure became small, though it continued to fall over the whole province, and it became generally from a sixth to an eighth of an inch below the normal of the day. A reaction then set in, and pressure rose rapidly on the 13th, the rise in the north of the province being very large, and at Purnea equalling  $0.153''$ . The changes in different districts were, however, of very unequal amount, showing that the atmosphere was still in a very disturbed state. A further small rise took place over a considerable part of the province on the 14th, and though pressure still remained slightly to moderately below the normal, yet the general conditions became gradually more settled than they had been. Hence from the beginning of the week up to about the 13th local storms with rain were rather numerous in all districts except in Orissa, Bihar, and Chota Nagpur, and on the evening of the 13th, in particular, some very heavy local storms took place which gave heavy rain over parts of South Bengal; but from the 14th, or the last day of the week, the number of local storms became considerably smaller than they had been previously.

Another noticeable feature in the meteorology of the week has been the setting in of decidedly strong winds in the extreme south of the Bay at the Ceylon stations, and it was evident that from about the 10th instant, an advance of strong south-westerly monsoon winds was taking place over this area.

Pressure.—The mean pressure for the week has been rather largely in defect of the normal. Defects of about a tenth of an inch and upwards have been registered at Motihari, Dehri, Buxar, Gaya, Bankipore, Bankura, Raniganj, and Berhampore, but generally the defects have been rather smaller than this, and range from  $0.06''$  to  $0.08''$ . The mean defect for the whole province will, however, average about  $0.09''$ .

Temperature.—Has again been rather largely in excess of the normal over a considerable part of the province. The excess has equalled the unusually large amount of  $9.2^{\circ}$  at the Chota Nagpur stations; in South Bihār it has equalled nearly five and-a-half degrees, and in Orissa and North-West Bengal it has been between  $4^{\circ}$  and  $5^{\circ}$ . On the other hand, owing to the rather plentiful rainfall in East and North Bengal, the mean temperatures there have been below the normal by small amounts. For the whole of Bengal the mean temperature for the week has been  $3.2^{\circ}$  in excess of the normal. In Assam, on the other hand, there has been a defect of  $2.1^{\circ}$ .

Rainfall.—An average amount of more than four inches of rain has fallen in East Bengal, which is about two and-a-half inches in excess of the normal. North Bengal has received nearly three inches of rain, or about an inch and-a-half more than the normal. South-West Bengal has received an inch and-a-third, or nearly half an inch in excess, while in North Bihār the fall is about four-tenths of an inch, or slightly below the normal fall. Over the remainder of the province rainfall has been practically absent.

These falls have, however, been unequally distributed, and notwithstanding the large excess generally shown in East and North Bengal, the districts of Noakhali, Rajshahi, and Malda have received comparatively small amounts of rain, and while South-West Bengal generally has had good rain, Bankura and parts of Birbhum have had practically no rain. In North Bihār also the districts which have received practically little or no rain are Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Champaran, and Saran.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 14th of May 1892:—

INDIAN OCEAN—SEYCHELLES BANK.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 157 of 1892) that a recent examination of the western edge of the Seychelles bank conducted by Lieutenant and Commander Smyth, H.M. surveying vessel Stork, shows that a nearly continuous rim, of more or less shallow water, extends from Bird island to beyond the western point of the bank.

As it is evident that dangerously shoal spots may exist in many parts of this rim, besides those already known, ships should avoid crossing it north of the fifth parallel of south latitude. Southward of this parallel there is, according to the scanty information existing apparently a break in the rim.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

REVISED ADVERTISEMENT.

- A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India
 By DR. GAO. WATT, C.I.E.
 Reporter on Economic Products.
 Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first five volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets; &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal octavo pages; Vol. II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Vol. III contains the letters D, E, F and half of G. Vol. IV latter half of G to middle of L; and Vol. V contains the latter half of L to end of "O." The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in seven volumes during the current year; but an eighth volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a Glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals and minerals of India, and as such will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The period of registration of subscribers' names having expired on the 1st October, the price will in future be in India Rs. 45 and in England 3 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made). An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England, at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole sets.

No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately.

RESOLUTION REVIEWING THE REPORT ON THE LUNATIC ASYLUMS IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1891.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—MEDICAL—No. 931—M.

Darjeeling, the 20th May 1892.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Report on the Lunatic Asylums in Bengal for the year 1891.

Read again—

The Report for the year 1890, and the Resolution recorded upon it.

The present report, which has been submitted with admirable punctuality, shows the statistics of the asylums in the forms hitherto in use, which cannot be altered without the concurrence of the Government of India, but it adds to these the provincial totals and the modified statement relating to sickness and death, which were suggested in the Resolution on last year's report.

2. The population of the five native asylums on 1st January 1891 was 1,021, the admissions and re-admissions during the year amounted to 213; 149 persons were discharged cured and 42 otherwise, and 80 persons died. The number of persons under detention at the close of the year was 963, or 58 less than at the close of the preceding year. The larger portion of the decrease is among the non-criminal lunatics, the decrease in this class being 42 as compared with a decrease of 16 in the class of criminal lunatics. The increase in the number of discharges, which amount to 191 as compared with 117 in 1890, is remarkable, and its cause a little obscure; but it is satisfactory to observe that it has occurred chiefly in the class "Cured." The number of admissions was 197, or only two less than in the previous year. It is hoped, however, that in future this number will be reduced when the instructions issued by Government in Circular No. 42, dated 3rd December 1891, regarding the admission of non-criminal lunatics, begin to take effect.

3. The decrease of 16 in the criminal population of the asylums is ascribed by Dr. Hilson to more vigorous supervision on the part of the visitors. It is not apparent, however, how this more vigorous supervision has been exercised. The admissions in this class, which amounted to 80 against 88 in 1890, do not seem to have been affected by the orders of Government prescribing greater caution in the admission of lunatics, as these orders have scarcely had time to begin to operate. Nor can the increase in the number of discharges, from 50 in 1890 to 83 in 1891, have been due to those orders, but it must probably be attributed to the effect of the rules laid down by the Committee in 1888, which are only now coming into full operation.

4. During the year under review, all the asylums were remeasured with the result that there is now found to be accommodation for 1,069 patients, calculated at 50 superficial feet for each patient. Dr. Hilson's surmise that the capacity of the asylums had been under-estimated is thus proved correct, and there is really accommodation for 50 more patients as compared with the capacity shown in the year 1890. This capacity too will be largely increased when the new buildings at Berhampore are completed. Some slight overcrowding, which occurred during the year in the Berhampore and Dacca Asylums, was relieved by making suitable temporary arrangements, so that but little inconvenience was felt.

5. The admissions into hospital were 717 as compared with 715 in the previous year. There were 3 cases of chicken-pox at Dacca, 1 case of cholera at Patna, 28 cases of influenza at Dacca, and 39 cases at Berhampore. It is remarkable that at Berhampore influenza was confined to females, while in the previous year males only suffered. There were 80 deaths as against 69 in 1890. Of these 1 was due to cholera, 17 to diarrhoea and dysentery, 10 to general debility and old age, 18 to tubercle of the lungs, 7 to pneumonia, 4 to anaemia, 6 to apoplexy and hemiplegia, 1 to paralysis, 2 to cirrhosis of the liver, 3 to exhaustion of mania, and the rest to other scattered causes. A comparison is suggested in the report between the sickness and mortality in jails and in the asylums, but such a comparison cannot be fairly made, since the population of a jail is mostly healthy, while that of a lunatic asylum is generally diseased. The rate of mortality ruling in the Bengal asylums may more properly be compared with that recorded in the asylums of other provinces of India, and with the death-rate of asylums in Europe. Taking the latter figures first, it will be found that while the mortality in jails in England is considerably lower than in Bengal, the reverse appears to hold good in the case of lunatic asylums. In 1890, for example, the death-rate in the Bengal asylums was 6.94 per cent., and during the past year it rose to 8.02. But the latter rate compares favourably with the 10 per cent. recorded in England, while French asylums show 15 and Austrian 12 per cent. Even in Belgium, where special attention has been paid to the treatment of lunatics, the mortality in public asylums and families taken together amounts to 8.8 per cent. A comparison with the death-rates of other provinces in India cannot be made for 1891, as the reports are not yet available. But in 1890 the Madras asylums had a death-rate of 18.4 per cent., Bombay showed 11, the Punjab 9.53, and the North-Western Provinces 9; while the rate for the Bengal asylums was only 6.94. These results may be considered satisfactory, and indicate that the health of the inmates of asylums is carefully looked after by the Superintendents. The whole subject of asylum mortality is, however, dealt with rather briefly in the report, and the Lieutenant-Governor would wish it in future to be treated at greater length.

6. The record of injuries, accidents and escapes compares favourably with that of last year, but is still too full. At Dalanda there were three trivial accidents; at Dacca there were three accidents and six injuries, two of which were apparently due to violent treatment of the patients by their keepers. An account is given in the report of one of these cases and of the punishment inflicted on the culprits; the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that sufficiently severe notice was also taken of the other case. At Patna and Berhampore there were two accidents each, and at Cuttack there was one case of suicidal hanging. At Dacca there were two escapes, both the lunatics being recaptured.

7. The figures of income and expenditure are clearly shown in the statement in the body of the report. The details are as follow:—

Excluding the last three items and the manufacture charges, which are balanced by the receipts, the real expenditure, it is observed, increased by about Rs. 1,000, chiefly due to arrear and new taxes, and to the payment of water-rate at Dacca. The total amount expended on diet shows a decrease of Rs. 1,482-0-2. The average cost of each lunatic on account of diet was—Dalanda Rs. 37-14-1, Dacca Rs. 36-13-2, Patna Rs. 31-10-0, Cuttack Rs. 27-15-1, and Berhampore Rs. 33-3-5. The cost of rations per head of average strength in the neighbouring jails was—Alipore Rs. 26-3-0, Dacca Rs. 22-6-0, Patna Rs. 19-15-0, Cuttack Rs. 20-2-0, and Berhampore Rs. 24-14-0. The comparison is useful as indicating the possibility of managing with greater economy, but it must be remembered that the dieting of lunatics cannot be reduced to the same standard of cheapness as the dieting of convicts. The latter are for the most part in good health; the former are, with few exceptions, more or less sickly, and are apt to give trouble about their food; there is more waste, and the arrangements for feeding cannot be carried out on so large a scale as in the jails. Calculated on the actual expenditure shown in the first nine items of the statement given above, the average total cost of a patient in 1891 was Rs. 65-15-7, against Rs. 64-6-6 in 1890.

8. The population of the Bhawánipur European Asylum at the commencement of the year was 31, against 33 in 1890. Fifteen persons were admitted and one re-admitted during the year. Three of the admissions were criminal lunatics, none being serious cases. During the year three persons were discharged cured, one was despatched to Europe under the Merchant Shipping Act, one was transferred to the care of friends, two were made over to the Military authorities, one was despatched to Europe as still insane, and seven died. The number of patients under detention at the close of the year was 35. There was no want of accommodation either in the male or the female wards: the overcrowding among females which occurred last year was relieved by adding an upper storey to the female ward. There were no injuries, accidents or escapes during the year. The general health of the patients was good. The total expenditure for the year was Rs. 25,370 as against Rs. 20,583 in 1890, the increase of Rs. 4,787, which was unavoidable and partly non recurrent, being due to the construction of the upper storey and to the payment of rates and taxes for the first time. The question of closing this asylum altogether, and transferring the patients to the Dalanda block of buildings, is now under consideration, and has been referred to a special Committee.

9. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are due to Dr. Hilson for this report. His Honour is glad to observe the favourable terms in which Dr. Hilson acknowledges the efficiency of the Superintendents and their subordinates.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS
TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVA-
TIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M.,
SATURDAY, THE 21ST OF MAY 1892.

THE meteorological conditions which obtained over the province at the close of the previous week were a little disturbed. On the 15th, or the first day of the present week, the changes were small; pressure fell slowly over the whole of the province and became from about 0·05" to 0·08" below the normal, the defect being largest in Assam and East Bengal; the wind directions were fairly normal, and moderate to strong winds were blowing, bringing up considerable amounts of moisture to the province, and on this day a considerable number of stations in East and North Bengal reported local storms with rain, which had occurred on the evening of the 14th; but, on the whole, the rainfall was not heavy. On the 16th the meteorological changes were very small, and conditions were practically unaltered, and only a few stations in the north of the province reported local storms with rain. On the 17th, pressure rose moderately to rapidly, and conditions became more settled, while pressure was almost normal. On the 18th and 19th the barometric changes were exceedingly small, and only averaged a few thousandths of an inch, and hence during these two days weather was generally fine and settled, and, except for a few local storms in East Bengal, which gave light rain, and for moderate rainfall in the hills of North Bengal, the whole province was almost rainless. On the 20th, however, pressure began to fall moderately, the fall being largest in the western, southern, and south-western districts, and it became about a tenth of an inch in defect of the normal at some of the stations in Bihár, and on the 21st pressure had again fallen rapidly over the whole province, the fall at some stations exceeding a tenth of an inch, and on this day pressure became exceedingly low, the defect at such stations as Bankura and Hazáribágh equalling more than 0·15", and thus a feeble low pressure area or barometric depression had developed over the west of the province. With these conditions a series of disturbances or local storms set in, which gave moderate general rain on the 20th to East and North Bengal, while on the 21st the area of disturbance had extended, and in addition rainfall became fairly general over the greater part of South-West Bengal.

Conditions were therefore fairly normal for the greater part of the week over the greater part of the province, but on the last two days they became very decidedly disturbed, and the disturbance was spreading steadily over the whole province.

Pressure.—The mean pressure for the week has been very considerably in defect of the normal, though the defects have been a little irregular in amount. The largest defects have been registered at such stations as Gaya, Bankipur, and Dehri where they equal about 0·08", but in the east and south-east of the province the defects have been small, and at Comilla, Barisal, and Chittagong they are less than 0·02". In Assam also at Dhubri and Silchar the defects only equal about 0·015". The general defect over the whole province therefore equals about 0·03" to 0·04".

Temperature.—Owing to the absence of anything like heavy rain over the greater part of the province, the temperatures registered during the week have been exceptionally high. In Chota Nagpur the mean temperature for this period has been nearly seven degrees higher than usual; in South Bihár the excess has been about four-and-a-half degrees, and in Orissa, South-West Bengal, and North Bihár about two to three degrees. The excess has been small in East Bengal, only equalling one degree. On the other hand, in North Bengal, where at many stations heavy rain has been falling, there is a defect of 1·6°, and in Assam, where rainfall has been abundant, the defect is 2·5°. For Bengal generally the mean temperature of the week has been nearly three degrees above the normal.

Rainfall.—The falls in North Bengal have occurred almost daily during the week, and have averaged no less than 4·11 inches, which is about 72 per cent. in excess of the normal. In all other districts only occasional local showers have occurred, and in East and South-West Bengal they only average about half an inch or nearly a third of the normal fall. In North Bihár also the falls have averaged a quarter of an inch, or again little more than a third of the normal fall. In the other divisions of Orissa, South Bihár, and Chota Nagpur, rainfall has been practically absent.

Even in North Bengal, however, the falls have been very unevenly distributed. Malda has again received little or no rain, and Dinajpur and Bogra rather small amounts; the Jalpaiguri and Darjeeling districts, on the other hand, have received exceptionally heavy rain, having averaged about 14 and 8 inches respectively. The other districts in North Bengal have received good general rain. In East Bengal, Chittagong, Chittagong Hill Tracts, Backergunge, and Noakhali have received little or no rain, and the other districts moderate amounts. In South-West Bengal, the only districts receiving moderately good rain have been Burdwan, Berhampore, Nadia, and Jessore, and in Bihár only the Purnea district reports good rain.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 21st of May 1892:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph. The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

INDIAN OCEAN—SEYCHELLES BANK.

Shallow water on the western edge.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 157 of 1892) that a recent examination of the western edge of the Seychelles bank conducted by Lieutenant and Commander Smyth, H.M. surveying vessel Stork, shows that a nearly continuous rim, of more or less shallow water, extends from Bird island to beyond the western point of the bank.

As it is evident that dangerously shoal spots may exist in many parts of this rim, besides those already known, ships should avoid crossing it north of the fifth parallel of south latitude. Southward of this parallel there is, according to the scanty information existing apparently a break in the rim.

" T. Traill.

Mr. J. S. Fraser having been called to the Chair, the notice convening the meeting was read.

It was proposed by Mr. J. S. Fraser, and seconded by Mr. H. W. Boyd—

"That the Resolution which was passed at the Extraordinary Meeting of the Company, held on Tuesday, the 10th May 1892, that the Company be wound up voluntarily under the provisions of the Indian Companies Act, 1882, be and is hereby confirmed."

It was proposed as an amendment by Mr. W. Garth, and seconded by Mr. G. W. Sutherland—

"That the Company be wound up by the Court."

On the amendment being put to the Meeting, it was, on a show of hands, declared to be lost. The original Resolution on being put to the Meeting was then declared carried.

It was proposed by Mr. J. S. Fraser, seconded by Mr. R. Blechynden, and carried—

"That Mr. J. H. Lewes, of Messrs. Lovelock and Lewes, be and he is hereby appointed Liquidator for the purposes of such winding up, and that the remuneration of the said Liquidator for his services in the winding up be fixed at a sum of Rs. 2,000 (rupees two thousand)."

Mr. W. Garth entered his protest against the correctness of the minutes of the meeting held on 10th May 1892, Mr. Garth asserting that the Resolution proposing liquidation was carried nemine contradicente and not unanimously. The Chairman, although dissenting from Mr. Garth's statement, agreed to record his protest.

RESULTS OF EXAMINATION OF CANDIDATES FOR APPOINTMENT AS DEPUTY MAGISTRATE-COLLECTORS AND SUB-DEPUTY COLLECTORS.

RESOLUTION.

APPOINTMENT DEPARTMENT.

Dated Darjeeling, the 25th May 1892.

READ—

- The Resolution of 20th July 1891, reporting on the result of the examination held in March in that year, and appointing certain candidates to be probationers of the Executive Branch of the Provincial Service.
- The Notification of 14th September 1891, regarding the admission of Natives of India to the Opium Department.
- The Notification of 10th October 1891, publishing rules for the Subordinate Executive Service Examination of 1892.
- The Reports of the Examiners at the examination held on the 28th, 29th, 30th and 31st of March 1892.

1. As the result of the examination for the Subordinate Executive Service, held in 1891, sixteen gentlemen were selected to be Probationary Deputy Collectors, three were appointed to be Temporary Sub-Deputy Collectors, and eight were appointed to be Probationary Sub-Deputy Collectors. The sixteen Probationary Deputy Collectors have in due course been appointed to be Officiating Deputy Magistrates and Deputy Collectors, and similarly the eight Probationary Sub-Deputy Collectors have been absorbed as substantive pro tempore Sub-Deputy Collectors in the fourth grade. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to say that the report furnished by their official superiors of the working of these probationary officers has been uniformly satisfactory.

2. In September 1891 it was decided that a competitive examination of Native candidates for the Opium Department would be held in 1892 at the same time and in the same subjects as the examination prescribed for candidates for the Executive Branch of the Provincial Service; and it was declared that the candidate who obtained the highest aggregate of marks would be admitted to the Opium Department and be appointed between the second and third of the three successful European and Eurasian candidates at their examination. The candidate so appointed would be considered a probationer for the first two years of his service.

3. In October it was notified that, at an examination to be held in March 1892, 20 candidates would be selected for Probationary Deputy Collectorships on a salary of Rs. 50 a month, and 10 for Probationary Sub-Deputy Collectorships on a salary of Rs. 30 a month respectively. It was announced that 10 of the probationers for Deputy Collectorships would be appointed from the first 10 candidates on the list in order of merit, that 10 would be selected by the Lieutenant-Governor either from those who are now Sub-Deputy Collectors, or from among those who have obtained a minimum of one third of the total marks, and that from the remainder of those qualified by obtaining one-third of the total marks the Lieutenant-Governor would select 10 more candidates as probationers for Sub-Deputy Collectorships.

4. The examination so notified was held on the 28th, 29th, 30th and 31st of March 1892. No fewer than 195 competitors (of whom all except five were graduates of the Calcutta University) entered their names for the examination, and of these 190 actually appeared and sent in papers. Of these 190 candidates, 176 took up Bengali as their vernacular, 8 took up Hindustani, and 5 took up Uriya. One gentleman, Mr. J. E. Friend-Pereira, took up no vernacular. No less than 179 of the candidates have obtained the minimum of one-third marks necessary for appointment into the Subordinate Executive Service by nomination.

5. The following ten gentlemen, who stood first in order of merit, are entitled to appointments as Probationary Deputy Collectors:—

	No. of marks
Babu Sriram Chunder Bose, B.L. ...	588
„ Ambica Prasad Sen, M.A., B.L. ...	580
„ Bunku Behary Dutt, B.L. ...	570
„ Raj Kishore Das, B.L. ...	562
„ Rasik Lall Sen, B.A. ...	541
„ Hemendra Lall Khastgir, M.A. ...	537
„ Bhuban Prasad N. . . . .	522
„ Grish Chunder Nag, B.A. ...	517
„ Kunja Bihari Goswami, B.L. ...	516
„ Narendro Chunder Sen, B.L. ...	513

6. Babu Narendro Chunder Sen was a candidate for the Opium Department as well as for the Subordinate Executive Service. He has, however, intimated that he would prefer to accept an appointment in the Subordinate Executive Service. The candidate for the Opium Department who obtained the next highest aggregate number of marks is Babu Mohima Nath Bhattacharjya, B.A., who is thirteenth in the general list and obtained 500 marks. He has been offered and accepted an appointment in the Opium Department, on the conditions stated in the notification of the 14th September last.

7. Of the ten selected candidates for Probationary Deputy Collectorships, one, Babu Rasik Lall Sen, is already a third grade Sub-Deputy Collector employed under the Administration of Assam, and draws a salary of Rs. 150 a month; another, Babu Kunja Bihari Goswami, is a substantive pro tempore Sub-Deputy Collector in Bengal in the fourth grade, drawing a salary of Rs. 100 a month. In consideration of their position in the service, they will at once be appointed to be Officiating Deputy Magistrates and Deputy Collectors on a salary of Rs. 200 a month. There will therefore be two vacancies among probationers selected by merit, and the two next candidates in the list who occupy a position of equality in the eleventh place will be considered as entitled to appointments as Probationary Deputy Collectors. Their names are—

	No. of marks.
Babu Nogendro Nath Mukerjen, B.L. ... ..	503
„ Brajendra Nath Roy, B.A. ... ..	503

Of these two officers, again, the latter, Babu Brajendra Nath Roy, is already a substantive pro tempore Sub-Deputy Collector in Bengal in the fourth grade, drawing a salary of Rs. 100 a month. He will therefore be at once appointed to be an Officiating Deputy Magistrate and Deputy Collector on a salary of Rs. 200 a month. The thirteenth candidate having selected the Opium Department, the appointment of Probationary Deputy Magistrate will devolve on the fourteenth in the list, Babu Asutosh Bagchi, M.A., who obtained 490 marks.

8. The number of candidates to be selected by the Lieutenant-Governor among those who have obtained one-third marks is fixed at ten. The choice has been carefully made with reference to the number of marks obtained, the claims upon Government of members of the candidate's family, and the interests of different classes of the community. The following are the candidates selected for appointment as Probationary Deputy Collectors:—

Babu Ramani Mohun Das, M.A.	Babu Nogendro Nath Mitter, B.A.
„ Ramapati Chatterjea, B.L.	Moulvie Syed Abdul Malek, B.A.
„ Harendra Kumar Ghose, B.A. (I).	„ Mohiuddin Ahmed, B.A.
„ Nikhil Nath Roy, B.L.	„ Abdul Kadir, B.A.

9. Of these, Babu Harendra Kumar Ghose is already a substantive pro tempore Sub Deputy Collector of the fourth grade drawing a salary of Rs. 100 a month. He will therefore be at once appointed to be an Officiating Deputy Magistrate and Deputy Collector on Rs. 200 a month. To fill the vacancy created by this appointment Babu Uma Prasanna Guha, M.A., is selected as a Probationary Deputy Collector. Mr. Friend-Pereira, although he took up no vernacular language, obtained the highest marks in English Essay of any candidate. He is now a member of the Subordinate Executive Service, fourth grade, under the Administration of Burma, on a salary of Rs 150 a month, and will therefore also be appointed to be an Officiating Deputy Magistrate and Deputy Collector on Rs. 200 a month. To fill the vacancy thus caused, Babu Jagadis Chunder Sen, M.A., is selected as a Probationary Deputy Collector.

10. All these probationary officers will receive a salary of Rs. 50 per mensem, and if the report from the districts where they are stationed is favourable they will, after such period of probation as may seem advisable, be appointed to be Officiating Deputy Magistrates and Deputy Collectors as vacancies occur. They will not ordinarily be vested with magisterial powers until they are so appointed. Separate orders will now at once be passed posting all the gentlemen above named to districts.

11. There are at the present moment 41 Officiating Deputy Magistrates and Deputy Collectors, or eight in excess of the vacancies in the several grades. But against this excess there is a deficiency in the number of officers sanctioned for Covenanted appointments, which, under the orders of the Government of India, may be supplied by appointments in the Subordinate Executive Service. The deficiency in the Covenanted Service consists of 23 officers, and deducting from this number the eight Officiating Deputy Magistrates in excess, the number of officers still short is fifteen. Leaving a margin of ten to provide for officers returning from leave or deputation, five appointments are available in the grade of Officiating Deputy Magistrates, which can now be filled up by the promotion of Sub-Deputy Collectors.

12. The Lieutenant-Governor has decided in this connection that the claims of Special Deputy Collectors who are appointed for specific temporary work should receive the first consideration. These officers are now always carefully chosen from among the grades of Sub-Deputy Collectors, and although the work done by them is in theory of a temporary nature, experience has shown that there is enough of it to furnish continuous employment for a considerable number of officers. It is only fair to them that they should receive a preferential claim among Sub-Deputy Collectors for promotion to be Officiating Deputy Collectors in the regular line. Such officers, when included in the regular cadre of the Subordinate Executive Service, will not be indefinitely detained on special duty, but will be transferred to general employment as soon as possible: until, however, they can be so transferred they will be seconded. Under these orders the following Special Deputy Collectors are now appointed to be Officiating Deputy Collectors, but so long as they remain employed on their special work they will be seconded in the regular line of the service:—

Babu Behari Lall Mukerjea, B.A.	...	Employed on land acquisition work in North Bihár.
„ Jadu Nath Sircar	...	Ditto revaluation work in Manbhum.
„ Prosunno Kumar Bose	...	Ditto income-tax work in Calcutta.
„ Surjya Kumar Das	...	Ditto batwara work in Mynensingh.
„ Satya Taran Mukerjea	...	Ditto revaluation work in Burdwan.

13. Those officers will now be severally seconded in the regular line by the appointment of Babus Rasik Lall Sen, Kunja Behari Goswami, Brajendra Nath Roy, Harendra Kumar Ghose, and Mr. J. E. Friend-Pereira, who, under orders contained in this Resolution, have been appointed to officiate as Deputy Magistrates. They should all of them revert to general duty when they have finished the special work on which they are engaged, or arrangements have been made for relieving them of it.

14. The following are the ten candidates selected by the Lieutenant-Governor from among those who have obtained one-third marks to be Probationary Sub-Deputy Collectors:—

Babu Charu Chunder Chatterjea, B.A.	Babu Abhay Prosad Das, B.A.
„ Makhan Lall Chatterjea, M.A.	„ Jadu Nath Chatterjea, M.A.
„ Hem Chunder Chatterjea, M.A., B.L.	Moulvie Syed Ahmad Ali Khan, B.A.
Mr. Rowland Nagendro Lall Chandra, M.A.	„ Afsaruddin Mahomed, B.A.
Babu Narendro Kumar Ghose, M.A.	„ Gholam Ghous, M.A.

15. These probationary officers will receive a salary of Rs. 30 per mensem at present, and will, if they are satisfactorily reported on, be gradually absorbed into the fourth grade of Sub-Deputy Collectors as vacancies occur. Separate orders will at once be passed posting them to districts.

ORDER.—Ordered that the above Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. J. S. COTTON,
Offg. Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON THE CALCUTTA MEDICAL INSTITUTIONS FOR THE YEAR 1891.

RESOLUTION No. 157T.—M.

The Report on the Calcutta Medical Institutions for the year 1891.

The Report for the year 1890 and the Resolution recorded thereon.

The year 1891 was more unhealthy for the Town than the previous year, the number of deaths reported for Calcutta, Howrah, and the Suburbs being 23,650 in 1891, against 22,241 in 1890. Cholera prevailed with great severity during the early part of the year, owing, it is said, to the large influx of pilgrims and others into Calcutta during the Ardhodoy Jog festival. The mortality from this cause in the Town of Calcutta alone rose from 963 in 1890 to 1,553 in the year under report, while that for the combined area, including Calcutta, Howrah, and the amalgamated Suburbs, rose from 2,243 to 3,445. The mortality from fever was again above the average, exceeding that of the previous year in the combined area by 1,094. There was a marked diminution, however, in the mortality from small-pox, and the entire area appears to have enjoyed a comparative immunity from this disease. The deaths from other causes remained practically the same.

2. The following statement shows the number of indoor and outdoor patients treated in the several hospitals and dispensaries during the past two years:—

(a) It claimed expenses treated exclusive of those treated in the ophthalmic ward of the Medical College Hospital.

(b) Exclusive of 211 cases of no appreciable disease.

(c) Ditto 38 ditto ditto.

(d) Ditto 20 ditto ditto.

There was an increase in the number of patients treated in all the hospitals with the exception of the Presidency General and Police Hospitals. The decrease in the number of patients treated at the Presidency General Hospital is said to have been due to there having been a smaller number of vessels in port, and consequently fewer seamen admitted to hospital; while in the case of the Police Hospital the decrease is ascribed to the absence of any outbreak of influenza. The total number treated, including both indoor and outdoor patients, rose from 232,135 to 245,136; the daily average of outdoor patients increased from 1553.14 to 1671.98, and that of indoor patients from 1202.93 to 1205.67. During the year an outdoor department was opened at the Eden Hospital, and though the attendance was not as large as might have been expected, there is every reason to believe that it will improve as the dispensary comes to be more generally known.

Of the total number of patients, both indoor and outdoor, treated in all the hospitals during the year, 153,705 were men, 34,678 women, and 56,753 children. The corresponding figures for the previous year were 143,722, 33,017 and 55,696. More than 50 per cent. of the patients treated were Hindus, next in order coming Muhammadans, Eurasians, Europeans, and other classes. Fewer Europeans sought relief at the hospitals during 1891 than in the previous year.

3. The death-rate among all the patients under treatment during 1891 was 127 per mille against 124 in 1890, excluding the patients treated for eye-diseases. This includes deaths from cholera, without which the death-rate would be 113 against 114 per mille. The average death-rate in English hospitals is stated to be 80 per thousand, and in French hospitals 95. In 1882 the death-rate in St. Bartholomew's Hospital in London was as high as 120, the Edinburgh rate being 105. As in the previous year, the death-rates were highest in the Howrah and Campbell Hospitals, which is natural, seeing that those are the refuges to which emigrants taken ill in the dépôts, moribund cases found in the streets, and pauper patients generally are sent. Last year's Report and Resolution drew attention to the fact that the death-rate in our hospitals was persistently higher among girls than boys. This year this inequality has been removed, as the following statement shows:—

		ADMISSIONS.		DEATHS.		DEATH RATE PER MILLE.
		Boys.	Girls.	Boys.	Girls.	Boys.	Girls.
1888	...	662	647	74	73	111.7	112.8
1889	...	797	776	77	99	96.6	127.5
1890	...	950	701	78	99	82.1	141.2
1891	...	1,006	793	110	86	109.3	109.2

The combined ratio of 109.3 per thousand is very little in excess of 108, the ratio of mortality among children in French hospitals during 1885.

4. There were only 21 cases of small-pox treated during the year, against 321 in the previous year; all the cases were admitted into the Campbell Hospital, and five proved fatal. The number of admissions for cholera was 761 against 528 in 1890; nearly half of this number were treated in the Campbell Hospital. In 455 cases, or 59.7 per cent. of the whole, the disease proved fatal. The number of cholera cases treated in the Presidency General and Howrah Hospitals was comparatively small. The Inspector-General states that there was no outbreak of the disease, such as occurred in 1890, among the patients under treatment in these hospitals, and claims this as due to the improvement in the drainage system. Cholera has, however, shown itself since the close of the year under report, and this has led to the discovery of further defects in the sanitary arrangements at these hospitals. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that the matter will be made the subject of careful investigation. The cause of the prevalence of cholera in the Campbell Hospital is said to have been traced to the bad quality of the milk used by the patients, the theory being that the supposed germ of cholera is communicated by means of water used to adulterate the milk. The Inspector-General, however, thinks that the defective condition of the latrines may have had something to do with it. He maintains that the occurrence of an outbreak of cholera in a hospital among the patients under treatment for other diseases is always an indication of grave sanitary defects of some kind or other, thus implying that if the cause is removed the effect can also be prevented; and his opinion must necessarily carry great weight with the profession. There is, however, another school which holds that cholera is communicated through the air, and its supporters sometimes go so far as to maintain that it is as idle to seek for the causes of cholera as to enquire why the bullets of the garrison strike down one man rather than another on the glacis of a besieged fort. However this may be, the fact remains that the cause of cholera has not yet been conclusively traced. Attention has been drawn by the Inspector-General to "the practical immunity of the European residents of Calcutta of late years from cholera" as an illustration of what may be effected by improved sanitary surroundings. This, if it be a fact of permanent duration, is an important piece of evidence, but though the statement may be broadly true, it is certainly subject to a considerable number of exceptions. Dysentery and diarrhoea were somewhat more prevalent than in the previous year, but the rate of mortality from these causes was less. Malarial fever was slightly less prevalent among the indoor patients treated during 1891 than in 1890, the figures for the two years being 4,235 and 4,366 respectively. The number of deaths from this cause was, however, heavier than in the previous year, the figures being 393 against 289. The number of cases of venereal diseases treated at the hospitals declined from 12,326 in 1890 to 11,866 in 1891. The difference is, however, too small to warrant the opinion that these diseases are less prevalent now than they were before. A comparison with the figures of previous years would have been useful, but the Inspector-General explains in paragraph 23 of the report that no comparison can be made with the prevalence of the disease previous to 1890, as in that year the nomenclature was changed. If so, a grave responsibility rests on those authorities who by a change in nomenclature have obscured statistics important to science. The number of cases of leprosy treated during the year was 134, of which 122 were admitted into the Campbell Hospital. Before such cases are admitted into this hospital in future, it should be ascertained whether no accommodation can be found for them in the Leper Asylum. There were 26 cases of enteric fever under treatment during the year, of which 9 proved fatal. This is the highest number on record since 1877. Experience shows that it is confined chiefly to Europeans.

5. The number of important surgical operations performed during the year was 2,221 against 2,080 in 1890. The revised classification prescribed by the Government of India was adopted in 1891, with the result that some institutions returned a larger number of major operations than before, while others returned less. This is shown in the cases of the Mayo and Medical College Hospitals, where the number of major operations are placed at 451 and 1,225 respectively, against 189 and 1,447 in 1890. Changes in classification which produce such results as this may be necessary, but they are very inconvenient, preventing the possibility of comparing the work of one year with another. The number of minor operations was 20,275 against 19,956. Death ensued in 107 against 88 of the cases in which major operations were performed, giving a death-rate of 45 per mille against 39 in 1890. The number of dental operations performed was 2,431 against 2,320. The statistics show that the number of Eurasians applying for dental treatment far exceeded that of other classes, and Mr. Woods, the Professor of Dentistry at the Medical College, has, it is said, observed that the teeth of mixed races are more prone to decay than those of other classes. This may possibly be a fact, but it is not established by the figures given in the report, which do not show the ratio to the total population borne by the classes referred to. In the case of Hindus, who are stated to be the next most frequent applicants for relief, decay of the teeth is said to be on the increase, and is attributed by the Professor of Dentistry to the influence of advancing civilization. The subject does not appear yet to have got beyond the stage of plausible conjecture.

6. In the Eden Hospital 1,485 women and 326 children were treated during the year, against 1,409 and 363 in 1890. Of the total number of patients treated, 979 were Europeans and 832 Natives, against 1,024 and 748, the corresponding figures for the previous year. The number of deaths among the Europeans was 32 against 27, and that among the Natives 65 against 42. The increase in the mortality among both classes of patients is attributed to the number of moribund cases admitted. There were 542 confinement cases against 442 in the previous year, of which 21 terminated in death against 10. Dr. Joubert remarks that among the native women there was an unusual number of bad labour cases, which he regards as a hopeful sign, indicating the growing popularity of the hospital with the native community. The number of cases of septicæmia increased from 15 to 24, of which eight originated in the hospital. It is hoped that the special precautions which are reported to have been taken to guard against this malady will reduce the number of such cases in future. The arrangements for supplying hot food and hot water in this hospital are said to be still very defective, although attention was drawn to them in the report for 1890. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that the Principal will take steps to remedy this state of things, which is likely to impair the reputation and popularity of the hospital.

7. During the year the Shama Churn Law Eye Infirmary was opened, and all cases which were formerly treated in the ophthalmic wards of the Medical College Hospital were transferred to it. As a separate institution, the Eye Infirmary appears to have attracted more patients, the number of those seeking outdoor relief having increased from 10,466 to 11,389. The number of indoor patients was 504 against 563 in 1890. Most of the operations performed during the year consisted of cataract extraction, the percentage of success being 66·79, against 68·81 in 1890.

8. The number of Jewish patients, both indoor and outdoor, treated at the Ezra Hospital increased during the year. The outdoor patients numbered 2,279 with a daily average of 12·63, against 1,633 with a daily average of 9·3 in 1890. The indoor patients numbered 342 with a daily average of 16·73, against 248 with a daily average of 11·33.

9. The nursing arrangements at all the hospitals, especially at the Presidency General, Medical College, and Eden Hospitals, are reported to have been satisfactory. Thirteen pupil-nurses and eight pupil-dhais passed out of the Eden Hospital during the year, which speaks well for the training received by them at this institution.

10. The invested capital of the hospitals increased from Rs. 5,77,000 to Rs. 5,83,000. More than half of this belongs to the Mayo Institutions, and the increase during the year was due to the munificent gift of Rs. 10,000 made by Maharaja Bahadur Sir Jotendro Mohun Tagore to the Mayo Native Hospital. Securities to the value of Rs. 4,000 were sold during the year out of the capital of the Howrah General Hospital to meet the cost of quadrennial repairs. The following statement compares the main heads of income and expenditure of the hospitals for the past two years:—

11. The total income of the year, excluding the opening balance, was Rs. 4,80,174, which exceeds that of the previous year by Rs. 26,259. The increase occurred under all heads of income, except Europe medicines, but was mainly due to the donation of Rs. 10,000 above mentioned given to the Mayo Hospital. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to notice the improvement in the amount of subscriptions realized from Europeans as well as Natives. The contributions from Local Funds increased by Rs. 2,000, but little or no advance was made in the amount contributed from Municipal Funds. The total expenditure of the year exceeded that of the previous year by Rs. 15,920, the excess being chiefly on account of diet and miscellaneous charges. In the Medical College Hospital alone there was an increase of Rs. 4,412 in the expenditure on diet, and in the Presidency General Hospital the miscellaneous charges exceeded those of the previous year by Rs. 11,847. This, it is explained, was due to the payment of rates and taxes for the year 1891 and the previous year, the payment of the value of clothing purchased in 1890, and repairs and improvements to the hospital. In Statement V, Part I, appended to the report, the average cost of each diet during the year is shown to have been as follows:—

				Europeans.		Natives]
				A.	P.	A.	P.

Mayo Native	"	...	...	.....		3	7
Chandney	"	...	...	.....

No explanation has been offered of the varying cost of a diet in the different hospitals. The averages for Europeans are said to include the cost of diet for paying as well as non-paying patients, and it is also added that the maximum of eight annas for non-paying patients was never exceeded. Nothing has, however, been said in respect of the averages for Natives. The Lieutenant-Governor would be glad to have a fuller explanation of these figures furnished in future reports. The excess expenditure of Rs. 698 incurred under the head of establishment in the Campbell Hospital is said to have been partly due "to the furlough allowance of the Superintendent from 1st January to 13th November having been debited against the hospital." It is not understood how these charges come to be debited to the hospital, as furlough allowances when drawn in England are adjusted between the Government of India and the Secretary of State. The Inspector-General will be asked to look into this point. In future reports it should be stated which of the Calcutta hospitals have been personally inspected by the Head of the Medical Department during the year.

12. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are due to Dr. Hilson, the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, for his report and the promptness with which it is submitted, which is the more commendable, as the statements were entirely changed and fuller information had to be furnished on several points not noticed in former reports.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution, with a copy of the Report, be submitted to the Government of India for information.

Ordered also that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals for information and guidance, and that a copy of this Resolution and of the Report be forwarded to the Chairman of the Corporation of Calcutta, the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, the Governors of the Mayo Hospital, the Commissioner of Burdwan, and the Sanitary Commissioner, Bengal, for information.

Ordered also that this Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

RESOLUTION ON THE ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE JAIL DEPARTMENT FOR THE YEAR 1891.

No. 129P.D.

RESOLUTION.

JAILS.

Dated Darjeeling, the 28th May 1892.

READ—

The Report on the Administration of the Jail Department for the year 1891.

Read also—

The Reports for the years 1889 and 1890, and the orders of Government recorded thereon.

Dr. Lethbridge was in charge of the Department throughout the year, except for  $2\frac{1}{2}$  months when he was absent on special duty, and Mr. A. D. Larmore, Superintendent of the Alipore Jail and Deputy Inspector-General of Jails, was in charge. Since the close of the year, Dr. Lethbridge has been appointed Superintendent of Thuggee and Dacoity Operations, and his place as Inspector-General of Jails has been taken by Surgeon-Major D. W. D. Comins. In order to leave no arrears of work to his successor, Dr. Lethbridge completed his report for the year 1891 before making over charge, and this report, which is due to Government on the 15th April, was received in print on the 8th of that month.

2. Dr. Lethbridge opens his report with some figures to show the progress made in the Department during the 14 years it has been under his control. This comparison gives the following results:—

	1873—1877.	1887—1891.
Gross expenditure, excluding jail buildings ... ..	Rs. 12,81,699	Rs. 11,04,208
Annual cost of rations per head of jail population ... ..	„ 28-0-6	„ 23-0-3
Cash earnings per head for each convict sentenced to labour ...	„ 13-13-0	„ 22-7-0
Punishments by flogging ... ..	3,447	266
Escapes of convicts ... ..	85	15
Death-rate among all classes of prisoners per mille ... ..	51.1	37.2

These figures show sufficiently clearly the great improvement which has taken place in jail administration during the past 15 years. Admitting that many of the changes which have taken place are due to the greater attention given of late years by this Government and the Government of India to the subject of jail management, the Lieutenant-Governor has no reason to doubt that the chief portion of the credit for the great advance which has been made is due to the able manner in which Dr. Lethbridge has performed the duties of his office.

3. Judicial statistics.—During the year the Naya Dumka Subsidiary Jail was converted into an intermediate jail, thus raising the number of jails in the province from 45 to 46. The Rajmahal lock-up having been converted into a subsidiary jail, the number of such jails remains at 86, as last year. The Tippera Jail, which was an intermediate jail during the year under review, has, since the close of the year, been made a district jail. The total number of all classes of prisoners in jails and subsidiary jails, together with corresponding figures for the previous nine years, is shown in the following table:—

	1882.	1883.	1884.	1885.	1886.	1887.	1888.	1889.	1890.	1891.

* Two prisoners (one convict and one under trial) who remained on the 31st December 1890 at the Dum-Dum subsidiary jail, and two convicts who were confined at the Rajmahal Magistrate's hajat on the 31st December 1890, before it was converted into a subsidiary jail, were not accounted for in the statistics for 1890.

From these figures it appears that the number of admissions during the year was larger than in any other of the past ten years, while the number of prisoners remaining in custody at the end of the year was larger than in any year since 1880. The increase in admissions is spread equally over under-trial prisoners, convicts, and civil prisoners. No satisfactory explanation of this increase has been furnished: there was on the whole no greater scarcity in 1891 than in 1890, and there is no reason to suppose that police activity was greater than in previous years.

4. Numbers in different classes of jails.—Of the total daily average of 14,449 convicts, 53·40 per cent. were confined in central jails, 44·29 in district jails, and 2·31 per cent. in subsidiary jails. The daily average number of convicts in central jails was 7,716 against 7,313 in 1890, and the Inspector-General reports that these jails were kept absolutely full throughout the year. No doubt it is the proper policy to keep the central jails always full, as in them the maintenance of discipline is better and the work of the prisoners more profitable than in the smaller jails. Dr. Lethbridge remarks that if the increase in jail population continues, it will become necessary to convert some of the existing intermediate jails into district jails, and that it will be impossible to carry out the suggestion made by the Prison Committee that only prisoners with sentences of one year or upwards should be confined in central jails. However this may be at the present time, the number of prisoners in district and intermediate jails should be kept down as far as possible in ordinary seasons, and it is certain that many district jails are as a rule not nearly full.

5. Releases.—The following table compares the releases under the various heads with the figures for the six previous years:—

	1885.	1886.	1887.	1888.	1889.	1890.	1891.*
Released on expiry of sentence ..	27,379	27,185	21,328	26,453	28,754	26,464	25,873
.. on appeal ..	1,750	1,845	1,003	1,060	1,941	2,038	2,120

.. on medical grounds ..	22	36	29	23	27	39	105
.. on other grounds ..	75	27	6,444	88	2	9	9

During the year the views expressed by the Lieutenant-Governor in the Resolution on the Jail Administration Report of 1890, regarding the release of moribund prisoners, have been brought into effect, and the number of releases in such cases rose from 39 in 1890 to 105 in 1891. No formal alterations in the rules were, however, made till February of the present year, when a rule was issued by which moribund prisoners, who have not been sentenced to imprisonment for a period exceeding 7 years for any very heinous crime or series of crimes, may, when they have friends who will be responsible for their safe keeping, be released on the order of the Magistrate of the district, if the unexpired portion of their sentence does not exceed six months, and in other cases on the orders of Government. It has been clearly explained that the change in the rule has been made not with a view to prevent the jail mortality from being unduly swelled, but from motives of humanity, that the prisoner may have the consolation of dying at home. The former rule on this point was that such releases could only be made where the release of the prisoner was reasonably likely to save his life.

6. Numbers transported and executed.—The number of transportations from Bengal to the Andamans fell from 157 in 1890 to 90, of whom only 7 were females, during the year under review. There were 37 executions during the year, compared with 26 of 1890 and 17 in 1889.

7. Burman convicts.—The total number of Burman convicts confined in the Bengal jails at the close of the year was 387, against 470 remaining at the close of 1890. There were nine deaths among these convicts, against 15 in the preceding year. Ninety-two were despatched to Rangoon and four were discharged locally, while 22 were received against 20 in 1890. The number of offences committed by Burman prisoners was 699 as compared with 953 in the previous year, and the number of offences connected with work fell from 452 to 251. This is accounted for by the promotion of a larger proportion of the convicts to be convict warders.

8. Classification of convicts.—Of the 34,814 convicts admitted direct into jail, 19,872 or 57·08 per cent. were Hindus, 13,535 or 38·88 per cent. were Muhammadans, and 299 or ·86 per cent. were Christians, the balance being aborigines, Buddhists and Jains. The number of juveniles under 16 years of age admitted to jail was 371 or 1·06 per cent. of total admissions, as compared with 274 or 1·14 per cent. in 1890. The number of prisoners previously engaged in agricultural pursuits rose from 19,021 or 60·47 per cent. in 1890 to 21,282 or 63·44 per cent. in 1891. The number of female convicts admitted direct to jail was 1,265 as compared with 1,431 and 1,503 in 1890 and 1889 respectively.

9. The number of re-convicted prisoners admitted into jail was 3,226 or 9·26 per cent. of the total number, against 3,331 or 12 per cent. in 1890. Of these, 2,305 had one previous conviction, 558 two previous convictions, and 363 more than two previous convictions. During the year the organization of the anthropometric system for the identification of habitual offenders, which has been made over to the Police Department, made considerable progress, and all the important criminals in the central jails have already been measured. The number of persons sent to jail in default of giving security for good behaviour rose from 1,303 to 1,448.

10. Sentences of convicts.—A steady increase in the proportion of prisoners with short sentences has been noticed for some years; of 15,429 convicts confined in the jails on the 31st of December 1891, 7,993 or 51·8 per cent. had sentences not exceeding one year, as compared with 6,679 or 47·6 per cent. in 1890. In last year's Resolution it was noticed that in many cases simple imprisonment was ordered where the proper punishment would have been rigorous imprisonment; and during the year under review, while the total number of sentences increased by nearly 2,000, sentences of simple imprisonment fell from 2,557 to 2,472. There appears, however, still to be room for considerable improvement in this direction, and an impression still exists among some Magistrates that if a prisoner is too old and weak to be capable of much labour, he should be sentenced to simple imprisonment. This is a mistake. In such cases the sentence passed should be one of rigorous imprisonment, and it should be left to the Jail officials to employ the prisoner on some light labour suitable to his strength. Dr. Lethbridge again calls attention to the very small number of sentences of rigorous imprisonment with solitary confinement, viz., 56 against 30 in 1890. The Lieutenant-Governor has himself noticed that the cells appear to be used almost solely for the purposes of jail punishment, and hardly ever as a part of a sentence. In other provinces this form of punishment is freely used in criminal courts, and Sir Charles Elliott sees no reason why it should be otherwise in Bengal. The number of sentences of imprisonment with whipping rose from 90 in 1890 to 95 in 1891. The number of convicts whipped under judicial sentences rose from 1,329 to 1,528, while the number of boys under 16 ordered by judicial courts to be whipped fell from 500 to 458.

11. Under-trial prisoners.—The number of under-trial prisoners admitted during the year was 30,304, and there were 1,099 prisoners under trial at the close of the year 1890, against 1,089 at the end of 1891. Of these 15,036 or 49·6 per cent. were finally convicted. The number of admissions was greater than in any of the preceding ten years. There were 33 escapes during the year among under-trial prisoners. Of these, one was from the intermediate jail at Malda, and the rest from subsidiary jails. Of the escaped prisoners, nine remained uncaptured at the end of the year.

12. Detention of under-trial prisoners.—The average period of detention in Sessions cases for the whole province was 42·96 days as compared with 45·88 days in 1890. Of the 16 districts with the worst average in this respect, all but two are under a Judge who also holds Sessions in another district. The average detention in cases before Magistrates fell from 13·28 days in 1890 to 11·96 days in 1891. In the cases of Champaran and Khulna, the average detention of such prisoners was less than 3 days, which is a remarkably low figure. The unnecessary postponement of cases is a subject to which the Lieutenant-Governor has given much attention, and His Honour has every reason to hope that, as anticipated by the Inspector-General, there will be a further improvement in regard to the detention of under-trial prisoners during the present year.

13. Civil prisoners.—There were 73 civil prisoners in confinement on the last day of 1890, and the number of admissions during 1891 was 1,089, against 969 in 1890. Of the total number, 15 were transferred, 1,074 were released, and two died of cholera.

14. State prisoners.—Three Lushai chiefs sent down by the Assam Government were received in the Hazáribágh Jail. Two of these men committed suicide by hanging themselves with ropes made from their clothing. The remaining chief was in jail at the close of the year, and was in good health. Twenty-one prisoners from Manipur passed through the Alipore Jail on their way to the Andamans.

15. Jail buildings.—The total expenditure during the year was Rs. 2,03,705, of which Rs. 1,35,190 were spent on Original Major Works. In future years the Inspector-General will receive a fixed grant for Original Works, which has been fixed at Rs. 1,00,000 for the year 1892. Within these limits the selection of the most urgent among the works which have received administrative sanction will be made by the Inspector-General at his discretion. The subject of jail buildings is one to which great attention has been paid during the year. It is the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion that there has been some unnecessary expenditure on jail construction in Bengal, and especially in subsidiary jails, due to the prevalent conviction that all jail buildings must be of masonry work. For the subsidiary jails, which on an average contain four convicts and six under-trial prisoners, the cost of construction on the standard plan has been from Rs. 15,000 to Rs. 20,000 apiece, and the expenditure during the past year was Rs. 64,272. Not only are the surrounding walls and the sleeping barrack high and of masonry, but the very workshed under which the oil-mill stands, the sheds for warders, and even their cooking sheds must also be of masonry work. Expenditure has thus increased through the mistaken belief that it is cheaper to build with brick and avoid subsequent repairs, whereas in fact the mere interest on the cost of a pucka building is often equal to the whole cost of a cutcha one, and in all cases exceeds the cost of the annual repairs to the latter. In these respects His Honour has spared no effort to introduce a more economical spirit. Since, however, these jails are being built on a standard plan, and only a small number remain to be constructed on this system, His Honour has agreed for the sake of uniformity to allow these to be completed on the same general plan, only modifying some of the details.

16. Guards.—The total strength of the warder-guard now stands at 1,607 men of all grades. The system by which a small monthly sum is deducted as security from the salary of each warder was continued during the year, and is reported to have an excellent effect on the men. The new organization referred to in last year's Resolution, by which every warder on first appointment in the department has to serve in a central jail, was worked throughout the year with success, and Dr. Lethbridge unhesitatingly expresses the opinion that this arrangement has improved, and will, in future, very materially improve the discipline and efficiency of the warder guard. The loss of efficiency in the guards of central jails, which might be expected to result from this system, has, as far as possible, been avoided by keeping the best warders of the higher grades at the central jails, and by insisting that before admission to the permanent establishment at a central jail, every warder shall have undergone a period of training and probation as an apprentice on subsistence allowance in a district jail. An important point in connection with this reorganization scheme is the uniting of all the head-warders and warders of the jails affiliated to one central jail into one establishment. On this subject Dr. Lethbridge writes as follows:—

"I trust I may be pardoned if I take this my last opportunity of referring to this subject, to bring prominently to notice one important and essential feature which should never be lost sight of in the working of this system. The head-warders and warders of all the jails affiliated to a central jail must be made to know and appreciate the fact that they belong to one establishment; that all the appointments in that circle are open to them; and that the Superintendent of the Central Jail has the power, on the recommendation of their immediate superior, to promote them to any vacancy in a jail in that circle, to which their standing and good services give them a claim. The promotion board which has been devised for this purpose enables the Superintendent of a Central Jail to consider the claims of each warder, but the fact that such a record exists does not satisfy the warders in distant jails that their claims have received consideration when promotions have been made, because the men are usually not aware of their standing on the promotion board, or of their prospects of advancement. To remedy this defect, I have ordered that a copy of the promotion board should be made in the vernacular and sent to each jail every half-year to let the men see how they stand, what promotions have been made, and what the prospects are before them. What the Civil List is to young civilians, this copy of the promotion board will be to warders—a constant stimulus to good work and an assurance that their claims are not neglected because they happen to be working in some district away from head-quarters. But this is not all; the warders must be satisfied that the changes which they notice in the last copy of the promotion board have not been made in a haphazard fashion, and have not been due to favouritism or to the fact that men promoted had been serving under the immediate notice of the dispenser of patronage. To make this quite clear, and to give the warders confidence in the system, the grounds on which a man has been passed over must be stated in the column of remarks. Such explanations as "Illiterate," "Not recommended by his Superintendent," "Punished during the half-year," will be quite sufficient to show the warders that the claim of each man for promotion has received consideration. On the other hand, if a warder is promoted out of his turn, the special service for which this promotion has been given should be detailed as an incentive to others to follow his example. I am satisfied that any extra work that this further development of the system may entail will result in greater efficiency, and will make the service more popular than it has been."

His Honour notices with approval these arrangements as likely to create a zealous spirit in the warder guard establishment. The difficulty of explaining to native subordinates the grounds of promotion is one universally felt even outside the Jail Department, and Dr. Lethbridge is to be congratulated on having devised this method of dealing with it.

17. Escapes.—There were 21 escapes of convicts as compared with 13 in 1890. Of these, two were from central jails, seven from district jails, four from intermediate jails, and eight from subsidiary jails. Fifteen of the 21 were recaptured during the year, besides four who had escaped in previous years. These figures in connection with the daily average convict population of jails and subsidiary jails are thus compared with the figures of other provinces for the latest years for which figures are available:—

18. Prison discipline.—The number of offences committed by prisoners was 26,450 against 25,700 in 1890. The ratio of punishments to the daily average jail population fell from 191·1 per cent. in 1890 to 183·1 in the year under review. The following table gives the statistics of punishments during the past seven years:—

In future years, the Lieutenant-Governor desires that the information contained in these two tables may be combined in one statement.

19. Convict officers and mark remissions.—The total number of prisoners employed during the year as convict officers was 1,986, and the ratio per cent. of the average number of prisoners so employed was 5.80 for males and 0.37 for females. The Inspector-General reports that though the proportion employed is fairly small for the province, certain jails have not been well managed in this particular. The number of convict officers punished was 1,580 as compared with 1,629. Out of 1,661 prisoners released during the year, who were on the mark system, only nine failed to gain remission under it.

20. Expenditure.—The gross expenditure of the Department for the last ten years is shown in the following table:—

The increase under diet, hospital charges, clothing, and contingencies is accounted for by the increase in jail population. The decrease in the average cost per prisoner under all heads, excluding public works, from Rs. 79-4-5 in 1889 and Rs. 76-6-3 in 1890 to Rs. 73-3-9 in the year under review, is satisfactory. The Lieutenant-Governor finds nothing to take exception to in this table as a whole, and is glad to be able to record that the jails have, as a rule, been managed with economy and forethought.

21. The average prices paid for the principal articles of diet during the past two years are noted on the margin, and, as remarked by the Inspector-General, they show that by a judicious use of the system of buying the bulk of the cereals required at the cheapest season of the year, it has been possible, in a year of exceptionally high prices, to keep the rates almost down to what they were the previous year. The Lieutenant-Governor regrets, however, to have to notice that in some cases a great want of common sense was shown as regards the purchase of sufficiently large quantities of grain at the proper season, sometimes from ignorance of the resources of the market, and in one case at least from fear of the responsibility for safe storage. The judicious working of the storage system, and the better use of the jail gardens for growing food-grains, are the chief measures which can be relied on for reducing jail expenditure, and His Honour trusts that he may not again have to notice any failure in the former respect.

The most expensive jails are those placed at the top of the list. At Naya Dumka there is every reason to expect improvement in future under the superintendence of Dr. Kelly, one of the most economical Superintendents in the Department. At Midnapore the high cost is due to the better diet given to the prisoners under medical advice; while in the Alipore Jail, where the cost has fallen from Rs. 27-14-6 in 1890 to Rs. 26-3-2, the high price which still prevails is due to the want of storage accommodation. The cheapest jails in the province are Gaya, Bankura, Malda, Puri, Purnea, Monghyr, and Saran in the order named. The results at Gaya have been obtained, under the management of Jailor Lal Behari Singh, by cultivating the jail land to the best advantage, and by the maintenance of a good dairy. At Bankura, Dr. Mukerji and Assistant Jailor Dilaruddin Ahmad managed to store rice at Re. 1-10 per maund, the cheapest rate obtained in any jail in the province. Dr. Lethbridge also mentions as worthy of special commendation the work of Dr. Kelly and Assistant Jailor Jodunath Mazumdar at Malda. In the Presidency Jail special attention was paid to the storage of grain, and the result has been a decrease in the cost per prisoner from Rs. 28-0-6 to Rs. 23-14-9, a result which reflects great credit on the Superintendent, Mr. Donaldson. Dr. Basu has the credit of having made the largest reduction in the province under this head, expenditure in the Mymensingh Jail having fallen from Rs. 28-2-2 in 1890 to Rs. 23-12-6 in the year under review.

23. Altogether, in spite of the rise in prices, out of 47 jails, 29 show a reduction in the cost of diet per prisoner. In the following jails only was there an increase exceeding 8 annas:—Shahabad (Rs. 4-11-10), Patna (Rs. 3-1-1), Champaran (Rs. 2-2-9), Jalpaiguri (Rs. 2-1-1), Muzaffarpur (Rs. 2-0-3), Bhágalpur (Rs. 1-13-3), Darbhanga (Re. 1-10-10), Bogra (Re. 1-1-8), Lohardaga (annas 15-6), Saran (annas 11-1), Dinajpur (annas 10-9), Pabna (annas 10-7), and Manbhum (annas 10-2). The average expenditure per prisoner for diet throughout the province was Rs. 22-12-10 against Rs. 23-15-5 and Rs. 25-14-7 in 1890 and 1889 respectively.

24. Supply of vegetables and other products of jail gardens and dairies.—The whole of the vegetables consumed by prisoners during the year were grown in the jail gardens, except in the case of the Midnapore and Mymensingh jails which purchased vegetables to the value of Rs. 210 and Rs. 58 respectively. All condiments used for the diet of convicts were also grown in the jail gardens. In this connection the Lieutenant-Governor would wish to refer to the wholesome rule that every jail should contain in its gardens one lime tree for every prisoner within its walls. It will be interesting if in future years it is stated in the annual report of the Department in how many jails this ideal is realized. The total of the value of vegetables and dairy produce sold, Rs. 72,831, compares most favourably with the figures of 1890 (Rs. 53,747) and 1889 (Rs. 47,827). This remarkable increase is reported to be largely due to the development of jail dairies which supplied the jails during the year with milk to the value of Rs. 13,517. Dr. Lethbridge estimates the expenditure on the purchase of cows at Rs. 8,000, but no details are given as to the cost of maintaining the dairies. It is clear, however, that by the establishment of these dairies a supply of milk of undoubted purity is obtained at a very small cost to Government, which not only reduces considerably the cost of diet throughout the jails, but is invaluable in cases of sickness. The first prize offered by Government for the best managed jail dairy has been awarded to Babu Nauronga Marwari of the Buxar Jail, Jailor Lal Behari Singh of the Gaya Jail obtaining the second prize.

25. Establishment, &c.—Expenditure under the head "Establishment" rose from Rs. 3,78,895 to Rs. 3,84,825: hospital charges rose from Rs. 47,437 to Rs. 48,751: the value of clothing supplied increased from Rs. 53,667 to Rs. 55,444, and the expenditure on contingencies was Rs. 1,47,722 against Rs. 1,29,089.

26. Average rate of controllable expenditure.—The total average cost per prisoner on account of diet, hospital charges, and clothing together, which amounted to Rs. 34-13-11 in 1889 and Rs. 31-3-5 in 1890, was further reduced to Rs. 29-11-9 in 1891. The jails of Malda and Gaya show the best results. Buxar was as usual the cheapest central jail.

27. Employment of prisoners, and manufactures.—The chapter on this subject is a meagre one, consisting of 2½ pages only of printed matter, of which almost the whole is composed of the barest statistics. This side of jail administration is one to which the Lieutenant-Governor attaches great importance, and he would like to see it dealt with more fully in the reports for future years. From what Sir Charles Elliott has seen on his tours of inspection, he is persuaded that the jail policy of the past few years has tended, while taking special care of the health of the prisoners, rather to the neglect of the punitive side of imprisonment, that is, the labour question. In several jails His Honour found that prisoners were altogether insufficiently worked, as the following extracts from the inspection notes written at the time will show:—

Mymensingh Jail.—"The arrangements for labour are not at all satisfactory. With so large a force (372 convicts to-day) something valuable should be done. Yet the cash receipts of 1890 were only Rs. 2,264. The labour is divided between many objects—pounding surki, husking paddy, making bamboo mats and twine, oil-mills, garden work, &c. In the cold weather they make bricks. If nothing better can be devised, they should be employed on some big public work—embankment, drain, or such like. It is a sin to waste such a valuable labour force in this way."

Backergunge Jail.—"The great difficulty here is employment. Only 129 out of 397 rigorous imprisonment cases are employed on real labour, and of these 41 are only spinning jute which is women's work. More effort should be made to find hard and more profitable work. But there is certainly a danger here in avoiding the greater evil of high mortality of falling into the lesser evil of under-working the prisoners. The good jail officer, is he who avoids either extreme."

Gaya Jail.—"Everything is satisfactory except one point, that of employment. In this respect it is the worst jail I have ever seen. A few men are at the oil-mills, and a few grind wheat for jail consumption; but the greatest portion are employed on the lightest form of women's work, spinning grass into twine. It is absurd to call this labour at all. I think I could see throughout that there is too strong a desire to make things easy and pleasant for the prisoner, owing, perhaps, to the great death-rate of some years ago. Active measures should be taken to invent new sources of labour. The Magistrate says he has arranged for starting stone-breaking again. The stone should be of the best, and if no exception is taken to its quality, the District Engineer should utilize it at the same rate, instead of paying a contractor for hired labour. Brick-making might be tried. The police are building reserve lines and hospital close by with bricks supplied by the Public Works Department, i.e., made by hired labour, instead of by the jail. I found a lot of men making twine, with regard to whom it was urged that they could not be put to any other work, because the Jail Code says that no one should be put to hard labour for his first month. I think this should be modified. It might run that a full task of hard labour should not be exacted in the first month. But able-bodied men should not be put to women's work under the cover of this rule."

These admonitions have not fallen on unfruitful ground. Experiments have been made by Dr. J. H. T. Walsh, Medical Officer of the Presidency Jail, on the effect of exercise and enforced labour on weakly constitutions. The following extract from his report on the subject is full of interest and worth reproducing:—

"As the outcome of this forced muscular waste, there is increase in tissue hunger and tissue respiration, which allows, and indeed compels, the patient to take in and digest large quantities of food; thus causing increase of weight and great improvement in muscular vigour and health generally. From such cases as are here alluded to it is only a step to those in which the patient, though in poor health, is able to move about and use his limbs. It must be understood that I exclude from the category of persons suitable for these experiments all those suffering from marked organic disease of the heart, lungs and kidneys. The starved, the anæmic and the dyspeptic form a very large proportion of all jail populations, especially in Bengal, where the standard of health is low. As a rule such subjects, when punished by imprisonment, have been allowed to do very trifling tasks, and have been, so far as production is concerned, practically placed among the sick. During the year 1891 I selected 129 such cases and placed them on hard work with the following results:—121 improved in health and gained weight, 2 lost weight and had to be kept on light work, 2 being somewhat old were ultimately placed in the convalescent gang as much improvement could not be hoped for in such persons, 2 neither lost nor gained; and finally, of all these weakly persons only two are registered as having been admitted into hospital. One of these was admitted for periostitis, not in any way caused by the work he was doing. The second man was placed on hard work, dhenki, on the 30th November. He then weighed 88½ lbs. He worked on until the 21st December and weighed 90 lbs. He then got diarrhoea and was admitted into hospital. All the men selected were admitted in "bad" or "indifferent" health, and all these cases have been kept carefully under observation by the Civil Hospital Assistant and by me, and a register has been kept showing the weekly gain or loss in weight. I must point out that for the first week or so a full task must not be expected, and also that some forms of labour are much better to begin with than others. I have generally commenced with the dhenki or with dall-grinding, passing on afterwards to wheat-grinding, hand-press or oil-mill. It is hardly necessary to mention that the convicts do not show any desire to assist in these beneficial experiments, and in some cases it has required firmness in insisting on the tasks being performed."

The results of Dr. Walsh's experiments seem to the Lieutenant-Governor to be of much importance. While great improvement has taken place in the mortality ratio, the importance of which cannot be overrated, the generality of Superintendents are reluctant to enforce a proper amount of work on the part of the prisoners, for fear that such work should have a prejudicial effect on their health. The above observations on the health-giving effects of moderate labour, which agree with those of the Famine Commission in the case of starving people, are therefore most valuable, and should be known as widely as possible.

His Honour has issued orders for the employment, as far as possible, by the Public Works Department, of prisoners for such works as brick, tile, and surki manufacture, coolie labour to assist skilled workmen, earthwork of all kinds, and stone and brick breaking, and trusts that by this means the valuable labour-supply contained in the jails may be turned to greater profit than has hitherto been the case.

The average number of prisoners under sentence of labour was 14,230 against 13,241 in 1890; of these, an average number of 729 were employed on unremunerative labour as compared with 491 in 1890.

28. Earnings of prisoners.—The profit on the manufacturing account during the last two years is as follows:—

		Rs.	Rs.
Cash drawn from the treasury	...	8,91,321	8,84,267
Cash paid into the treasury	...	12,05,342	10,35,109
		<hr/>	<hr/>
Difference or profit	...	3,14,021	1,50,842
		<hr/>	<hr/>

No explanation is given by the Inspector-General of this remarkable increase in the profit from manufactures. The average profit per head from each labouring prisoner was Rs. 52-7 against Rs. 28-3 in the previous year.

His Honour regrets to observe that owing to carelessness in the working of the Rajshahi Jail, the Manager, Eastern Bengal State Railway, had to reject several consignments of the castor-oil supplied by that jail for the lighting of the Railway.

29. Subsidiary Jails.—The number remains unchanged at 86. Of these, only 9 were visited less than 70 times by the Superintendents, and Dr. Lethbridge reports an improvement throughout in the number of visits paid to these jails compared with the results of previous years. The total amount expended on subsidiary jail buildings was Rs. 64,272 compared with Rs. 63,872 in 1890. The daily average number of convicts and under-trial prisoners in these 86 jails was 332.84 and 515.03, respectively, or a little less than four convicts and six under-trial prisoners to each jail. Of the 40 prisoners who escaped from subsidiary jails, eight were convicts, and of these five were recaptured. Of the 32 under-trial prisoners who escaped, 23 were recaptured.

The total cost of the subsidiary jails was Rs. 1,73,235, or, excluding public works, Rs. 128-6-9 per prisoner compared with Rs. 1,70,110, and Rs. 131-8-8, the corresponding figures for 1890. The total credits from manufactures in subsidiary jails amounted to Rs. 20,815, with a net profit of Rs. 3,198, against Rs. 19,340 and Rs. 3,127 in 1890.

30. Water-supply.—The Alipore Central Jail has been connected with the Calcutta water-supply during the year. A well is being sunk near the Midnapore Central Jail, the completion of which will, it is hoped, solve what has been a serious difficulty in the past. The well water used in the Arrah Jail, where cholera has appeared in July of each of the last two years, was found to be impure, and the Lieutenant-Governor has sanctioned the introduction of pure canal water for the use of the jail. For the Champaran Jail river water has to be carted for a distance of six miles. An attempt to introduce well water during the year was followed by much sickness among the prisoners, and the old system has been resumed. Arrangements have been made during the year by which the water in use in every jail where wells are the source of supply, or where the quality of the water is doubted, will be tested once a year by the Chemical Examiner to Government.

31. Dr. Lethbridge reports that Mr. A. D. Larymore, Superintendent of the Alipore Jail, has invented during the year a boiler which fulfils all the necessary conditions, viz., (1) it will boil large quantities of water with a minimum expenditure of fuel; (2) the fact that the water is thoroughly boiled is made known by a steam whistle which continues for some minutes after the fuel is withdrawn; (3) the water is passed direct into the filter, thus avoiding all chance of contamination in handling. His Honour is convinced from what he has seen during his tours that most of the boilers in jails merely heat the water without boiling it. Mr. Larymore's invention has come in good time, and should be introduced without delay into all jails which show a large number of admissions to hospital from fevers and bowel-complaints.

32. Mortality among prisoners.—The following table shows the sickness and mortality of the jails for every year from 1863 onwards:—

YEARS.	Daily average number of prisoners.	Daily average sick.	Ratio per mille of daily sick.	NUMBER OF DEATHS.			DEATH-RATE PER MILLE OF AVERAGE STRENGTH.			REMARKS.

The death-rate is 1.4 below that of last year, which was itself the lowest on record—a result which is most satisfactory and should encourage Superintendents of Jails to continue their exertions in the direction of improved sanitation.

The jails in which the ratio of admissions to hospitals per mille of average daily population was highest were Purnea 99.8, Dinajpur 91.8, Chittagong 82.9, Dacca 72.7, Jalpaiguri 67.8 and Champaran 67.7. There were 81 cases of cholera with 48 deaths against 55 cases and 31 deaths in the previous year. Only seven cases of small-pox occurred. These were mostly of a mild type, and only one case terminated fatally. There were 23 admissions from cerebro-spinal fever, of which 18 ended in death. Twelve cases and eleven deaths occurred in the Alipore Jail, six with four deaths at Bhágalpur, and five with three deaths at Rangpur. The Medical Committee has continued its investigations in regard to this mysterious and fatal disease, and has seen every case that has occurred in the Alipore Jail, but its final report has not yet been submitted.

33. The total number of deaths was 454. Of these, 444 occurred in jails other than subsidiary jails. Dr. Lethbridge points out that out of these 444 convicts who died during the year, only 150 were originally admitted to jail in good health. The following jails show the highest mortality—

Of the twelve deaths in the Purnea Jail, six were those of prisoners who were brought to jail in bad health, and were sent at once to hospital where they died a few days afterwards. In this jail 67 other cases had to be taken to hospital directly on their admission, and the general health of the district was exceedingly bad during the year. The high death-rate at Shahabad has resulted entirely from an epidemic of cholera, to which 12 deaths were due. Apart from this the death-rate was 21 per mille. In the Rangpur Jail there were six deaths from cholera, and in this jail out of 23 prisoners who died, 12 were admitted in bad health, 10 in indifferent health, and only one in good health. The Puri Jail is a small one, and a high death-rate is accidental, and due to six deaths from various causes. The Dinajpur Jail is situated in a notoriously unhealthy district, and of the 15 convicts who died in it, nine were admitted in indifferent health and four in bad health. In Saran there were five fatal cases of cholera.

34. In paragraph 25 of the Resolution on last year's Jail Report, it was ordered that in all jails where the death-rate exceeded 60 per mille a separate and special examination should be made by a Committee consisting of the Superintendent of the Jail and three neighbouring Civil Surgeons with a view to ascertain the causes of the mortality. The Lieutenant-Governor is not aware that any action has been taken upon these orders beyond circulating them to Superintendents of Jails. This is obviously a very insufficient compliance with the orders of Government, and His Honour expects that Dr Comins will at once take steps for the appointment of a Committee to enquire into the sanitary condition of the Purnea, Rangpur and Dinajpur jails. It would be well to deplete these jails as far as possible, transferring all but the shortest term prisoners to more healthy prisons, if room can be found for them there.

35. Inspections.—During the year the Lieutenant-Governor himself inspected 28 jails, and in the case of 10 of these recorded notes of the result of his inspection. The Inspector-General inspected 31 jails, 6 subsidiary jails, and the 2 reformatory schools at Alipore and Hazáribágh. Mr. Larymore, during the time he was in charge of the Department, visited 15 jails. The number of inspections by judicial and magisterial officers increased from 1,931 in 1890 to 2,145 in 1891; those made by non-official visitors, however, fell from 144 to 137.

36. Officers of the Department.—Dr. Lethbridge cordially acknowledges the value of the services rendered by the officers of his Department, and it is very satisfactory to Government that an officer of such experience and insight into character should be able to speak in this way of so large a number of his subordinates. In this Resolution it is possible to mention only a few names, but among jailors the Lieutenant-Governor notices with pleasure the high testimony borne to the services of Messrs. O'Connell and Donelan and Babu Nauronga Marwari, and among Deputy Superintendents of Messrs. Fox, Petty and Dobson. The following Superintendents received special mention:—

Superintendents of District Jails.

Dr. E. G. Russell.
 „ E. J. Manook.
 „ C. M. Russell.
 „ J. M. Zorab.
 „ K. D. Ghose.

 „ W. Leonard.
 „ P. Donaldson.

Mr. C. H. C. Sevenoaks.
 „ E. W. Payne.
 „ M. S. Emerson.

The thanks of Government are also due to Mr. Hanlon, Superintendent of Jail Manufactures, and especially to Mr. A. D. Larymore, the Deputy Inspector-General of Jails, who has carried on the duties of that appointment in addition to his ordinary work at Aliporo, and has given much assistance in the administration of the department.

37. To Dr. Lethbridge himself the Lieutenant-Governor must again express his special thanks for the services he has rendered for so many years in the important office of Inspector-General of Jails. These services were acknowledged in the Gazette at the time Dr. Lethbridge made over his appointment, in terms which the Lieutenant-Governor is glad to reproduce as the concluding words of this Resolution—

“Surgeon Lieutenant-Colonel A. S. Lethbridge, C.S.I., M.D., whose services have now been placed at the disposal of the Government of India in the Foreign Department, has been employed under the Government of Bengal for a period of nearly fourteen-and-a-half years as Inspector-General of Jails. During this long incumbency he has justly won for himself the reputation of a most able and efficient Head of the Department, and his name will always be associated with the great improvements which, in recent times, have been effected in Jail administration in India. His merits have repeatedly been acknowledged by the Local Government and by the Government of India, and the Lieutenant-Governor cannot allow his transfer to another sphere of duties to take place without recording his sense of the valuable services Dr. Lethbridge has rendered to this Province.”

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Inspector-General of Jails for information and guidance.

Ordered also that a copy of this Resolution, and a copy of the Report, be submitted to the Government of India in the Home Department.

Ordered also that a copy of this Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

The Reports for the year 1890, and the orders of Government recorded thereon.

The Alipore School.—The average daily number of boys in the Reformatory rose from 116 in 1890 to 142 in 1891. There were 38 admissions during the year, and 21 releases and 2 deaths. The average number of punishments to each boy fell from 1·02 in 1890 to 0·66 in 1891, and the offences for which they were imposed are reported not to have been of a serious character. This, in view of the large increase in the number of boys, is very satisfactory.

The average number entitled to marks fell from 89·73 to 82·16, and the weekly average money reward from Rs. 3-9-5 to Rs. 3-2-9. The average number of admissions to hospital was 2·52 against 2·78 in 1890. There were two deaths, one from cholera and one from accidental poisoning, due to drinking an antiseptic solution under the idea that it was brandy. The Civil Hospital Assistant, through whose carelessness the accident occurred, was censured and removed from the charge of the Reformatory Dispensary. Three boys escaped from the Reformatory on the 8th April 1891 by scaling a wall, but were recaptured within a few days.

2. Quarters for the Civil Hospital Assistant were added to the Reformatory during the year, but no other building of importance was undertaken. It is, however, reported that more workshops are needed. The arrangements for the work and recreation of the boys continued the same as in past years. An hour's gymnastics has recently been introduced into the day's routine, but sufficient time has not yet elapsed to make any estimate of its effects possible.

3. Reports regarding 65 boys were received from Magistrates during the year. Of those 11 had been reconvicted, two bore a bad character, two had died, and 50 bore a good character. Out of 242 boys released since the opening of the institution, 37 have been reconvicted, 41 have been reported as bearing bad characters, and 164 as bearing good characters. It is, however, disappointing to notice that only 27 follow the trade learnt in the Reformatory.

4. The total expenditure of the school rose from Rs. 13,988-8-4 in 1890 to Rs. 15,776-5-6 in 1891. The average cost per head fell, however, from Rs. 119-9 to Rs. 111-1-6. The average expenditure per head on fixed establishment and diet fell from Rs. 71-10-8 and Rs. 33-11-3 to Rs. 61-10-10 and Rs. 32-10-3 respectively. These reductions are satisfactory, but, in the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion, the cost of diet is still unduly high. The cost per head in the Alipore Central Jail is only Rs. 26-3-2 a head, and there appears to be no reason why the diet of boys should cost more than that of men. Arrangements should be made for storing supplies of grain in the Reformatory at the cheapest season of the year as is done in the jails. The price paid for rice, Rs. 3-0-5 per maund, was unnecessarily high.

5. From the table shewing the results of manufacture it would appear that the profits of the manufacturing department amounted to Rs. 10,235-12-5 against Rs. 9,901-13-4 in 1890. The figures for that year, however, took into account, on both the credit and debit sides, the value of raw material in stock and of plant and machinery. The omission of these figures in the present table prevents any accurate comparison between the results of the two years.

6. Arrangements have recently been made by which selected boys will be instructed in the technical work of printing, such as setting up and distributing type, the printing work of the institution having hitherto been confined to the purely mechanical processes. It has also been arranged that some of the Burmese convicts in the Alipore Jail should instruct the boys in wood-carving. These arrangements were not, however, brought into effect during the year under review.

7. The question of the unduly short terms for which many little boys are sent to the Reformatory has been brought to the Lieutenant-Governor's notice. His Honour understands that this question has been dealt with in the report of the Prison Conference, and will take no action in the matter pending the issue of orders on that report. He desires, however, to call the special attention of all Magistrates to the standing orders on this point, and hopes that he may not have to find fault in this particular in future.

8. The Lieutenant-Governor visited and inspected the institution on the 16th January 1892, and was thoroughly satisfied with all he saw of its management. His Honour is glad to notice that the Board of Management again speak in favourable terms of the manner in which Mr. C. J. Courtenay carried out his duties as Superintendent.

9. The Hazáribágh School.—The daily average number of boys in the school was 296·10 against 280·7 in 1890. Seventy-eight boys were admitted during the year, 67 were released, and one died. Discipline was on the whole good, and only 219 punishments were inflicted against 308 in 1890. A serious attack was, however, made on the Deputy Superintendent by two of the boys, instigated by a prisoner sent from the Bhágalpur Jail to teach carpet-weaving. The Deputy Superintendent was fortunately able to defend himself successfully, and the offenders were suitably punished. The daily routine of the school is the same as in previous years. The Lieutenant-Governor would be glad to see something done towards the introduction of gymnastics here, as in the Alipore Reformatory School. The monthly average number of boys earning marks was 270·5, and the average weekly earnings Rs. 10-1-4. The corresponding figures for last year were 273·66 and Rs. 10-11-11. The year was an exceptionally healthy one—there were only 58 admissions to hospital and one death—and the daily average number of sick was only 2·54.

10. The total expenditure of the school was Rs. 83-3-9 per head against Rs. 75-4-11 in 1890, or, omitting outlay on building, Rs. 70-8-5 against Rs. 69-5-7. The Lieutenant-Governor notices that there was an increase in the expenditure per head under all the three controllable items of expenditure—diet, clothing, and contingencies, while higher prices were paid than in the previous year for rice and 'atta.' The average expenditure per head on diet was Rs. 27-15-9 against Rs. 25-11-5 in 1890. The corresponding figure for the Hazáribágh Jail was only Rs. 18-2-11. The Lieutenant-Governor cannot consider these figures satisfactory. He hopes that during the current year greater economy may be exercised by a judicious storing of food-grains at harvest time. A workshop and 25 cells were built during the year. The results of the working of the Manufacture Department were that the amount paid into the treasury was Rs. 3,979-8 and the value of goods supplied to the General Department and to other departments was Rs. 4,435 and Rs. 2,900-3-4 respectively, while the total profits amounted to Rs. 2,661-12-9.

There was no noticeable change in the employment of the boys, but the Lieutenant-Governor is of opinion that book-binding and cane-work might with advantage be taught.

11. Reports regarding 90 boys released from the school were received during the year from Magistrates of districts. Of these 59 were reported as well-conducted, five were in jail, five were viewed with suspicion, and one had died; only one boy was reported as pursuing the trade learnt in the school.

12. For two months a serious spirit of insubordination prevailed among the warder staff, owing to recent orders with regard to the furnishing of security. Finally the head-warder was dismissed, and three warders resigned, and matters now appear to have settled down quietly.

13. The school was well-managed during the year, and its successful working does credit to Dr. Wilson, the Superintendent, and to Mr. Hill, the Deputy Superintendent, of whose services not only the Inspector-General of Jails, but all who have visited the school, speak in the highest terms.

ORDER—Ordered that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the President of the Board of Management of the Reformatory School at Alipore for information and communication to the members of the Board.

Ordered also, that a copy of the Reports, and a copy of the Resolution, be forwarded to the Inspector-General of Jails for information and communication to the Superintendent of the Hazáribágh Reformatory School.

Ordered also that the Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

LIFE-BOAT AT GOALONDO.

No. 1284 Marine.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL—MARINE DEPARTMENT.

Dated Calcutta, the 30th May 1892.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

A letter from the Commissioner of the Dacca Division, No. 63T., dated the 20th April 1892, enclosing a copy of a letter from the Magistrate of Faridpur, stating that the Hon'ble Nawab Khwajah Ahsanullah, Bahadur, c.i.e., of Dacca, has promised to pay a sum of Rs. 900 or Rs. 1,000 for the purchase of a life-boat at Goalundo.

THE Hon'ble Nawab Khwajah Ahsanullah, Bahadur, c.i.e., of Dacca, has offered to contribute a sum of Rs. 900 or Rs. 1,000 for the purchase of a life-boat to be kept at Goalundo, and has requested that it may be called after his father, Nawab Sir Khwajah Abdul Gunny, Bahadur, K.C.S.I.

2. The Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to accept the Hon'ble Nawab Khwajah Ahsanullah Bahadur's liberal offer. The correspondence published below will show the necessity of keeping up a life-boat at Goalundo, and His Honour takes this opportunity to thank the Nawab for contributing towards such an useful object.

ORDER—Ordered, that the Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. W. ODLING,

Joint-Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 63T., dated Camp Faridpur, the 20th April 1892.

From—C. F. WORSLEY, Esq., Commissioner of the Dacca Division,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Marine Department.

I HAVE the honour to forward copy of a letter from the Magistrate of Faridpur, No. <sup>830</sup>XXIV-35, dated 19th instant, reporting the promise of a most liberal donation of Rs. 900 or Rs. 1,000 by the Honorable Nawab Khwajah Ahsanullah, Bahadur, c.i.e., for the purchase of a life-boat to be kept at Goalundo, and to recommend—

- (1) That the Nawab's generosity and public spirit may be acknowledged by the Government;
- (2) That a boat, as recommended by the Marine Surveyor in his letter cited by the Magistrate, may be purchased, and sent to Goalundo as soon as possible; and
- (3) That orders may be issued for the despatch of the old life-boat from Goalundo to Calcutta in view to its sale.

2. I trust that the Government will continue to make such contribution as it has heretofore made for the maintenance of the boat.

No. <sup>830</sup>XXIV-35, dated Faridpur, the 19th April 1892.

From—E. F. GROWSE, Esq., Offg. Magistrate of Faridpur,

To—The Commissioner of the Dacca Division.

I HAVE the honour to inform you, in reply to your No. 393J., dated the <sup>13th</sup>19th February 1892, that I consider it very advisable to keep up a life-boat at Goalundo, as the figures given in the margin show that she has done very useful work during the last 8 years.

Lives saved.

2. The Sub-divisional Officer of Goalundo has addressed certain zamindars asking for subscriptions towards a new boat, and I have also written letters to others with the same object, and I have much pleasure in reporting that the Hon'ble Nawab Khwajah Ahsanullah, Bahadur, c.i.e., of Dacca, has most generously promised to give a sum of Rs. 900 or Rs. 1,000 to buy a new boat, to be called after his father, Nawab Sir Khwajah Abdul Gunny, Bahadur, K.C.S.I.

3. I would therefore ask you to report the fact to the Government of Bengal, in the Marine Department, and ask that a boat, as recommended by the Marine Surveyor in his letter No. 133, of the 28th January last, to the address of the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, in the Marine Department, be purchased, and sent to Goalundo as soon as possible.

4. The Sub-divisional Officer informs me that hitherto the boat has been maintained as follows:—

A Serang is retained permanently at Rs. 15 a month, and from June till September a crew of Khalasis is entertained at a cost of Rs. 92 a month. The total cost has therefore been about Rs. 548 a year; of this sum the Railway pay Rs. 150, and local zamindars another Rs. 150, and the remainder is paid by Government. I understand that there will be no difficulty in getting this sum always, but I would ask that Government be urged to guarantee the entire maintenance of the boat, in case local subscriptions should fail. It is possible that some of the other gentlemen who have been addressed may send donations, and, if so, these might be used to form a nucleus for a maintenance fund, but I do not like to be too sanguine of getting favourable replies.

5. As for the old life-boat, the Sub-divisional Officer reports that nobody will buy it at Goalundo, and I beg to recommend that it be sent to Calcutta for sale there.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL, MARINE DEPARTMENT.

No. 43Mne., dated Calcutta, the 30th May 1892.

THE following report of the 19th quarterly inspection of the Dock Works at Kidderpore which are being carried out by the Commissioners of the Port of Calcutta, is published for general information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. W. ODLING,

Joint-Secretary.

QUARTERLY INSPECTION OF KIDDERPORE DOCK WORKS.

Dated Calcutta, the 19th May 1892.

From—LIEUT.-COL. A. D. McARTHUR, R.E., and J. D. DAVIES, Esq.,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

AGREEABLY to the orders of the Government of Bengal received with Under-Secretary's letter No. 1161 Marine of the 11th instant, we have the honour to report that our inspection of the Kidderpore Dock Works for the quarter ending 31st March 1892 was made on the 17th instant.

It is unnecessary again to allude to the main works in detail, our report for the quarter ending 31st December last showing that all are in a complete state

Works generally.—Additional water was pumped into the dock, full level being maintained. The dredging of the berms was proceeded with and has been nearly completed, so as to afford a minimum depth of 24 feet along the walls for the greater portion of their length. Further deepening will be carried out.

Four sheds on the west side of the dock were completed in every respect, and those to the east are rapidly approaching completion.

Great progress had been made in the minor details of work, such as compound walls, gates, railway sidings, and the clearing and finishing up of a large area within the walls.

The opportunity was afforded us of seeing the four sheds to the west lighted up with electric light. The lights were all in position and the effect very good.

Expenditure.—The total expenditure up to the quarter under review is reported to be Rs. 2,54,86,621-5-3, of which Rs. 2,29,02,442-2-9 represent outlay on works and Rs. 25,82,179-2-6 on account of land.

During the quarter under review the health of the workpeople was good. The daily average number of workmen employed was 4,267, among whom there were 4·6 per cent. deaths, thus showing a death-rate of 12·28.

Remarks.—The dock is now ready in every way for the reception of several vessels, but no berths have up to the present been utilized. The graving dock has, however, been in use.

We consider that the progress on the works in hand during the last quarter was satisfactory, and that, so far as we could judge, the quality of the work was all that could be desired.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

o, overcast; g, gloomy; d, drizzling rain; p, passing temporary showers; t, thunder; <, lightning; lr, lightning reflection; &, dew.

JAPAN—NIPON—SOUTH COAST.

THE following Notice to Mariners (No. 164 of 1892) issued by the British Admiralty is republished :—

- (1) A recent small scale plan of Goza harbour having been received from the Japanese Government, which shows several dangers, not charted on Admiralty plan, No. 994, Mariners are cautioned not to use Goza harbour without a pilot, until a new large scale plan is published.

The following caution has been placed on Admiralty plan No. 994:—"Many uncharted dangers in Goza harbour."

- (2) A rock with 15 feet water on it has been discovered outside Outer reef, southward of Goza harbour, from which Kami Sima bears E.N.E., distant 3 cables, and several other dangers have been found between Outer reef and the shore.

Vessels are consequently warned that they should give these outer dangers even a wider berth than usual.

Approximate position of Kami Sima, lat.  $34^{\circ} 11' 50''$  N., long.  $136^{\circ} 48' 30''$  E. •

JAPAN—YEZO ISLAND—NEMORO PENINSULA.

Sunken rock south-west of Isomoshiri jima.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 167 of 1892) that the Commander of the Japanese steam-vessel Tsukushi maru reports having touched, in October 1891, on a sunken rock lying off the south-east coast of Nemoro peninsula, with the south-west extreme of Isomoshiri jima bearing approximately N.E. by E.  $\frac{1}{2}$  E., distant  $1\frac{1}{2}$  miles.

The vessel was drawing 17 feet when she touched, and the lead gave  $4\frac{1}{2}$  fathoms on her starboard side, so that probably it is a pinnacle rock. During subsequent examination under unfavourable circumstances, 8 fathoms was the least depth obtained, but there is probably shoaler water in the vicinity.

Approximate position, lat.  $43^{\circ} 19'$  N., long.  $145^{\circ} 45'$  E.

KING SOUND ENTRANCE.

Shoals in and near the fairway Sunday strait.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 168 of 1892) concerning certain shoals lying in and near the fairway of Sunday strait, King sound entrance :—

1. A shoal, with 2 fathoms water on it, and 12 to 20 fathoms close northward, lies with the west extreme of East Roe island bearing south, distant about  $1\frac{1}{2}$  miles.

Approximate position, lat.  $16^{\circ} 20\frac{1}{2}'$  S., long.  $123^{\circ} 13'$  E.

2. A shoal of small extent, with dangerously shallow water reported on it, lies in the fairway of the strait, with Tree islet bearing about E.  $\frac{1}{4}$  S., distant  $2\frac{1}{2}$  miles.

Position (to be considered doubtful), lat.  $16^{\circ} 22\frac{1}{2}'$  S., long  $123^{\circ} 16\frac{1}{2}'$  E.

3. Amur reef, lying north-west of Long island, and which dries 15 feet at low water, extends nearly 3 miles in a N. by E. and S. by W. direction, with a breadth of about  $1\frac{1}{2}$  miles.

Approximate position of northern end, lat.  $16^{\circ} 29\frac{1}{2}'$  S., long.  $123^{\circ} 18'$  E.

NOTICE TO MARINERS—No. 93.

AUSTRALIA—SOUTH.

Special warning to Mariners—compasses—heeling error.

THE Secretary, Marine Board, Port Adelaide, has given notice that the attention of Mariners has been directed by the Board of Trade “to the necessity of exercising a constant watchfulness in regard to the error of their navigating compasses, more particularly to the heeling error, the neglect of which is doubtless a common, though often unsuspected, cause of the stranding of many vessels.

“Serious changes frequently take place in the character and amount of the heeling error as the ship changes her magnetic lat. from (1) the vertical force arising from the permanent magnetism of the ship, the error from which is greatest in high lats., diminishes until the Equator is reached, where it is least, and increases again in the opposite hemisphere, but still retaining the same name; (2) from verticle induction in vertical and transverse soft iron, generally (such as beams, &c.), the error from which is greatest in high lats., diminishes until the Equator is reached, where it becomes nil, and increases again (but of an opposite name) as the vessel recedes from the Equator in the opposite hemisphere. It is difficult, therefore, to predict with any great accuracy the change that will take place, observations at every possible opportunity being the only reliable safeguard.

“In the Nrn. hemisphere in ships built with their heads from about S.E., through N., to S.W. (the usual effect of the permanent magnetism of the ship then conspiring with that of her vertical and transverse soft iron), the N. pt. of the compass needle, assuming the compass to be on the upper deck and on the after portion of the ship as usual, will, as a general rule, be drawn to windward or to the high side of the ship; the nearer the ship's head was to N. whilst building the greater the error that may be expected, the effect being to throw the ship to windward of her supposed position when steering on Nly. courses, and to leeward on Sly. courses, the error decreasing as the Equator is approached, and small, perhaps of a contrary name, in the Srn. hemisphere.

“In ships built with their heads from about S.E., through S., to S.W. (the usual effect of the permanent magnetism, and that of the transverse, &c., iron, being then contrary to each other), the N. end of the compass needle may be drawn to leeward, depending upon whether the vertical force of the permanent magnetism or that of the induced magnetism of transverse iron predominates, but the error would then, as a general rule, be small in these lats. and large in the Srn. hemisphere.

"It has been est., as a rule, however, that in the Nrn. hemisphere (in compasses above the upper deck) in the majority of iron ships, the N. pt. of the compass needle is drawn to windward, the consequence being that if this is not allowed for, a ship will go to windward of her supposed position on Nly. courses and to leeward on Sly. courses.

"The heeling error is always greatest with the ship's head at or near N. or S. by the disturbed compass, and least, or nil, with the ship's head E. or W. It is particularly important, therefore, should the vessel heel over either from the effect of the wind, or the cargo, when steering in a Nly. or Sly. direction, that the Mariner should use every precaution and never lose an opportunity of ascertaining the errors of his compass.

"The heeling error may be small or large, depending greatly upon the position of the compass—it has been known to exceed  $2^{\circ}$  for every degree heel of the ship—and is directly proportional to the amount of heel, consequently if the error at N. or S. for  $1^{\circ}$  of heel is known, the error for any other direction of the ship's head, and amount of heel, can be found by the usual methods.

"Mariners are further warned that the adjustment of compasses by magnets, soft iron, &c., is for bringing the error within manageable limits and for equalising the directive force of the needle, and must only be considered approx. for the lat. in which the adjustment was made, and that they should lose no opportunity of verifying the error both in port and at sea, as it is constantly changing from numerous causes, the chief amongst which are heeling, change of lat., change of cargo, collision, after repairs, and from the ship remaining with her head in one direction for a length of time, &c."

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 157 of 1892) that a recent examination of the western edge of the Seychelles bank conducted by Lieutenant and Commander Smyth, H.M. surveying vessel Stork, shows that a nearly continuous rim, of more or less shallow water, extends from Bird island to beyond the western point of the bank.

As it is evident that dangerously shoal spots may exist in many parts of this rim, besides those already known, ships should avoid crossing it north of the fifth parallel of south latitude. Southward of this parallel there is, according to the scanty information existing apparently a break in the rim.

2. In the Government Secretariat, and in all offices to which the rules of 16th March 1889 regulating recruitment for clerical appointments apply, apprentices should be appointed on separate lists for the Upper and Lower Divisions.

3. Persons who have successfully passed the examination proscribed by the rules for the regulation of appointments in the Secretariat Clerical Service, will have the first claim to a vacancy on the list of apprentices.

4. If any vacancies remain after the claims of successful examinees have been satisfied, other candidates may be appointed, subject to the following conditions:—

RESOLUTION ON THE FINAL REPORT OF THE SURVEY AND SETTLEMENT OF THE DUBALHATI ESTATE IN THE DISTRICT OF RAJSHAHI.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—LAND REVENUE.

READ—

A letter No. 350A., dated the 13th April 1892, from the Board of Revenue, with enclosures, submitting the final report of the survey and settlement of the Dubalhati Estate in the district of Rajshahi.

1. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to record the pleasure with which he has perused this report. It contains much interesting information in a convenient form, and the intelligence displayed in dealing with the general economic condition of the raiyat reflects great credit on the Settlement Officer, Munshi Nundjee. No settlement report which the Lieutenant-Governor has previously seen so nearly fulfils his ideal of what such a report should be.

2. The necessity for undertaking these operations arose from protracted disputes between the late Raja of Dubalhati and his tenants, which were likely to culminate in serious disturbances. They were in conflict on almost every question affecting the relation of landlord and tenant, and their respective rights in the land. They could not agree as to the rates of rent, or the standard of measurement, or the extent of occupancy rights. The raiyats were aggrieved by the levy of illegal cesses, and by the interference of the Raja with their marriage and social arrangements: the zamindari accounts were in a condition of chaos, and, in the uncertainty which existed as to legal rights, both sides were prepared to appeal to force. Fortunately, wiser counsels prevailed, and it was determined to resort to the provisions of the Tenancy Act. The preparation of an accurate record was, however, under these conditions, a work of extreme difficulty. In many cases a raiyat was entered as paying rent for land which he did not hold, while he was holding land for which he paid no rent. There was no record in the Raja's office of mutations of holdings or sub-divisions of tenures, and, as a consequence, in many villages, the names of raiyats and the amount of their rents did not correspond with the entries in the khatians. The rents shown in some of the road cess returns of 1872 of which copies were in existence were much less than those shown in the returns of 1880. The raiyats relied upon the former, and the zamindar upon the latter. As a consequence, it was necessary to ascertain not only the existing rents, but by whom they were to be paid; and even after the rates had been determined by compromise, it was still a difficult task to prepare the jamabandi.

3. The property in question consisted of 8 estates borne on the tauzi, comprising 211 villages. The area surveyed and settled was 37,758 acres contained in 195 villages, in addition to which an area of 2,493 acres was cadastrally surveyed at the request of the Raja's agents, but was found not to belong to him; a further area of 1,543 acres was demarcated, but subsequently excluded from survey on the joint application of the Raja and his tenants as they had made up their differences. The survey by plane table was commenced in March 1888, and ended in March 1890. The settlement proceedings lasted from November 1889 to August 1891. The new rent-rolls were finally published in 1890-91, and took effect from April 1892.

4. The total cost of the survey and settlement has been Rs. 37,449-3-4, inclusive of Rs. 703-1-4 on account of the net cost to the estate of survey instruments; of this total, Rs. 5,025-10 have been realized on account of process fees, court-fees and copying fees, leaving Rs. 32,423-9-4 to be apportioned between the parties interested. The incidence of this sum on the total area dealt with, 41,794 acres, would be 12 annas 2 pie per acre, but on the 37,758 acres surveyed and settled it falls at the high rate of 13 annas 8 pie per acre. The settlement officer in paragraphs 172-178 of his report states that the cost of survey alone was less than 4 annas per acre, and explains the large balance of the charge as due to the extreme confusion into which rights and accounts had fallen, and the large number of disputes which had to be settled. He claims, and in the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion rightly claims, credit for having disposed of these disputes in a manner highly advantageous to the parties concerned. He decided 4,448 disputes in 3 years, besides conducting all the survey and settlement operations. Had these disputes been separately filed in a Munsif's Court, they would have taken longer, and have cost the litigants a larger sum.

5. The difficulties in the way had not been unforeseen, and both Mr. Phillips and Mr. Macpherson, successive District Officers, had estimated the cost at not less than 12 annas an acre. Indeed, protracted litigation might have indefinitely postponed the conclusion of the settlement and increased the cost to a corresponding degree, if a compromise had not been effected between the Raja and his raiyats, which afforded a guide and working basis for the Settlement Officer. Lengthened negotiations were required to bring about this amicable arrangement, to which the Lieutenant-Governor considers that much of the ultimate success achieved is due. His Honour desires to convey to Mr. Finncano and to Munshi Nundjoo acting under his orders, as also to Mr. Phillips, his acknowledgment of their meritorious and successful efforts in this matter.

6. The Lieutenant-Governor is not quite clear as to the correctness of the calculations by which, as above stated, the sum of Rs. 5,025-10 is deducted from the gross cost of the settlement. If the wages of process-serving peons are included in the cost of establishment, the process fees are rightly deducted, and, generally speaking, whatever is collected in cash should be credited against the cash expenditure, but not what is collected in court fee or other stamps. If any considerable part of the Rs. 5,025-10 consisted of such stamp receipts, the calculation should be revised. The details of the total expenditure, Rs. 37,449-3-4, are not given, and it will be convenient if the Board prescribe that in future every settlement report shall contain an appendix giving these details.

7. The Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Board and the Director that the Raj must pay the entire cost of the survey of lands held by the Raja as his own holding, and of the fallow lands recorded in his name, which are not in the occupation of any tenants. The objections which the Raja put forward in his petition are opposed to reason and quite untenable. With regard to service tenure-holders, the Director thinks that it would be unfair to charge any part of the cost to them as they are liable to be dismissed at any moment, and ejected from their land; but Sir Charles Elliott agrees with the Board that the contingency is not one on which much stress should be laid, and they must pay their share. The remaining cost will therefore be distributed as shown in paragraph 9 of the Director's report, subject to any revision of the divisible cost.

Of the Rs. 18,921-12-8 due from the Raja, a sum of Rs. 6,000 only has been paid by him, and the balance of Rs. 12,921-12-8 is still due.

Out of Rs. 13,501-12-8 falling to the raiyats' and tenure-holders' share, Rs. 10,838-8 are due from the raiyats, and of this sum Rs. 9,979-12-6 have been realised from them; the balance of Rs. 3,522-0-2 remains to be realised from them and from the holders of service lands.

8. The result of the settlement has been an increase of rent from Rs. 68,127-14 to Rs. 86,295-1-2½ or 26·8 per cent. Thus a single year's increase in the rental, Rs. 18,167, has almost recouped to the estate the whole cost it has incurred in the settlement operations. This increase is entirely due to more accurate measurement, there having been no increase in the rates. The average rent per acre is now Rs. 3-6-8, which is lower than the average rate found to exist in Muzaffarpur, Rs. 3-12. The Raj and the raiyats have therefore every reason to be satisfied; and, with reference to paragraph 188 of the Settlement Officer's report, the Collector is requested to watch carefully the progress of affairs, and to take such measures as may occur to him to prevent any wrong-doing on the part of the Raj which may lead to new difficulties.

9. Much useful and interesting information is contained in the Settlement Officer's report, regarding the economic conditions under which the agriculturists exist, the cost of living, the cost of cultivation, the average outturn of crops, the fixation of rent, and so forth. It was found that 93·405 per cent. of the tenants are settled raiyats with occupancy rights, 6·49 per cent. non-occupancy raiyats, and 105 per cent. tenure-holders. The Settlement Officer observed a few cases of the transfer of occupancy rights, but the Raja made strong objections to the record of such transfer, on the ground that the custom of transferring the right of occupancy by sale did not prevail in his zamindari. It was true that some of the refractory tenants had recently sold their holdings without his knowledge in order to establish a custom in their favour, but he contended that such transfers were null and void, and the majority of the tenants admitted that he was not bound to recognize them unless made with his consent and registered in his office. The custom was therefore held not to exist.

The number and average area of holdings were found to be as follows:—

	Number.
Tenure-holders ...	9	56 acres.
Settled raiyats ...	7,936	3 "
Non-occupancy raiyats ..	552	a little over 1 acre.
Under tenants ...	2,496	a little under 1 "

It is stated that raiyats sublet their holdings to a large extent on a system called adi under which the produce is divided equally between the raiyat and under-raiyat. It is difficult to conceive how this practice can exist when the area of holdings is so small as 3 acres.

10. The Lieutenant-Governor desires that in future every settlement report may be accompanied by an illustrative map on the scale of 1 inch to a mile, showing the situation and boundaries of the villages and the leading topographical features.

11. The interesting remarks contained in the report on the subject of the cultivation of ganja will be considered in the Financial Department of this Government.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and a copy forwarded to the Board of Revenue for information and guidance.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. E. BUCKLAND,

ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE BENGAL METEOROLOGICAL DEPARTMENT FOR THE YEAR 1891-92.

The following report is published for general information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. E. BUCKLAND,

The 7th June 1892.

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

THE Administration Report for the year 1891-92 is intended to give a brief statement of the more important events only of the year, for the full report giving details of the administration of the Department for the triennial period 1890-93 will be issued at the beginning of the following year 1892-93.

The Department has been under my control for the whole year, as I have been on duty throughout this period.

The changes in the administration of the Department during the year have been of minor character, and there have been few years recently where the alterations introduced have been so small; but though there have been no changes in the principles on which the Department has been worked, a number of small improvements have been introduced to make the previous arrangements work more smoothly.

The number of meteorological observatories submitting reports to the Bengal Meteorological Department on the 31st of March 1892 was 70, instead of 69 observatories reporting in 1890-91. The only addition made during the year is the voluntary observatory at Kalimpong; but even in this case the observatory was erected and the instruments were arranged at the close of 1890-91, though observations were not recorded until the 1st of April 1891.

These observatories are arranged under the following heads:—first class observatory 1, second class observatories 15, third class observatories 38, voluntary observatories 8, and observatories not directly under the Bengal Reporter, but submitting daily observations in connection with the storm signal service, 8.

The following table will show the names and distribution of the observatories in question:—

† This observatory is not under the control of this Department. It is under the direction of Mr. A. V. Nursing Row at Vizagapatam.

In the year 1890-91 the number of rainfall recording stations reporting to the Bengal Meteorological Office was two hundred and fifty-seven. During the year under review ten rainfall stations have been added, and the number now stands at two hundred and sixty-seven. The stations which have been added during the year are Acquapada in the Balasore district, Moheureka in the Howrah district, Khiri, Ageaon, Ramnagar, Koath, Sekroul, Bassawan, and Manaharpur in the Shahabad district, and Pandra in the Manbhum district. In the case of the Shahabad district the stations named were formerly established in connection with the Irrigation Department, and through the courtesy of the Superintending Engineer of the Sone Circle, they now report to the Meteorological Office as well.

The number of rainfall recording stations in each of the districts of the Province is shown in the following statement. In the majority of districts the number of stations appears quite sufficient to give an accurate estimate of the rain falling over the area, and, so far as can be ascertained also, the stations are probably fairly representative of the country dealt with. The system of rainfall registration, however, would probably be improved if a few more recording stations could be established in such districts as Puri, Midnapore, Chittagong, Rangpur, Saran, Sonthal Parganas, Lohardaga, and Singhbhum:—

Twenty visits of inspection to various meteorological observatories (excluding rain-gauge stations) under the Bengal Meteorological Office have been made during the year by different officers of the Department, and in addition three informal inspections were made by the former Inspector of Observatories under this Department, who has lately been employed in Census work. Of this number four inspections were made by the Meteorological Reporter to the Government of India, nine inspections by the Bengal Reporter, one by the Madras Reporter, and the remainder (6) by the Inspector of Observatories or the Personal Assistant to the Meteorological Reporter to the Government of India.

The number of observatories inspected in 1891-92 has again been rather smaller than the average of former years; but, as pointed out in the report for the previous year, this is inevitable with the present arrangements. The Bengal Reporter, who is mainly responsible for the inspection of the Bengal stations, is also now responsible for warning the ports round the whole Bay of Bengal of the occurrence of storms throughout the whole year, and hence he can only leave Calcutta during brief intervals when severe storms are not expected. In the second place, also, I am personally only a half-time officer as Bengal Reporter and can practically only leave Calcutta during the vacations of the Presidency College, which is an additional curtailment of the possibilities of my leaving Calcutta on meteorological inspection tours.

The following were the observatories under the Bengal Reporter inspected during the year :—

Bankipore.	Darjeeling.
Bankura.	Dehri.
Berhampore.	Gaya.
Bhāgalpur (twice).	Kalimpong.
Buxar.	Malda.
Chaibassa.	Muzaffarpur.
Chapra (twice).	Ranchi.
Cuddalore.	Raniganj (twice).
Cuttack.

The general result of these inspections was that the observatories at Bankipore, Berhampore, Bhāgalpur, and Kalimpong were found to be in excellent order; those at Arrah, Bankura, Buxar, Chapra, Darjeeling, Darbhanga, Gaya, and Raniganj (on the second inspection) were found to be in good order; those at Cuttack, Cuddalore, Dehri, and Malda were found to be in fair order only and not in very satisfactory condition, while Chaibassa, Ranchi, and Raniganj (on the first inspection) were in bad order.

The standard of work at the observatories generally throughout the year has been good, though there have naturally been exceptions, but, so far as can be judged, the quality of the work in 1891-92 has been quite equal to, if not superior to, that of former years.

First class observatory.—The only observatory of this class is at Calcutta (Alipore). It is not under the Bengal Meteorological Department at all, but is under the control of the India Reporter, and is in charge of the Second Assistant to the Meteorological Reporter to the Government of India, who is stationed at Calcutta throughout the year. The observations made at the Alipore observatory are, however, supplied daily to the Bengal Reporter; but as the observatory is not under the control of this Department, its working cannot be reviewed.

Second class observatories.—Five out of the fifteen observatories of this class were inspected during the year. At the time of the inspection of Bankipore the observatory was in excellent condition, and throughout the whole year 1891-92 the observer there has done very accurate work, and he has scarcely made a single mistake of any description. At Berhampore, also, at the time of inspection the observatory was in excellent order, showing the great care the observer always takes in his work, and his observations have also been quite accurate throughout the year. In the previous Administration Report reference was made to the fact that the Darbhanga observatory had been in an extremely unsatisfactory condition, and that the very strong measure of stopping the observer's pay for eight months had been resorted to. It is satisfactory that this has had the desired effect, and when the observatory was inspected in August 1891 and in March 1892, it was found in good condition. The observations submitted from Darbhanga during the year were also moderately satisfactory, though by no means of so high an order of accuracy as those from Berhampore and Bankipore. The Darjeeling observatory was also found in good order at the time of inspection, and the returns of observations on the whole have been accurate. When the Cuttack observatory was visited its condition was only fair, and some of the instruments were a little out of order. On the other hand, the observations submitted by the observer at Cuttack have on the whole been very accurate.

The remaining ten second class observatories not having been visited during the year, the only test of the nature of their working which can be applied is by a careful study of the observations that have been sent in to this office. Judged by this standard, Akyab, Burdwan, Dhubri, Hazáribágh, Saugor Island, Sibsagar, Silchar, and perhaps False Point, have sent in excellent results throughout the year, and have probably been kept in very good order by their respective observers. Chittagong and Dacca during the year have sent in observations which were not quite so trustworthy, and a certain or perhaps considerable number of mistakes have been found in the registers received from these stations. On the other hand, in the Administration Report for the previous year it was stated that the observer at Chittagong had earned the reputation of making more mistakes than any other observer in Bengal. This, however, is by no means the fact in the present year, and hence the observer at Chittagong has clearly improved to a very considerable extent in the character of his work.

The thermometers on one occasion during the year were stolen from the thermometer shed at Hazáribágh, but the culprit was caught and sentenced to imprisonment.

Third class observatories (including the observatories at the coast ports of the Bay of Bengal directly under the Bengal Reporter).—Of these thirteen observatories were inspected during the year under review. The Arrah observatory at the time of inspection was found in fairly good order. The observer at that station was, however, a new man, and had never had any previous training in the work, hence his methods of observation were rather faulty, and some of the instruments were not in such good order as they ought to have been, but the observer was easily taught his work. Up to the time of inspection the errors of observation at Arrah were rather numerous, but since that time the observations received have been very accurate. Bankura observatory at the time of inspection was found in very good order, and the observations submitted from that station have also been very accurate. The main object of this inspection was to verify the apparently low readings of the barometer, which are submitted at certain times of the year from that station, and it was shown that the readings were accurately taken, and hence that from certain local peculiarities in this station, the barometer reads distinctly lower than at the stations in its neighbourhood even when differences in level, etc., are allowed for. The Bhágalpur observatory was inspected twice during the year, and on both occasions was found in good order; the observations also submitted from this station throughout the year have been excellent.

The Buxar observatory was inspected in October 1891 and was in fairly good order, though the anemometer was found to be quite useless. The accuracy of the observations submitted from the Buxar observatory (with the exception of wind velocities) was exceptionally good throughout the year. Chapra observatory was inspected twice during the year, and on both occasions was found in excellent order. The observations sent in to the Meteorological Office, however, have shown a little carelessness on the part of the observer, though the number of serious mistakes made was not so large as those of less importance. The Chaibassa observatory was inspected in August 1891, and was found in bad order, as several of the instruments were in a very dirty condition and could not possibly have given accurate results. The observations were also more or less inaccurate until November, and the observer had to be warned on several occasions and also fined; but these have had the desired effect, and since November fairly accurate observations have been received.

The Cuddalore observatory, which is one of the coast observatories established in connection with the Bay of Bengal storm signal service, was inspected by the Madras Reporter nearly at the close of the year 1890-91, but the inspection report was not received in time to be noticed in the last Administration Report. This observatory was also again inspected by the Madras Reporter in March 1892. In both cases the observatory was found to be in fair order, but owing to the local conditions of exposure of the instruments at Cuddalore the observations are only of moderate value. The observations, however, in themselves are generally very carefully taken by the observer, and they have been of considerable accuracy throughout the year.

The observatory at Dehri was inspected in October 1891, but the condition of the instruments, &c., was not satisfactory, and from failure to attend to the instructions given a large number of erroneous observations were submitted during the year; in fact the number of errors made at the Dehri observatory was far larger than those made at any other observatory in the Province. At the time of inspection the condition of the observatory had been rather improved owing to the appointment of a new observer, but notwithstanding this the observatory was still in rather unsatisfactory condition. During the last few months, however, the returns received from Dehri have been much more trustworthy than they were during the year 1891. Gaya was inspected once during the year, and the observatory was in satisfactory condition. The observer at Gaya, however, has sent in observations of only moderate character, and he has as usual made a good many mistakes. In former years he has, however, sometimes been quite the least trustworthy observer in the Department, but his record for the present year has very decidedly improved, and the number of mistakes made has, compared with previous years, been rather small. He had, however, to be warned very severely on several occasions during the year. Malda when inspected in August 1891 was in fairly satisfactory condition; the observations sent in during the year were good, and the mistakes made were not numerous. Muzaffarpur was also inspected once in the year, when the observatory was found in good condition. The observer seems still rather careless in his work, and he has made a considerable number of mistakes in the observations submitted to the Department during the year under review. In the Administration Report for the previous year it was noted that the Nellore observatory had been inspected by the Madras Reporter, but that the report of the visit had not been received in time to notice it. That inspection showed that the Nellore observatory was in excellent order, and for the whole of the present official year, up to February, the observations sent in were extremely accurate. Since the early part of February, however, the barometric readings have become quite untrustworthy, and the cause of this has not yet been satisfactorily ascertained. Ranchi at the time of inspection was in rather bad order; the observations sent in, however, have been fairly accurate throughout the year. The Raniganj observatory was inspected twice during the year—once in October 1891 and a second time in March 1892. For a part of the year the Raniganj observatory was in charge of the medical subordinate who had previously been at Dehri, where he had given great trouble from the inaccuracy, etc., of his work. During the period of his incumbency the Raniganj observatory was practically useless, as the observations were almost always wrong, and when the observatory was inspected during his charge, it was found, as was to be expected, in decidedly bad order, and it was also found that the observer was physically unfit to render good service in any Government department. The observer was then replaced by a new man, and on the second inspection the observatory was found in good order. For a large part of the year, therefore, the observations from Raniganj were quite untrustworthy, and the former observer was warned and fined on several occasions, but with no effect. This station and Dehri, indeed, were by far the worst meteorological stations in Bengal, but since December 1891 the number of mistakes found in the observations from these two observatories has been comparatively small.

The condition of the remaining third class observatories, which could not be inspected during the year, can only be judged by the quality of the observations sent in to the office. The observations thus submitted during the year have been of a very high order of accuracy at Bogra, Coconada, Jessore, Krishnagar, Madras (Port Office), Midnapore, Motihari, Mymensingh, Naya Dumka, Pamban, and Rampur Boalia. The observations have been good at Balasore, Gopalpur, Puri, Rangpur, Sirajganj, and Tavoy, and only moderately good at Dinajpur, Faridpur, and Jalpaiguri. On the other hand, the observations at Barisal, Comilla, Noakhali, and Purnea have been inaccurate and misleading, and the observers at these stations have had to be warned and fined.

In connection with the third class stations it deserves to be noticed that the thermometer shed at Gopalpur, which was commenced last year, has been completed, and that a new thermometer shed has been erected at Coconada, where hitherto there had been no shed at all.

Voluntary observatories.—Meteorological returns are also received from eight voluntary observatories. One of the most important under this class is Vizagapatam, where the observatory is under the direction of Mr. A. V. Nursing Row, who has continued to favour the Department with his daily observations, which are most accurately taken and despatched. On every occasion, also, on which extra observations have been asked for in connection with stormy weather in the Bay, Mr. Nursing Row has sent them most promptly, and hence the thanks of the Department are again due to Mr. Nursing Row for his valuable help and co-operation. The Kalimpong observatory which was at first under the superintendence of the Reverend Mr. Sutherland, and afterwards under the Reverend Mr. Kilgour, was inspected in April 1891, and was found to have been erected in a very favourable site, and it was in good working order. The observatory has also sent in regular returns for the whole year, which appear to be accurate, and very valuable results may be expected from this observatory, which is the only one of about 4,000 feet elevation under the Bengal Meteorological Department. The thanks of the Department are therefore due to the gentlemen in question for their valuable co-operation in the work of meteorology. The observations made at Shortt's Island by Mr. Tasker have again been received regularly throughout the year, and they have been very accurate and very valuable. In particular, Mr. Tasker sent in a very complete and important series of observations taken before and during the severe cyclone of the beginning of November 1891, which will be very useful in working out the history of this storm, and thus Mr. Tasker has again placed the Meteorological Department under considerable obligations. The voluntary observatories at Tura, Demagiri, Gnatong, Lungleh, and Fort Tregear are carried out on rather a smaller scale, and they are under the superintendence of the medical officers in charge of these stations, who have sent in valuable sets of thermometric and other observations (except in the case of Fort Tregear) almost throughout the year, and the thanks of the Department are therefore due to these gentlemen. In the case of the Gnatong observatory it was at one time intended to equip it completely, but owing to doubt as to the length of time the station is likely to be maintained, only a couple of barometers were sent there during the past year in addition to the thermometers which had been previously supplied. Should, however, the station be permanently occupied, Gnatong, when fully equipped, would be one of the most valuable meteorological stations in the whole of the Indian area. The observations from Fort Tregear, which had ceased from February 1891, were recommenced from 21st October 1891, but they again ceased from November 1891.

The work at the observatories, the time of observation, and the nature of the instruments observed has been practically the same in the past year as in the previous year, and there have been no changes in this direction in the routine of the Department.

The system of awarding small sums of money as an additional remuneration to those observers who take and submit special meteorological reports during unsettled and stormy weather, has been continued during the present year by the India Meteorological Office, and many of the Bengal observers have competed for these rewards. The Bengal observers who have submitted the most valuable reports of this kind, and who have received the largest rewards, are those at Shortt's Island, Saugor Island, Puri, Burdwan, Balasore, Dhubri, and False Point.

The rain-gauge stations have on the whole worked satisfactorily during the year, and there have been few cases of complaint, and on the whole comparatively few mistakes have been discovered in the returns which have been submitted. It must be remembered that the rain recording officers receive no salary for this trifling work, and when it is considered that such various classes of officials, etc., as Civil Surgeons, clerks and other medical subordinates, schoolmasters, sub-postmasters, subordinate police and canal officers, rural registrars, etc., etc., are employed in this work, it will not be wondered at that in a few cases difficulties are met with. Thus, during the year the police officers at Gondwara, Matuari, Balarampore, Jhalda, Pupri, etc., who were in charge of the rain-gauges at these stations, having failed to give satisfactory and reliable returns, the rain-gauges have had to be made over to other officials, or even in some cases to private indigo factories, etc.

An important step was taken during the year in the matter of securing more accurate rainfall statistics by the introduction of a system of rain-gauge inspection. Rules for the guidance of local officers inspecting rain-gauges were prepared by the India Meteorological Office, and also post card inspection forms containing a few brief appropriate questions with spaces for the replies. The Government of Bengal in their circular letter No. 3T.R., of the 23rd June 1891, directed all District Officers to see that the rain-gauge stations in their districts were inspected. The inspections were to be carried out whenever any station at which a rain-gauge was maintained was visited either by the Collector himself or by the Deputy Magistrate or the Civil Surgeon. Spirit levels to test the level of the mouth of the rain-gauges and measuring gauges to test the accuracy of the diameter of the mouth of the funnel were also provided to all inspecting officers who submitted indents for them. No less than 102 inspection reports of rain-gauges were received during the year, a number of which were submitted from the towns visited during the tours of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor.

These reports brought to light a considerable number of cases of improper exposure of the rain-gauges, of defects in the instruments and in some cases in the mode of reading, and in one case of an entirely incorrect form of rain-gauge being used, and all such imperfections in the mode of registration brought to light in these reports have, as far as possible, been remedied. In a considerable number of cases also spare measuring glasses have been provided at the stations, so as to provide for accidental breakage.

At a considerable number of stations for some years past duplicate rain registration has been carried on, one rain-gauge belonging to the Revenue Department and the other rain-gauge being in connection with the local meteorological observatories. In those cases where the conditions of exposure of the two instruments appeared similar, and where the falls recorded were approximately equal, the revenue rain-gauges have been withdrawn during the year, and such has been the case at Gaya, Berhampore, Hazáribágh, Darbhanga, Bogra, Mymensingh, Sirajganj, Buxar, Patna, Burdwan, Raniganj, Bankura, Krishnagar, Jessore, Malda, Darjeeling, Rangpur, Purnea, Bhágalpur, Dumka, Motihari, and Dehri. The same form of duplicate registration is, however, still being carried on at a certain number of sadar stations, and will not be stopped until it has been ascertained that the falls are strictly comparable as measured in the two gauges.

The short Annual Report of the Meteorology of Bengal in the year 1890 was prepared as usual and submitted on 9th June 1891 for incorporation in the Bengal Administration Report. It was illustrated by the usual number of charts.

The Report on the Meteorology of Bengal for the monsoon season of 1891 was prepared and submitted to Government on 23rd December 1891. It was also illustrated by maps. The report was published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 6th January 1892.

A short note on the rainfall in 1891 in certain districts of North Bengal and Bihár as compared with the normal rainfall, and with the rainfall in 1873, 1875, and 1888, was also prepared.

The Monthly Meteorological Reports for Bengal and Assam have been regularly published about the 10th to the 15th of the month following that dealt with. These reports give the full meteorological and rainfall statistics for Bengal, and the meteorological data only for Assam, together with a brief discussion and summary. Monthly charts of the rainfall distribution, its variation from the normal, etc., for the monsoon season were prepared and submitted to Government and to the Sanitary Commissioner. These monthly reports, &c., have been carried on without material change throughout the year.

The Weekly Meteorological Reports for the week ending 8 a.m. on Saturdays have been published regularly throughout the year. These reports give similar data and summaries to those contained in the monthly reports, but they are not quite so complete as the monthly reports, for the date of publication of the weekly reports (which is only four days after the actual measurements of rainfall, etc., have been made) will scarcely allow of the postal reports from the distant parts of East Bengal, Orissa, etc., being received and included in these reports. There has also been no practical change in the form of these reports during the past year.

The Daily Weather Report dealing with the meteorology of the inland stations in Bengal and in Assam was published during the period 26th of April to 16th November 1891. This report contained the observations made at 45 stations, and with the exception of some slight alterations in the periods of comparison of rainfall data, the report as published was similar to that of the previous year. Of this report 102 copies were issued daily to Government officers and 16 copies to private subscribers at the rate of Rs. 2-8 a month.

The Bay of Bengal Weather Report and Chart, in connection with the storm signal service, has been published daily, Sundays and holidays included, throughout the year. This report, which gives the 8 a.m. data for the Bay and neighbouring coast area, is usually ready for distribution between 10-30 a.m. and 11 a.m. It is issued to 42 Government officials free of charge and to 26 subscribers at the rate of Rs. 2 per month, and the subscriptions received during the year have been sufficient to pay the cost of the lithographic establishment, repairs to presses, &c., and at the end of the year there was a small balance in hand which is kept to provide new presses, &c., when required. No change was made in the form of this report during the year.

In connection with the two daily reports just alluded to, a considerable amount of discussion has occurred during the past year. The Committee of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce applied to the Bengal Meteorological Department, asking to be provided, as early as was possible in each day, with meteorological information dealing with the districts yielding commercial produce, and particularly with the tea and indigo districts. Arising out of this request, after considerable discussion, at the suggestion of this office a plan was formulated by which it was proposed to amalgamate the two daily reports, and to publish daily one report and chart only, dealing with the whole of the Bay of Bengal as in the chart now published and with Bengal (inland), Assam, Cachar, and Sylhet, the latter districts to be more fully represented by meteorological stations than they are now. To provide for the working of the storm signal service, it was also proposed to issue very early in the day small slips briefly describing the state of the weather in the Bay. It was pointed out to the Chamber that the change would involve additional cost for the establishment of new observatories, etc., and that no proposal could be made for its adoption by Government unless it was shown that the form of the proposed report would meet with general approval by the commercial community, and that such a report would be adequately supported so as to partially reimburse the extra cost of production. Copies of the proposed amalgamated report were submitted to the Chamber of Commerce early in November 1891 for distribution amongst the merchants, etc., of Calcutta, but so far no expression of opinion on the scheme has been received.

In connection with the Bay of Bengal weather signal service urgent telegrams are issued daily from the Meteorological Office at about 10-15 a.m., giving a description of the weather conditions in the various parts of the Bay. These telegrams were sent throughout the year to the Port Officers of Cochin, Madras, Rangoon, and Negapatam, and also to the Vice-Chairman of the Port Commissioners at Rangoon, and to the Port Officer, Akyab, from the 1st of January to the 30th April. These messages are ordinarily sent by a code prepared for the purpose, which has been found to answer very satisfactorily, but on the occurrence of stormy weather in the Bay of Bengal, messages descriptive of the intensity, movement, &c., of the storms are sent in ordinary language instead of by the code messages.

During the year also a small code was arranged to enable the weather conditions in the Bay to be telegraphed daily by means of flag signals to outward-bound ships passing Saugor Island. For this purpose the Bay was divided into four sections, and the weather in each section is arranged to be indicated by one of the commercial code flags, so that by a single hoist of four flags at Saugor Island on each day a description of the weather in the whole Bay on the same day can be given. At the close of the official year the code was in the press, and this system of supplying information will be worked experimentally during the current year.

The system of forwarding meteorological information from the pilot brigs at the Sandheads to this office by flag hoists shown by the pilots of inward-bound vessels as they pass Saugor Island Lighthouse has been continued throughout the year, and the special code devised for this purpose continues to work successfully. In addition, too, during the year it has been arranged for the Commander of the pilot brig to send off daily postcard forms containing the same information as given in the telegrams. These are sent as opportunities occur, and they serve first as a check on the accuracy of the telegraphic messages, and second they make the record of meteorological information from the Sandheads a continuous one, for in the case of telegrams these are not sent unless they can reach Saugor Island within 24 hours of the time at which the observations were made.

The working of the storm signal service has been almost unaltered during the year. Narayanganj was added to the list of ports appointed to receive storm warnings during the previous year, but there was great delay in providing the station with the mast and apparatus for displaying the signals, and it was only on 19th November 1891 that these were handed over to the Station Master at Narayanganj by the Public Works Department. The cyclone of the early part of November passed only a moderate distance to the south of this station on the 6th of November, and there were thus no means of hoisting signals, and of warning the station at a time when serious danger was becoming unpleasantly close to it.

The year 1891 was one which will be memorable for the severity of the two cyclones which occurred during November, both of which did much damage to shipping, etc., and caused very considerable loss of life. The first of the November storms was almost unique. It has been traced back as far as the Gulf of Siam, where it existed at the latter end of October as a very severe cyclonic storm. It then crossed the Malay Peninsula and struck Port Blair in the Andaman Islands, moving in a north-westerly direction, in which it continued till it reached the South Orissa coast. It then changed its direction of movement, which became first Northerly, then North-Easterly, and finally East North-Easterly. It passed over the Sandheads early in the morning of the 6th November, doing a large amount of damage, and then crossed through South and South-East Bengal into Cachar and Assam. Its diameter was small, but, on the other hand, it was one of the most violent cyclones on record. The second November cyclone apparently originated to the west or south-west of the Andamans and moved in a North-Easterly direction towards Burma, the direction of movement becoming more Easterly as the storm approached the land. It crossed the coast on the night of November 23rd, probably midway between Akyab and Diamond Island, and rapidly broke up in the Arakan Hills.

The dates of the principal storms occurring during the year are given in the first of the two following tables, and the action taken in the matter of issuing storm warnings and hoisting storm signals is indicated in the second of these tables.

* No signal was hoisted at False Point, as there were no vessels or cargo boats in the anchorage at the time. Orders were issued to hoist the danger signals at 4-35 A.M. of 4th November 1891.

In August and September during the passage of the small storms marked four and seven in the above list, warnings that heavy rainfall might be expected were sent to the Engineers in charge of irrigation and other works in Orissa and the Midnapore districts.

The Meteorological Office staff has remained practically unchanged throughout the year. Under the able superintendence of the Head Clerk, Babu Fanindra Mohun Basu, the office has worked smoothly and very efficiently, and this has enabled the numerous reports, returns, maps, &c., published by this Department to be issued punctually and with great regularity throughout the year.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE HEALTH OFFICER OF THE PORT OF CALCUTTA FOR THE YEAR 1891.

No. 1313 Marine.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL—MARINE DEPARTMENT.

Dated Calcutta, the 3rd June 1892.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

A letter No. 2204, dated the 28th March 1892, from the Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal, submitting the Report of the Health Officer of the Port of Calcutta for the year 1891.

Establishment.—Dr. Macleod was the Health Officer of the Port of Calcutta from 1st January to 15th April. He was relieved by Dr. Forsyth, who was in charge for the remainder of the year, and has submitted the present report. The work was carried out in the steam-launch Relief, and in a steam-cutter which has taken the place of the bolio formerly used.

2. Inspections.—The following table shows the number and description of the vessels inspected by the Health Officer of the Port during the past five years :—

YEAR.	INWARD-BOUND VESSELS INSPECTED.		OUTWARD-BOUND VESSELS INSPECTED.		Total number of inspections.
	Foreign- going.	Coasting.	Foreign- going.	Coasting.
1887 ...	630	100	699	172	1,601
1888 ...	568	88	629	179	1,464
1889 ...	559	112	598	174	1,443
1890 ...	530	117	576	171	1,394
1891 ...	629	185	627	60	1,501

The total number of inspections shows an increase over that of the previous year; the increase is stated to be due to a greater number of foreign arrivals and more frequent inspection of inward-bound coasters.

3. Ventilation of crew spaces.—There has been an improvement in the ventilation of the fore-castle of ships, but the Health Officer states that there is still much room for improvement in fore-castle comfort, especially as regards cargo steamers. In these, the fore-castle is said to be merely an iron box with three or four small ports in the two sides and probably two ventilating tubes in the roof. In the hot-weather it is scarcely possible to go into them when these vessels are in port. An awning is usually stretched over the deck, but in some instances even this is not supplied, and it is not sufficient to prevent the iron deck being heated to a temperature almost unbearable. The Health Officer suggests that the fore-castle deck or roof of all iron-built vessels trading with the East should be sheathed with wood both above and below. He will be asked to submit a report giving the names of these vessels and of their owners, and on receipt thereof the matter will receive the consideration of the Government.

4. Bathing accommodation for native crews.—The absence of properly protected bathing accommodation for native crews in vessels trading with European ports, referred to in last year's report, is becoming less evident as owners, when their attention is directed to the matter, fit up bathing-rooms for the use of the native portion of the crew.

5. Sickness and mortality among European seamen.—The number of European seamen who arrived in port during the year was 21,505 against 19,496 in the previous year: the daily average number in port was 1,426 against 1,679 in 1890. Including deaths out of hospitals, the death-rates per mille of the past five years were as follows:—

			Cholera.	Other Causes.	Total.
1887	...	...	10.03	16.91	26.94
1888	...	...	10.59	27.15	37.74
1889	...	...	11.07	20.29	31.36
1890	...	...	8.33	15.49	23.82
1891	...	...	7.01	22.44	29.45

6. The number of admissions into hospitals and deaths from different diseases during the five years ending with 1891 are shown in the subjoined table:—

			1887.		1888.		1889.		1890.		1891.
			Admissions.	Deaths.	Admissions.	Deaths.	Admissions.	Deaths.	Admissions.	Deaths.	Admissions.	Deaths.

The total number of natural deaths was 42 against 40 in the previous year. Of the 42 deaths, 34 occurred in hospital and 8 out of hospital.

The number of cholera cases was less than in the year previous. There were altogether 13 cases, of which 10 proved fatal. The death-rate (7.01) per mille calculated on the daily average population was lower than that of the previous year, and was also lower than the quinquennial mean (10.0).

No case of small-pox was admitted during the year. There were 5 cases of scurvy against 3 in the year 1890, none of which were attended with fatal results.

There were 6 cases of sunstroke, of which 3 proved fatal. The 3 cases that were admitted into hospital terminated favourably.

The number of cases of drowning was 9 against 14 in the year previous.

7. The following figures exhibit the admissions into hospital since the year 1883 of European seamen suffering from venereal diseases:—

			Total admissions.	Rate per thousand.
1883	...	...	237	127.4
1884	...	...	184	109.2
1885	...	...	170	100.4
1886	...	...	417	179.2
1887	...	...	228	120.4
1888	...	...	183	121.1
1889	...	...	186	114.3
1890	...	...	248	147.7
1891	...	...	185	129.7

The number of admissions was lower than that in the previous year. The Health Officer, however, reports that ships' officers inform him that since the repeal of the Contagious Diseases Act, there has been a great increase in the number of men who have to be put off duty suffering from venereal affections after a vessel has left port.

8. There were 28 deaths at sea during the year under review against 3 in 1890.

9. Sickness and mortality among the native floating population.—The following figures show the mortality from all causes among the native floating population, the averages being calculated on a population of 25,000 :—

		Total deaths.		Ratio per mille.
		1891.	1890.	1891.	1890.
Cholera	...	97	55	3·88	2·14
Bowel complaints	...	7	3	·28	·11
Fever, malarious	...	11	8	·44	·31
Do., simple	...	22	20	·88	·78
Other causes	...	33	31	1·32	1·20
Total	...	170	117	6·80	4·54

Of the 170 deaths that were reported during the year under review, 35 occurred in hospital; out of the 97 deaths from cholera, 17 occurred in hospital.

10. Twenty-seven deaths are reported to have occurred amongst lascars at sea during 1891 against 28 in the year previous. Of these 2 occurred in vessels making coasting voyages, and the remaining 25 in foreign-bound steamers and ships, against 2 and 26, respectively, in the previous year. The rates were ·31 and 2·98 per mille against ·36 and 3·37 in the year before, and calculated on the total population the death-rate was 1·83 against 2·12 per mille. No complaints were made by the lascar crews during the year.

11. Pilgrims.—The S. S. Khira, from Jeddah to Calcutta, arrived in the port on the 21st August with 934 pilgrims. There were 19 cases of small-pox on board, and the vessel anchored in mid-stream below Mateabrooj. These cases were sent to the Campbell Hospital, the unprotected pilgrims were vaccinated, the ship thoroughly disinfected, and allowed to take up her moorings at Babu Ghat on the 23rd.

12. Conservancy.—In the Resolution on the Annual Report of the Health Officer for the year 1890, it was remarked that the general improvement in the conservancy of the foreshore of the river, which was noticed in the Resolution on the Health Officer's Annual Report for the previous year, continued during the year. The Health Officer says that there has been no change from last year's report, and that the drain and latrine in Messrs. Ahmuty and Company's compound in Howrah is engaging the attention of the Municipality. The Commissioner of the Burdwan Division has reported that the latrine on the premises of the Company's Foundry in Howrah will be pulled down, a new latrine on an unobjectionable site having been built.

Dr. Forsyth states that the brickfield foreshore at Ghosery still continues to be used as a latrine by the brickfield workers, boatmen, &c. The Commissioner of the Burdwan Division, in a report of subsequent date to that of Dr. Forsyth, states that the owners of the brickfields have constructed latrines for the use of their employes, and that the nuisances are committed by outsiders and boatmen who anchor there and repair boats. The Magistrate has directed the District Superintendent of Police to arrest persons committing nuisances there.

In the Resolution on the Annual Report of the Health Officer for the year 1890, it was remarked that the scheme for the discharge of the Fort sewage into the Calcutta sewers, prepared at the request of the Military Department of the Government of India, was under the consideration of that Government. Further information has been asked for by the Government of India in regard to the scheme, and the subject is receiving the attention of this Government.

13. Corpses and Carcasses.—The Lieutenant-Governor regrets to find from the Health Officer's Report that there has been an increase in the number of corpses and carcasses found floating in the river. This matter will be brought to the attention of the Municipal and Judicial Departments of this Government.

14. Water-supply.—No mention has been made by the Health Officer in his Report regarding the supply of filtered water to the shipping during the year. Information on this head should always be furnished in the Annual Report.

15. Comparative Statistics of the Port and Town of Calcutta.—The usual statement showing the comparative mortality in the Town and Port of Calcutta for the past three years has been submitted by the Health Officer. As observed in the Resolution on the Report for 1890, the circumstances are so different that any analysis of the figures for purposes of comparison would be useless.

16. Health Officer and Sanitary Inspector.—The Lieutenant-Governor concurs in the favourable opinion expressed by the Sanitary Commissioner regarding the manner in which Dr. R. Macleod, who has been transferred to another appointment, performed the duties of Health Officer during the two-and-a-half years he held the appointment, and observes that Babu Nundo Lal Halder, Sanitary Inspector, is also mentioned as deserving of commendation.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. W. ODLING,

Joint-Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

Statement of Rainfall in Bengal for the week ending Saturday (8 a m ), the 4th of June 1892—concl.

[illegible]

Explanation — Indicate that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are missing the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0.1 inch of rain has fallen.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS
TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVA-
SATURDAY, THE 4TH OF JUNE 1892.

On the 29th of May, or at the commencement of the present week, pressure was below the normal at all stations, the defect ranging from about a twentieth of an inch in the south of the province to a tenth of an inch at Gaya, and nearly a tenth of an inch at Sibsagar. This low pressure over Bihár rather enhanced the usual tendency for a circulation of winds to set up over the west of the province, and winds varied from south-westerly at some of the south-western stations, through southerly in South Bengal and south-easterly in East Bengal, to easterly in the north of the province. The general weather conditions in the province continued somewhat disturbed, and local storms with rain were rather numerous in South-West and North Bengal on this day. These conditions continued practically unchanged on the 30th, and again a few local storms with rain occurred in the same districts. On the 31st the barometric changes were small and variable, and the general meteorological conditions remained unchanged. On this day the number of local storms with rain reported was decidedly larger, and almost every station in East and North Bengal and a good many stations in South-West Bengal reported rain. On June 1st a moderate rise of pressure commenced over the province, and pressure became above the normal at all except the western stations, and the local storms with rain reported on this day were mainly confined to Orissa, South-West Bengal and parts of North Bengal. On the 2nd a further rapid increase of pressure had taken place, the increase over a large area exceeding a tenth of an inch, and at some stations equalling 0.14". This increase was largest at the north-western stations, and caused an entire change in the distribution of pressure, which became about a sixth of an inch in excess of the normal in the north and centre of the province, and about a seventh above it elsewhere. This increase again continued on the 3rd, and over a considerable portion of the province pressure became from a fifth to a quarter of an inch above the normal, but on the 4th, or the last day of the week, a reaction set in and pressure began to fall moderately to rapidly. From the 2nd, however, with the rapidly increasing pressure, the local storms with rain, which had previously been so frequent, almost entirely ceased, and from the 2nd to the 4th the whole province was to a great extent rainless except for a few local showers in Orissa, North Bengal and Bihár.

In the centre and south of the Bay the south-west monsoon current has been blowing pretty steadily throughout the week, and at one time it appeared almost as if the current had drifted well into the north of the Bay, and on the 1st of June the meteorological observer at Akyab reported that the monsoon had broken at that station. Immediately, however, pressure commenced to rise rapidly in Bengal and to become in excess of the normal as it did from about the 2nd, conditions became unfavourable for any further northerly advance of the monsoon winds towards Bengal, and hence at the close of the week conditions were not so favourable for the setting in of the rains in Bengal as they had been at the commencement.

Pressure.—Owing to the very high pressure obtaining during the second half of the week, the mean pressure has been in excess of the normal for the week in all districts. This excess generally varies from 0.04" to 0.07," but it is smallest in Bihár and in the western districts generally, where at the commencement of the week pressure was very defective.

Temperature.—The temperature was usually moderate in the first half of the week, but it rose very considerably in the second half. The mean temperature for the week has been fairly normal in Orissa, South-West and North Bengal, and North Bihár, but, on the other hand, it has been from 1° to 2° above it in Assam, East Bengal, and Chota Nagpur, and in South Bihár it has been 4.1° above it. For the whole of the province of Bengal the mean temperature has been about one degree in excess of the normal.

Rainfall.—The falls in East and North Bengal have averaged from two to three inches, and those in South-West Bengal about an inch. In the other districts the falls have been much smaller, and have only equalled from about a third to half an inch. In all districts the falls have been rather largely in defect of the normal, in most cases only equalling about fifty per cent. of the ordinary amounts.

The falls, however, in such smaller districts as 24-Parganas, Howrah, Hooghly, Jessore, Khulna, Backergunge, Darbhanga, Champaran, Gaya, Patna, &c., have been even smaller than represented by the above figures, and in such districts as Muzaffarpur, Suran, and Singhbhum, rainfall has been practically absent.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 4th of June 1892:—

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park Street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore .003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 0.5° higher; and, finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0.6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

o, overcast; g, gloomy; d, drizzling rain; p, passing temporary showers; , dew.

JAPAN—NIPON—SOUTH COAST.

The following Notice to Mariners (No. 164 of 1892) issued by the British Admiralty is republished :—

- (1) A recent small scale plan of Goza harbour having been received from the Japanese Government, which shows several dangers, not charted on Admiralty plan, No. 994, Mariners are cautioned not to use Goza harbour without a pilot, until a new large scale plan is published.

The following caution has been placed on Admiralty plan No. 994 :—“Many uncharted dangers in Goza harbour.”

- (2) A rock with 15 feet water on it has been discovered outside Outer reef, southward of Goza harbour, from which Kami Sima bears E.N.E., distant 3 cables, and several other dangers have been found between Outer reef and the shore.

Vessels are consequently warned that they should give these outer dangers even a wider berth than usual.

Approximate position of Kami Sima, lat.  $34^{\circ} 11' 50''$  N., long.  $136^{\circ} 48' 30''$  E.

JAPAN—YEZO ISLAND—NEMORO PENINSULA.

Sunken rock south-west of Isomoshiri jima.

The British Admiralty has given notice (No. 167 of 1892) that the Commander of the Japanese steam-vessel Tsukushi maru reports having touched, in October 1891, on a sunken rock lying off the south-east coast of Nemoro peninsula, with the south-west extreme of Isomoshiri jima bearing approximately N.E. by E.  $\frac{1}{2}$  E., distant  $1\frac{1}{4}$  miles.

The vessel was drawing 17 feet when she touched, and the lead gave  $4\frac{1}{2}$  fathoms on her starboard side, so that probably it is a pinnacle rock. During subsequent examination under unfavourable circumstances, 8 fathoms was the least depth obtained, but there is probably shoaler water in the vicinity.

- Approximate position, lat.  $43^{\circ} 19' 19''$  N., long.  $145^{\circ} 45'$  E.

AUSTRALIA—NORTH-WEST COAST.

KING SOUND ENTRANCE.

Shoals in and near the fairway Sunday strait.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 168 of 1892) concerning certain shoals lying in and near the fairway of Sunday strait, King sound entrance:—

1. A shoal, with 2 fathoms water on it, and 12 to 20 fathoms close northward, lies with the west extreme of East Roe island bearing south, distant about  $1\frac{1}{2}$  miles.

Approximate position, lat.  $16^{\circ} 20\frac{1}{2}'$  S., long.  $123^{\circ} 13'$  E.

2. A shoal of small extent, with dangerously shallow water reported on it, lies in the fairway of the strait, with Tree islet bearing about E.  $\frac{1}{2}$  S., distant  $2\frac{1}{2}$  miles.

Position (to be considered doubtful), lat.  $16^{\circ} 22\frac{1}{2}'$  S., long.  $123^{\circ} 16\frac{1}{2}'$  E.

3. Amur reef, lying north-west of Long island, and which dries 15 feet at low water, extends nearly 3 miles in a N. by E. and S. by W. direction, with a breadth of about  $1\frac{1}{2}$  miles.

Approximate position of northern end, lat.  $16^{\circ} 29\frac{1}{2}'$  S., long.  $123^{\circ} 18'$  E.

[Second Publication.]

NOTICE TO MARINERS—No. 93.

AUSTRALIA—SOUTH.

Special warning to Mariners—compasses—heeling error.

THE Secretary, Marine Board, Port Adelaide, has given notice that the attention of Mariners has been directed by the Board of Trade "to the necessity of exercising a constant watchfulness in regard to the error of their navigating compasses, more particularly to the heeling error, the neglect of which is doubtless a common, though often unsuspected, cause of the stranding of many vessels.

"Serious changes frequently take place in the character and amount of the heeling error as the ship changes her magnetic lat. from (1) the vertical force arising from the permanent magnetism of the ship, the error from which is greatest in high lats., diminishes until the Equator is reached, where it is least, and increases again in the opposite hemisphere, but still retaining the same name; (2) from verticle induction in vertical and transverse soft iron, generally (such as beams, &c.), the error from which is greatest in high lats., diminishes until the Equator is reached, where it becomes nil, and increases again (but of an opposite name) as the vessel recedes from the Equator in the opposite hemisphere. It is difficult, therefore, to predict with any great accuracy the change that will take place, observations at every possible opportunity being the only reliable safeguard.

"In the Nrn. hemisphere in ships built with their heads from about S.E., through N., to S.W. (the usual effect of the permanent magnetism of the ship then conspiring with that of her vertical and transverse soft iron), the N. pt. of the compass needle, assuming the compass to be on the upper deck and on the after portion of the ship as usual, will, as a general rule, be drawn to windward or to the high side of the ship; the nearer the ship's head was to N. whilst building the greater the error that may be expected, the effect being to throw the ship to windward of her supposed position when steering on Nly. courses, and to leeward on Sly. courses, the error decreasing as the Equator is approached, and small, perhaps of a contrary name, in the Srn. hemisphere.

"In ships built with their heads from about S.E., through S., to S.W. (the usual effect of the permanent magnetism, and that of the transverse, &c., iron, being then contrary to each other), the N. end of the compass needle may be drawn to leeward, depending upon whether the vertical force of the permanent magnetism or that of the induced magnetism of transverse iron predominates, but the error would then, as a general rule, be small in these lats. and large in the Srn. hemisphere.

"It has been est., as a rule, however, that in the Nrn. hemisphere (in compasses above the upper deck) in the majority of iron ships, the N. pt. of the compass needle is drawn to windward, the consequence being that if this is not allowed for, a ship will go to windward of her supposed position on Nly. courses and to leeward on Sly. courses.

"The heeling error is always greatest with the ship's head at or near N. or S. by the disturbed compass, and, least, or nil, with the ship's head E. or W. It is particularly important, therefore, should the vessel heel over either from the effect of the wind, or the cargo, when steering in a Nly. or Sly. direction, that the Mariner should use every precaution and never lose an opportunity of ascertaining the errors of his compass.

"The heeling error may be small or large, depending greatly upon the position of the compass—it has been known to exceed  $2^{\circ}$  for every degree heel of the ship—and is directly proportional to the amount of heel, consequently if the error at N. or S. for  $1^{\circ}$  of heel is known, the error for any other direction of the ship's head, and amount of heel, can be found by the usual methods.

"Mariners are further warned that the adjustment of compasses by magnets, soft iron, &c., is for bringing the error within manageable limits and for equalising the directive force of the needle, and must only be considered approx. for the lat. in which the adjustment was made, and that they should lose no opportunity of verifying the error both in port and at sea, as it is constantly changing from numerous causes, the chief amongst which are heeling, change of lat., change of cargo, collision, after repairs, and from the ship remaining with her head in one direction for a length of time, &c."

ORDERS BY THE LIEUT.-GOVERNOR OF BENGAL.

NOTIFICATION.

The 7th June 1892.—For a second time within little more than a month, and for a third time within little more than a year, the Lieutenant-Governor has to deplore the death of one of the most experienced and valued officers of the Government. Mr. Charles Fortescue Worsley, who died at Bankipore on the 7th June 1892, of remittent fever, entered the Indian Civil Service in 1861, and for 25 years his name is associated with useful and indefatigable district work in the Province of Bihar. For nine years he was Magistrate and Collector of Muzaffarpur. As Additional Commissioner of Patna, and as Commissioner of Orissa and Dacca, he enhanced the high reputation he had already won. A fortnight only has elapsed since he was appointed to be Commissioner of the Patna Division. His death is a heavy loss to the Administration, and will be grievously felt by his many friends, as well as by the people of the country, to whom he had endeared himself by his kindness and sympathy.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the barograph and thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newmann's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed at the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beekley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF MAY 1892.

THE principal features in the meteorology of Bengal and Assam during May 1892 have been as follows :—

1. Pressure at the commencement of the month was distinctly in excess of the normal ; it then became largely in defect, the mean defect at many stations in the second week equalling about a tenth of an inch. This defective pressure continued, though gradually becoming rather smaller, and the seat of largest defect was removed to Bihár in the third week, but at the close of the month, though pressure remained in considerable defect, the deficiency was smallest at some of the northern stations and in Bihár, and largest at some of the southern stations and in Assam. The mean pressure therefore of both Bengal and Assam has been about 0·04 inch in defect of the normal.

2. Temperature was very high in the early part of the month, the excess above the normal for the first week averaging 4·2°. This excess was continued in the second week, but it was about a degree smaller than in the previous week, and in this week the excess in Chota Nagpur equalled the unusually large amount of 9·2°. In the third week of the month the average temperature of the province was again about three degrees in excess of the normal, but during the fourth week owing to rather heavy rain having fallen temperature fell rapidly, and became below the normal by between one and two degrees. For the whole month, therefore, the mean temperature of the province of Bengal has been about 2° in excess of the normal, but in Assam there has been a defect of about a degree.

3. The winds blowing over the province have been more strongly easterly than usual, and south-easterly and southerly winds have generally prevailed in the south of the province, and easterly winds at the northern stations. During a considerable part of the month also the southerly winds blowing at the head of the Bay and in parts of South Bengal were unusually strong.

4. Rainfall in the early part of the month was confined to North and East Bengal, but the falls were decidedly less than the normal. In the second week the rainfall increased in heaviness in East and North Bengal ; while South-West Bengal and North Bihár commenced to receive moderate amounts. In the third week rainfall occurred almost daily in North Bengal, while in East and South-West Bengal and North Bihár only occasional local showers were reported, while in the last week of the month moderate to heavy rain was received in all districts except South Bihár.

5. The number of hot weather storms or nor'-westers which occurred during the month has been very considerable, but they have as usual been most frequent in the eastern and north-eastern districts, though during the fourth week of May they were also rather numerous in all districts except South Bihár.

6. The first appearance of strong winds at the Ceylon stations indicating that the real south-west monsoon current was advancing up the Bay commenced on about the 10th, and these continued almost till the close of the month. In front of this advance a barometric depression was formed in the Andaman Sea, which moved slowly into the Gulf of Martaban, and then over Burma, and which brought up heavy rain to that district. A second feeble low-pressure area commenced to develop off the South Orissa and Ganjam coasts, but both depressions filled up on the 26th without developing to any considerable extent.

The changes of conditions during the greater part of the month do not call for any detailed remarks. For the first week conditions were of ordinary hot weather character, and the number of local storms occurring was small. In the second week pressure fell so rapidly at the western stations that a feeble low pressure area formed over the western parts of the province, and hence with these disturbed conditions the number of local storms or nor'-westers was largely increased. This feeble depression filled up on about the 14th, when weather became more settled, but again on the 20th an almost similar low-pressure area was developed over part of Chota Nagpur and West Bengal. This lasted for several days, and it filled up on the 24th, but again the disturbed conditions induced by the feeble depression gave rise to numerous local storms and rain showers which lasted in Bengal almost up to the close of the month.

In the south of the Bay winds began to strengthen owing to the advance of the south-west monsoon from about the 10th, and they blew steadily and rather strongly almost to the close of the month. By about the 24th these winds had apparently reached well into the centre of the Bay, when pressure began to fall moderately to rapidly in the east of the centre of the Bay, forming a feeble depression, and on this date also winds round the Andaman Sea appeared to form part of a cyclonic circulation. On the same day also there was a distinct tendency to low pressure off the South Orissa and Ganjam coasts. On the morning of the 25th, the wind directions in Bengal had become very irregular, and at a good many stations north-easterly winds were reported, showing slight indraught towards the Bay, and the feeble barometric depressions appeared still to exist off the South Orissa coast and in the Gulf of Martaban, but the pressure changes on this day in Bengal were small. On the 26th the depression in the Bay off the Orissa coast filled up, while that in the Gulf of Martaban may probably have passed over Burma and there filled up, for heavy rain was received over that area. Pressure distribution and wind directions therefore became a little more normal, and on the 27th pressure rose slowly in Bengal, and the distribution became practically normal for the day, and the winds also became of directions varying from southerly in the southern districts through south-easterly at the eastern stations to easterly in the north of the province. On the 28th the pressure changes were comparatively small, though usually there was a fall, and pressure was again becoming below the normal, particularly in Bihár, but winds continued fairly normal in direction on this day as they did up to practically the close of the month.

In the Bay the south-west monsoon current continued to blow fairly steadily and rather strongly, and after the disappearance of the two feeble depressions it probably continued its northerly advance, and by the close of the month it had apparently drifted well into the north of the Bay, and at one time even it appeared to be commencing to drift over South-East Bengal. On the 1st of June indeed the observer at Akyab reported that the monsoon had broken at that station, and it certainly, at the close of May, had advanced well into the north of the Bay.

Pressure.—In the first week of May pressure was above the normal by from 0.03" to 0.05", the smallest excess pressure being reported in North Bengal and North Bihár. In the second week a rapid fall occurred, and pressure became in defect by 0.09", while defects in excess of a tenth of an inch were registered at such stations as Motihari, Dehri, Buxar, Gaya, Bankipore, Bankura, Raniganj, and Berhampore. In the third week at such stations as Gaya, Bankipore, and Dehri, average defects of about 0.08" were registered, but in the south and south-east of the province the defects were from 0.02" to 0.03", and in Assam they were only 0.015". In the fourth week the largest defect had been transferred to the extreme east of the province, where at Sibsagar it equalled 0.09 and in the north and west of the province, at such stations as Darbhanga, Purnea, and Rangpur, the defect only equalled 0.03", so that the usual defect over the province equalled from 0.05" to 0.07".

For the whole month the mean pressure has been in distinct defect of the normal, the defects ranging from about 0.02" at the extreme south-eastern and south-western stations, such as at Chittagong and Comilla and Gopalpur and False Point, to about 0.04" and 0.05" in Bihár, defects exceeding 0.05" being recorded at Motihari and Bankipore. The general defect over the province of Bengal equals about 0.04".

In Assam the average defect is 0.042", and at Sibsagar the large defect of 0.067" is recorded.

Temperature.—The mean average temperature of the whole of Bengal for the month has been 2.1° in excess of the normal. The excess has been the large amount of 4.8° in Chota Nagpur, but in most Divisions it has equalled about 2° or 3°. In North Bengal, on the other hand, there has been a defect of about half a degree, and in Assam the defect has equalled 1.3°.

Some very high maximum temperatures have been recorded during the month, and temperatures exceeding 114° have been recorded at Gaya and Chaibassa, exceeding 112° at Cuttack, Bankura, Raniganj, and Dehri, and exceeding 110° at Midnapore, Chapra, Arrah, and Naya Dumka.

Rainfall.—An average fall of nearly 13 inches of rain has occurred in North Bengal, or more than 4 inches, or roughly 50 per cent., more than usual. The fall in East Bengal has equalled 11 inches, or nearly two inches, or roughly 20 per cent., in excess. In all other districts, however, the falls have been in distinct defect, the percentage of defect equalling in South-West Bengal 11 per cent., in North Bihár 28 per cent., in Chota Nagpur 47 per cent., in Orissa 50 per cent., and in South Bihár no less than 64 per cent. The actual fall in South-West Bengal has averaged nearly five inches, in North Bihár nearly two and-a-half inches, in Orissa nearly two inches, in Chota Nagpur one and-a-half inches, and in South Bihár only 0.85 inch. Taking these various divisions as having an equal value in the calculation, it may be said that the rainfall of Bengal in May was about 20 per cent. in defect of the normal fall.

The variation in the amounts of rain received by stations in different districts of the province has been extraordinarily large, and thus Kuch Bihár during the month has received 46.22 inches of rain, while on the other hand falls of less than a fifth of an inch are reported at Satpara (Puri), Koshera (Darbhanga), Buxar, Dehri, Sasaram, Aurangabad, Rajouli (Gaya), Pakri Barawan (Gt.), Bikram (Patna), Gogri (Monghyr), Shaikpura (Monghyr), Paláman, and Garwah (Paláman). The heaviest falls have occurred at the stations in the hills in the north-east of the province, and the smallest usually in the west of Chota Nagpur and Bihár, though a broad area of extremely small rainfall stretches eastward through Bihár, and includes parts of the Sonthal Parganas. The lines of equal rainfall usually run in a north-westerly direction, and thus to the east of a line joining the extreme north-east corner of the Bay with Kinsenganj in the Purnea district rainfall has been in excess of 10 inches, and to the west of it less than 10 inches; the line of 5 inches rainfall runs roughly from Putua-khali to Supaul, and that of 2 inches from Orissa to Champaran, and so on.

Compared with the normal falls, it will be found that in Kuch Bihár and its neighbourhood, excessive falls have occurred in some cases, the falls being 20 and 30 inches more than usual. If a line be drawn from about Backergunge in a north-westerly direction up to about the north of Bhágalpur, it will be found that most of the stations to the east of this line have received falls in excess of the normal amounts, while to the west of the line defective falls have occurred. The defects, however, as a rule, do not much exceed two inches, and a large area indeed is shown where the defect is not larger than one inch.

The areas of largest defect are to be found in the Sonthal Parganas over the greater part of Orissa, and at one or two stations in North Bengal such as Saugor Island and Patuakhali.

The following table gives full data for the comparison of the actual and the normal rainfall of the month of May in all districts of the province. The figures are derived from the average and actual rainfall of the rain-recording stations in each district, due allowance being made for the area which each station represents. This gives a more accurate average than the arithmetical means given in the weekly and monthly meteorological tables. The first column gives the normal or average district rainfall as determined from the rainfall observations of the past 15 years. The second column gives the actual district rainfall as determined from the weighted actual rainfalls of the month at the reporting stations in each district. The third column expresses the ratio of the actual district rainfall of the past month to the normal rainfall as a percentage. The fourth column gives the same information as the third in a slightly different form, stating as a percentage how much the district rainfall of the month varied in excess or defect from the normal:—

Explanation.— .. Indicate that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall column are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0.1 inch of rain has fallen.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS
TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVA-
SATURDAY, THE 11TH OF JUNE 1892.

On the last few days of the previous week a rapid increase of pressure had taken place in Bengal and pressure had become largely in excess of the normal, so that the pressure distribution had become very unfavourable for the advancement of the monsoon current and the setting in of the rains over Bengal, though as stated in the report of the previous week, the monsoon current had advanced well into the north of the Bay. On the 4th, however, a reaction had set in and pressure began to fall, and this fall continued on the 5th and 6th, and on the latter day the distribution of pressure became very irregular, and the lowest pressures were reported at Gopalpore and Puri. In addition, too, pressure had become below the normal over the Bay, while slight excess pressure was still recorded in Bengal. Wind directions at the coast stations in the north of the Bay were decidedly irregular, and in Bengal at most stations winds had become easterly. On this day some exceedingly heavy rainfalls were reported in North Bihār and North Bengal, but over the remainder of the province only a few local showers fell. On the 6th, so far as could be detected, there was no sign of any cyclonic circulation of winds in the north of the Bay, and certainly no storm had formed, though perhaps in some parts of the Bay weather may have been a little squally. On the morning of the 7th pressure had again fallen moderately to rapidly, and pressure had become below the normal by amounts which ranged up to nearly a tenth of an inch along the west coast from Gopalpore to Madras. Winds also at the stations on the Circars and Orissa coasts began to show the commencement of a cyclonic circulation, though they were very light in all cases. The lowest pressures reported on this day were at Puri and Gopalpore, and it was evident that a barometric depression had formed, and its position, so far as can be at present roughly judged, was in about latitude  $17^{\circ}$  or  $18^{\circ}$  N. and perhaps longitude  $88^{\circ}$  E., but until the observations from the vessels navigating the Bay have been received and worked out, the precise position of the formation of the storm cannot be accurately given. On the 7th the winds over Bengal became mainly easterly and south-easterly, and may have been influenced by the developing whirl or depression, but this is scarcely probable. Moderate to heavy rain was reported on this day from many of the Bengal stations. On the 8th the storm in the Bay had undergone further development, a rapid fall of pressure had taken place in the north-west angle of the Bay, and in Orissa and at such stations as False Point, pressure had become more than a fifth of an inch below the normal. The cyclonic wind circulation as indicated by the observations at the coast stations had also advanced northwards, and the centre of the storm was at 8 a.m. probably to the east of Puri or Gopalpore. The storm had undoubtedly developed very considerably in the day and was already of moderate severity. From the 8th to the 9th at 8 a.m. the storm developed in intensity with extraordinary rapidity and had become a fierce cyclone, and it had also again advanced slowly in a northerly direction and was probably a little to the south of east of False Point. The increase in intensity may be judged by the fact that there had been a fall of a quarter of an inch in the pressure at False Point, and pressure there was about half an inch below the normal. The position of the cyclone can be fortunately fixed in the afternoon and evening of the 9th, for the Meteorological Department has been favoured with a report by Mr. Milner, Senior Branch Pilot, who was on board the P. V. Sarsuti which experienced the storm and which passed through the calm centre, and extracts from whose report are given below. The Sarsuti it appears entered the calm centre of the cyclone from the north-eastern quadrant between 3 p.m. and 4 p.m. of the 9th, and was in it until nearly 7-30 p.m. The position of the Sarsuti at this time is given as 55 miles E. by N. of False Point, so that again the storm had moved in a northerly direction, and its centre was about 80 miles from, and almost due south of, the mouth of the Hooghly, and considering the direction in which the storm had been moving on the 7th and 8th, which, so far as can be judged, was almost due north, it appeared highly probable that the storm would reach the mouth of the Hooghly, and might possibly subsequently advance up the basin of the Hooghly towards Calcutta. During the evening and night of the 9th the rate at which the storm was moving must have increased very rapidly, and the storm must also have commenced to recurve towards the west, for at 11 p.m. of the 9th the centre was to the south-south-west of Saugor Island and about 45 miles only from the mouth of the Hooghly, so that it had moved 35 miles in 5 or 6 hours. At 2 a.m. of the 10th it was to the west-south-west of Saugor Island, and at 5 a.m. it was almost on the coast line between Calcutta and Balasore. So far as can be ascertained, the storm centre crossed the coast between Balasore and Saugor Island at about 6-30 a.m. on the 10th, and nearer the former station than the latter. As the distance between the mouth of the Hooghly and Balasore is not more than about 50 to 60 miles, the storm could only have passed about 40 or 45 miles to the west of the mouth of the river. In passing it may be remarked that the great Calcutta cyclone of 1864, which caused the storm wave in the Hooghly and the consequent enormous destruction of shipping and property, crossed the coast a little to the west of the mouth of the Hooghly, and the point at which the storm which is now being described struck the land was probably not more than 30 miles to the west of that of the 1864 cyclone. The difference between the paths of the two cyclones was this, that in the present year the storm commenced to recurve to the west as it approached close to the head of the Bay, and that when it reached the land it recurved still more rapidly to the west and took up a west-north-westerly direction, which carried the storm rapidly away from Calcutta. On the other hand, the storm of 1864 continued in its northerly course after reaching the land, and later on recurved slightly towards the east, thus bringing it nearer to Calcutta, though the centre of the cyclone of 1864 was never nearer than 30 miles to the west of Calcutta.

The storm having crossed the coast a little to the east of Balasore about 6-30 a.m. of the 10th, when the extraordinarily low pressure of 28·670 inches was registered, it advanced in a west-north-westerly direction, and at 8 a.m. the centre was to the north or north-west of Balasore, when a pressure of 28·731 inches was registered. From the 10th to the morning of the 11th the storm continued its west-north-westerly advance, and the centre was on this day apparently in the south-west corner of Chota Nagpur, but as there are no meteorological observatories in the immediate neighbourhood of this area, it is impossible to state its position with certainty. The rapidity of the advance of the storm on this day was also very much greater than it had been, and while from the morning of the 9th to the 10th the distance travelled by the storm cannot have been more than 90 to 100 miles, from the 10th to the 11th it had travelled over probably 250 miles, and thus had more than doubled the rate of its advance.

The strength of the storm may be judged by the excessively low pressures registered at all the coast stations in the north-west angle of the Bay during the advance and passage of the storm which were much lower than during the passage of any storm during recent years, and notably by the pressure at Balasore at 6-30 a.m. on the 10th of 28·670 inches. Exceedingly strong winds also prevailed in the neighbourhood of the storm, and for a long distance to the east and south of it. At Balasore during the early morning of the 10th winds were reported to be of hurricane force. Up to the present time the only report of any vessel which was involved in the storm which has reached the Meteorological Department is that of the Sarsuti sent in by Mr. Milner above referred to, and his description of the weather experienced near the centre of the storm may be briefly stated:—"The wind kept at S.E. and E.S.E. till 3 p.m. (of the 8th), when it died away to a calm; it had been blowing a moderate gale; wind was very light until 7-30 p.m., when it began to freshen, and became very violent at 9 p.m. from the W.S.W.; it was most furious at midnight to 1 a.m. (of the 9th), when it seemed doubtful if the masts would not be blown out of the vessel, the wind being then S.W. It is doubtful if the wind was not as strong as in the cyclone of May 1887 (when the Sir John Lawrence and the Retriever were lost), at which time I was on board the P.V. Cassandra and nearly in the same position. On this occasion the vessel was under bare poles." The lowest pressure recorded during the calm centre in the Sarsuti was about 28·8 inches, which being reduced for temperature and gravity would be probably about 28·6 inches. The cyclone, then, was undoubtedly one of the fiercest of recent years, and in addition it affected a very large area, and the bad weather accompanying it extended even to such stations as Chittagong, Akyab, and Diamond Island to the east and south-east, and to Coconada on the south-south-west of the storm.

Pressure.—Owing to the formation and advance of the cyclone, pressure has been rather largely in defect of the normal in all districts; the mean defect is largest at Balasore, where it equals 0·195", and it generally exceeds a tenth of an inch in the south-western districts, but the defects are comparatively small in the north of the province, where at such stations as Purnea, Darbhanga, and Motihari the defects are only one or two-hundredths of an inch.

Temperature.—Owing to the heavy rainfall, temperature has been below the normal in all districts except East Bengal, the defects equalling 1° and 5° in South Bihár and Chota Nagpur, and 2° and 3° degrees in Orissa and South-West Bengal and North Bihár. In Assam and in East Bengal temperature has been about 1° above the normal.

Rainfall.—Exceptionally heavy rain was brought up by the cyclone to parts of Orissa, and on the 10th, False Point reported 11·27 inches, while for the week this station has received 17·20 inches. Several other stations also reported falls of about 10 inches and upwards during the week. Rainfall has therefore been in very large excess of the normal in Orissa, and in large excess in Chota Nagpur and Bihár. In South-West Bengal about a normal fall has occurred, but owing to the indraught towards the storm, the rainfall in East and North Bengal has been lighter than usual, and the falls do not amount to more than about half the normal.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 11th of June 1892:—

If the entrance leading lights on Balaklava Island at any time are obscured, a vessel entering from the North should keep on the western edge of the red sector until the Cape Capricorn lights were in line bearing S.  $70^{\circ}$  E.; or, if from the south, should run down that lead until on the western edge of the above-mentioned red sector, from which point she should steer S. by W.  $\frac{1}{2}$  W. through the white light. When the Capricorn light is obscured by the high land of Cape Keppel, a vessel will be clear of the Timandra Bank, and may either anchor or proceed as considered advisable.

THE following Notice to Mariners (No. 164 of 1892) issued by the British Admiralty is republished:—

- (1) A recent small scale plan of Goza harbour having been received from the Japanese Government, which shows several dangers, not charted on Admiralty plan, No. 994, Mariners are cautioned not to use Goza harbour without a pilot, until a new large scale plan is published.

The following caution has been placed on Admiralty plan No. 994:—"Many uncharted dangers in Goza harbour."

- (2) A rock with 15 feet water on it has been discovered outside Outer reef, southward of Goza harbour, from which Kami Sima bears E.N.E., distant 3 cables, and several other dangers have been found between Outer reef and the shore.

Vessels are consequently warned that they should give these outer dangers even a wider berth than usual.

Approximate position of Kami Sima, lat.  $34^{\circ} 11' 50''$  N., long.  $136^{\circ} 48' 30''$  E.

JAPAN—YEZO ISLAND—NEMORO PENINSULA.

Sunken rock south-west of Isomoshiri jima.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 167 of 1892) that the Commander of the Japanese steam-vessel Tsukushi maru reports having touched, in October 1891, on a sunken rock lying off the south-east coast of Nemoro peninsula, with the south-west extreme of Isomoshiri jima bearing approximately N.E. by E.  $\frac{1}{2}$  E., distant  $1\frac{1}{2}$  miles.

The vessel was drawing 17 feet when she touched, and the lead gave  $4\frac{1}{2}$  fathoms on her starboard side, so that probably it is a pinnacle rock. During subsequent examination under unfavourable circumstances, 3 fathoms was the least depth obtained, but there is probably shoaler water in the vicinity.

Approximate position, lat.  $43^{\circ} 19'$  N., long.  $145^{\circ} 45'$  E.

Shoals in and near the fairway Sunday strait.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 168 of 1892) concerning certain shoals lying in and near the fairway of Sunday strait, King sound entrance:—

1. A shoal, with 2 fathoms water on it, and 12 to 20 fathoms close northward, lies with the west extreme of East Roc island bearing south, distant about  $1\frac{1}{2}$  miles.

Approximate position, lat.  $16^{\circ} 20\frac{1}{2}'$  S., long.  $123^{\circ} 13'$  E.

2. A shoal of small extent, with dangerously shallow water reported on it, lies in the fairway of the strait, with Tree islet bearing about E.  $\frac{1}{2}$  S., distant  $2\frac{1}{2}$  miles.

Position (to be considered doubtful), lat.  $16^{\circ} 22\frac{1}{2}'$  S., long.  $123^{\circ} 10\frac{1}{2}'$  E.

3. Amur reef, lying north-west of Long island, and which dries 15 feet at low water, extends nearly 3 miles in a N. by E. and S. by W. direction, with a breadth of about  $1\frac{1}{2}$  miles.

Approximate position of northern end, lat.  $16^{\circ} 29\frac{1}{2}'$  S., long.  $123^{\circ} 18'$  E.

NOTICE TO MARINERS—No. 93.

AUSTRALIA—South.

Special warning to Mariners—compasses—heeling error.

THE Secretary, Marine Board, Port Adelaide, has given notice that the attention of Mariners has been directed by the Board of Trade "to the necessity of exercising a constant watchfulness in regard to the error of their navigating compasses, more particularly to the heeling error, the neglect of which is doubtless a common, though often unsuspected, cause of the stranding of many vessels.

"Serious changes frequently take place in the character and amount of the heeling error as the ship changes her magnetic lat. from (1) the vertical force arising from the permanent magnetism of the ship, the error from which is greatest in high lats., diminishes until the Equator is reached, where it is least, and increases again in the opposite hemisphere, but still retaining the same name; (2) from verticle induction in vertical and transverse soft iron, generally (such as beams, &c.), the error from which is greatest in high lats., diminishes until the Equator is reached, where it becomes nil, and increases again (but of an opposite name) as the vessel recedes from the Equator in the opposite hemisphere. It is difficult, therefore, to predict with any great accuracy the change that will take place, observations at every possible opportunity being the only reliable safeguard.

"In the Nrn. hemisphere in ships built with their heads from about S.E., through N., to S.W. (the usual effect of the permanent magnetism of the ship then conspiring with that of her vertical and transverse soft iron), the N. pt. of the compass needle, assuming the compass to be on the upper deck and on the after portion of the ship as usual, will, as a general rule, be drawn to windward or to the high side of the ship; the nearer the ship's head was to N. whilst building the greater the error that may be expected, the effect being to throw the ship to windward of her supposed position when steering on Nly. courses, and to leeward on Sly. courses, the error decreasing as the Equator is approached, and small, perhaps of a contrary name, in the Srn. hemisphere.

"In ships built with their heads from about S.E., through S., to S.W. (the usual effect of the permanent magnetism, and that of the transverse, &c., iron, being then contrary to each other), the N. end of the compass needle may be drawn to leeward, depending upon whether the vertical force of the permanent magnetism or that of the induced magnetism of transverse iron predominates, but the error would then, as a general rule, be small in these lats. and large in the Srn. hemisphere.

"It has been est., as a rule, however, that in the Nrn. hemisphere (in compasses above the upper deck) in the majority of iron ships, the N. pt. of the compass needle is drawn to windward, the consequence being that if this is not allowed for, a ship will go to windward of her supposed position on Nly. courses and to leeward on Sly. courses.

"The heeling error is always greatest with the ship's head at or near N. or S. by the disturbed compass, and least, or nil, with the ship's head E. or W. It is particularly important, therefore, should the vessel heel over either from the effect of the wind, or the cargo, when steering in a Nly. or Sly. direction, that the Mariner should use every precaution and never lose an opportunity of ascertaining the errors of his compass.

"The heeling error may be small or large, depending greatly upon the position of the compass—it has been known to exceed 2° for every degree heel of the ship—and is directly proportional to the amount of heel, consequently if the error at N. or S. for 1° of heel is known, the error for any other direction of the ship's head, and amount of heel, can be found by the usual methods.

"Mariners are further warned that the adjustment of compasses by magnets, soft iron, &c., is for bringing the error within manageable limits and for equalising the directive force of the needle, and must only be considered approx. for the lat. in which the adjustment was made, and that they should lose no opportunity of verifying the error both in port and at sea, as it is constantly changing from numerous causes, the chief amongst which are heeling, change of lat., change of cargo, collision, after repairs, and from the ship remaining with her head in one direction for a length of time, &c."

A. M. NASH, Registrar.

EDUCATIONAL PROSPECTUS.

THE Calcutta Medical College Session, 1891-92, will commence on the 23rd June next. Students who may be desirous of commencing their studies are requested to apply to the Principal between the hours of 11 A.M. and 4 P.M. on or before that date.

Students are expected to enter formally and commence attendance at the College upon the date named. Under exceptional circumstances a student will be permitted, at the discretion of the Principal, to extend the time to July 1st, but under no circumstance will any application for entrance be entertained after that date.

2. Ten free presentations for a year will then be awarded. These are given to students according to their relative positions in the University B.L., B.A., and F.A. examinations, preference being given to those who have passed the highest examination.

3. No person shall be enrolled as a matriculated student who has not previously passed the First Arts examination of the Calcutta or an Indian University, or a preliminary Arts examination of the United Kingdom recognized by the British General Medical Council.

4. All matriculated students of the College shall pay Rs. 15 on entrance, Rs. 35 for the summer session on the 23rd June, and Rs. 35 for the winter session on 1st November of each year. Rupees 6 extra will be required from each student for each course of dissections. Fees once paid cannot be refunded.

Muhammadan students are required to pay Rs. 15 on entrance and one-third fee, i.e., Rs. 12 per session. The remaining two-third fees are charged to the Mohsin Fund.

5. Any matriculated student of the College may, with the permission of the Principal and the Professor of the subject, attend courses of lectures or departments of hospital practice in addition to the full curriculum for the year, and shall be entitled to certificates of attendance at such extra lectures, if the Professor is satisfied that he or she has really studied the subject. The fees payable in advance for such additional courses are the following:—

	Rs.
For a single course of lectures on each subject in one year	40
For six months' attendance in each department of hospital practice	60

6. Any matriculated student who leaves the College before completing his University course, with the object of continuing his studies at a medical school in Europe, may receive certificates of attendance at lectures on payment of fees at the rate fixed in the foregoing rule. But in calculating the sum to be so paid, the amount of the fees already paid by him as a regular student, or, in the case of a free student, the amount which would have been paid by him had he been a paying student, shall be deducted.

7. Any person not being a matriculated student of the College who wishes to attend any course of lectures, or any department of hospital practice, may do so with the permission of the Principal and Professor of the subject on payment, in advance, of fees at the rates fixed in paragraph 5. If he has passed the Entrance examination of the University, he shall receive certificates of attendance at lectures. If he has not passed the Entrance examination, he shall receive no class certificates.

8. College scholarships (vide paragraphs 9 and 10), prizes and certificates of honour are open for competition only to matriculated students of the College, military medical pupil and female certificate classes.

9. Junior scholarships of Rs. 8 per mensem and free tuition for one year are annually awarded to 10 students of the 2nd and to 10 of the 3rd year, on the results of the 1st year's Test and Honour and Preliminary Scientific L.M.S. and M.B. examinations respectively.

10. Ten senior scholarships of Rs. 12 per mensem and free tuition tenable for two years are annually awarded to students of the 4th year on the results of the University first examination in medicine. But these shall not be awarded to students who gain Durga Charan Laha scholarship of Rs. 30 per mensem for two years, nor to other scholars. Letter from the Commissioner of Patna, No. 306G., dated the 19th April, 1892, and its enclosures.

To commemorate the visit of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales to Bankipore, a fund was raised by subscriptions for the purpose of founding an Industrial School at that station. A school was accordingly opened in March, 1879, but was closed after a short period. The attention of the Lieutenant-Governor was attracted during his visit to Bankipore, in November, 1891, to the existence of the Bihar Industrial School Committee and of the fund for which they are Trustees for the promotion of technical education. So far as His Honour was able to gather, there appeared to be some uncertainty as to the measures which should be adopted for this purpose, and a difficulty in determining a scheme of operations. But Sir Charles Elliott considered it undesirable that no definite action should be taken when there was a large sum of money available. The Commissioner was therefore requested to submit a workable scheme for the establishment of a Bihár Industrial School, after consulting the Director of Public Instruction and the Principal of the Sibpur College.

2. Accordingly, a scheme has been prepared by Mr. J. S. Slater, Principal of the Sibpur College, which, with some slight modifications, has been accepted by the Committee and laid before the Lieutenant-Governor. The main feature of the scheme is the division of the proposed school into two distinct departments. The higher or Apprentico department is intended to aim at training lads to qualify for admission to the 3rd-year class of the Sibpur College, Apprentico Department, where, during a residence of three years, they would be trained to become Foremen Mechanics and Upper Subordinates. The instruction in this Department will be in English. The lower or Artisan department is meant to turn out skilled workers in wood and metals, with an elementary knowledge of drawing and estimating. The medium of instruction will be the vernacular. Training will be provided for 72 apprentices and 36 artisans. The object of both departments will be to qualify boys for further training at the Sibpur College.

3. The scheme has not yet been completed in every detail, but the following proposals, which have been made for the regulation of the two departments and are approved by the Lieutenant-Governor, will show its general scope:—

A.—Apprentice Department:—

(1) The qualification for admission is to be a certificate from the headmaster of a zillah school under public management, stating that the candidate has been promoted at least to the second class in the school.

(2) Twenty-four boys, or two from each district in Bihár, using the word in its widest sense, will be admitted annually. They must be under sixteen years of age. A certificate of good conduct will be required, and all candidates must be passed by a Civil Surgeon as physically fit for work in the shops. The instruction will, at least for the present, be free, and District Boards will be invited to provide scholarships of say Rs. 5 per mensem for their nominees.

(3) The course of study will be as follows:—

	1st year.	2nd year.	3rd year.
Mathematics ...	Arithmetic, Algebra, Euclid	Algebra, Euclid, Mensuration.	Mensuration, Trigonometry.
Drawing ...	Printing, scales, elementary geometrical drawing.	Orthographic projection ...	Plan drawing.
Engineering ...	Nil.	Building materials ...	Building materials, estimating.
Surveying ...	Nil.	Chain and compass surveying.	Levelling.
Workshops ..	Carpenters' shop ...	Blacksmiths' shop ...	Fitters' shop.

(4) After a three years' approved course at Bankipore, in July of each year, those apprentices who wish to continue their course will be allowed to go to the Sibpur College to be examined. The examination at Sibpur is to be both theoretical and practical; those who pass may be admitted to the 3rd-year class of the Sibpur College, Apprentico Department, and become members of that institution.

(5) A certain number of scholarships of Rs. 10 a month, tenable for three years, subject to the usual conditions of progress and good behaviour, will be awarded to the best students on their entering the Sibpur College; half the cost of these scholarships will be borne by the Bihár Industrial School Fund, and the District Boards of the districts to which the students belong will be moved to bear the other half of the cost.

B.—Artisan Department:—

(1) The lower primary standard will be required as a qualification for admission to this Department.

(2) Twelve boys will be admitted annually. They must be between the ages of 12 and 16, and of good physique.

(3) The course in this department will consist of three years' practical work, supplemented by elementary instruction in laying out work to full size, and learning the elements of drawing and mensuration. It will be optional for boys to adhere to one trade for the three years, or to adopt the course qualifying for Sibpur. At the end of the three years, those who elect the latter will be at liberty to apply for permission to go to the Sibpur College.

(4) Stipends at the rate of Rs. 3 per mensem will be given to the boys of this department while at Bankipore, and some at least of those who are admitted to the Sibpur College will receive stipends at the rate of Rs. 7 per mensem.

4. In regard to the finance of the scheme, it is proposed that a suitable building should be erected near the site of the present Survey School at an estimated cost of about Rs. 13,200, and that the school should, if possible, be opened in July this year, so that in future years July would be the beginning of the school year, and candidates would go up to Sibpur for examination in that month.

The capital expenditure and working expenses of the school have been estimated as follows, provision being made for 36 boys in each shop (24 apprentices and 12 artisans).

Miscellaneous	...	...	500
Stipends to 12 artisans	...	...	432
Total	...	...	8,656

During the fourth, fifth, and sixth years, the working expenses will be increased by the amount of the scholarships awarded to those apprentices, and stipends allowed to those artisans, who may in either case find admittance at the Sibpur College.

5. It is estimated that the capital of Rs. 2,54,385, which is now at the disposal of the Committee, will, after allowing for the interest to be credited and for the capital and working expenses to be incurred, be reduced to Rs. 2,37,578 at the beginning of the fourth year; the income should be Rs. 9,503 a year, and the expenditure Rs. 8,656, thus providing a surplus of Rs. 847 at Bankipore. During the fourth year there would be 24 apprentices and 12 artisans at the Sibpur College; during the fifth year, there would be 48 apprentices and 24 artisans, and in the sixth year the full number of 72 apprentices and 36 artisans would be reached. His Honour is of opinion that it will be sufficient if one-third of each of these sets of youths are allowed scholarships at Rs. 10 each, and stipends at Rs. 7 each respectively: thus the total cost on this account would be—

	Scholarships.		Stipends.		Total.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
In the fourth year	...	$8 \times 10 \times 12 = 960$	$4 \times 7 \times 12 = 336$	...	1,296
In the fifth year	...	$16 \times 10 \times 12 = 1,920$	$8 \times 7 \times 12 = 672$	...	2,592
In the sixth year	...	$24 \times 10 \times 12 = 2,880$	$12 \times 7 \times 12 = 1,008$	...	3,888

Rs.
816	in the fourth year.
2,448	in the sixth year.

With the Rs. 847 surplus available at Bankipore, the additional charge to be thrown on Government should in no case exceed Rs. 1,600 a year, a sum which His Honour would hope to find by readjustment of the budget of the Educational Department. But His Honour is sanguine that in a few years the success of the new Industrial School would be assured, and that further endowments would be forthcoming to provide the necessary scholarships.

No credit has been taken in the above scheme for the value of the work done by the students. At first, this would be small, but, after a time, it would probably be sufficient to contribute materially to the cost of the maintenance of the institution.

6. The Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to record his general approval of the scheme of which an outline has been given above, and desires that a prospectus, drawn up on these lines, may be at once issued, and steps taken to have the school opened as soon as possible. A report should be submitted at an early date whether the Patna Survey School cannot be amalgamated with the Industrial School.

7. In order to ensure the success of the project, which His Honour regards as one calculated to do much good to the country, Sir Charles Elliott is pleased to appoint the following gentlemen, whose names will be gazetted, to be members of the Committee of the Bihâr Industrial School:—

The Commissioner of the Patna Division, ex-officio President.
The Collector of Patna.
The Principal of the Patna College.	} Ex-officio.
The Principal of the Sibpur College.
The Inspector of Schools, Bihâr Circle.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL REPORT ON THE POLICE ADMINISTRATION OF THE TOWN OF CALCUTTA
AND ITS SUBURBS FOR THE YEAR 1891.

POLICE

Dated Darjeeling, the 17th June 1892.

READ—

The Annual Report on the Police Administration of the Town of Calcutta and its Suburbs for the year 1891.

Read also—

The Reports for the two preceding years, and the Resolutions recorded by Government thereon.

1. Mr. J. Lambort, C.I.E., was in charge of the Police of the Town of Calcutta and its Suburbs throughout the year as Commissioner of Police, and Mr. A. B. Barnard continued to hold the office of Deputy Commissioner, except for the period from the 17th August to 10th October, when he was on privilege leave, and Mr. E. C. Ryland acted for him.

2. Reported cases.—The total number of cases, cognizable and non-cognizable, reported during 1891 was 60,440, against 61,542 in 1890; of these, 48,569 were from the Town and 11,871 from the Suburbs. In the Town 27,182 cognizable cases were tried by the Magistrates, of which 24,808 ended in conviction in the Magistrate's Court and 30 at the High Court Sessions. In the Suburbs, of 8,113 cases tried, 7,717 ended in conviction, viz., 7,704 in the Magistrate's Court and 13 in the Sessions Court. This is a creditable outturn of Police work. Of cases under the Penal Code, there was an increase from 8,439 to 8,742 in cognizable offences, and from 6,142 to 7,022 in non-cognizable offences, while miscellaneous cognizable cases rose from 26,592 to 27,893. Miscellaneous non-cognizable cases, on the other hand, fell from 20,369 to 16,783. The increase in cognizable cases is due to prosecutions for public and local nuisances, street nuisances, and cruelty to animals. The figures of cognizable crime under the Indian Penal Code for the years 1889, 1890, and 1891 are 3,712, 3,327, and 3,289 respectively. In the Town there was a decrease of 35 cases, compared with the figures of 1890, in serious offences against person and property: a decrease of 87 in minor offences against property: an increase of 552 in other offences, chiefly cases of street obstruction (section 283, Indian Penal Code) and cases under the Hackney Carriage Act, and an increase of 960 in offences under special and local laws. Out of a total population of 466,450 in the Town proper, including the Fort, the Esplanade, and the Port of Calcutta, 10,763 persons were convicted of offences under the Penal Code during the year.

3. False cases.—Fifty-eight false cases were brought in the Town and 18 in the Suburbs, against 43 and 18, the corresponding figures for last year. Thirty prosecutions for bringing false complaints were instituted in the Town, and in 16 cases convictions were obtained. In four of these cases the offenders were sentenced to imprisonment, and in 12 they were fined. Besides these, compensation was granted in 20 other cases under section 552, Code of Criminal Procedure. In the Suburbs prosecutions were instituted in 13 cases, and in two cases the offenders were sentenced to imprisonment, and in two were fined. In no case in the Suburbs was compensation granted. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that Magistrates will not overlook the power of granting compensation for vexatious prosecution conferred on them by the provisions of the new section 560 (1) of the Indian Penal Code.

4. Property stolen and recovered.—The value of property stolen in the Town and Suburbs during the year was Rs. 1,17,901, of which Rs. 68,445, or 58·05 per cent., was recovered. This percentage, in spite of a falling off in the Suburbs, due to one or two large undetected burglaries and thefts, is higher than in any preceding year. In the Town alone the percentage was 63·56, against 56·17 in 1890 and 49·02 in 1889.

5. Cognizable offences. Town.—Detailed information regarding the various crimes committed during the year is given in the body of the report, and the Lieutenant-Governor does not consider it necessary to reproduce here more than the most important facts noticed by Mr. Lambert.

In the Town there were seven unimportant cases connected with coins, in which eight persons were arrested and seven convicted, and one case connected with stamps, in which two stamp vendors were fined Rs. 500 each for selling used court-fee stamps. There was one case of murder by poison, in which five coolies of the Chamar caste were poisoned, of whom three died and two recovered. The poison used was aconite, and was administered by two other members of the caste, who were arrested and put on their trial. The evidence against them was not, however, altogether trustworthy, and the jury, under direction of the Judge, acquitted them. There were three other true cases of murder, and one false case, due to a false confession of murder made by a man of unsound mind. In two cases the accused were convicted; in the third the jury returned an inexplicable verdict of not guilty. There were three cases of culpable homicide not amounting to murder, in two of which the accused were convicted. In the third case the accused is still at large. There was one case of alleged rape, in which, however, there was no evidence of any more serious offence than indecent assault, and the accused was discharged. Twenty-five cases of grievous hurt occurred and two of administering stupefying drugs. In one of the latter cases the victim died, and the accused would probably have been convicted of murder but that no poison could be traced. Thirty-six cases of hurt by dangerous weapons were reported, and 22 cases of kidnapping, but only one case of theft of ornaments from a child. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to notice that 451 children wearing ornaments, who were lost in the streets during the year in the Town and Suburbs, were restored to their parents with their ornaments intact. There were eight cases of causing death by a rash and negligent act, and five of robbery. The true cases of burglary and lurking house-trespass numbered 106, against 154 and 179 in the years 1890 and 1889, and the number of cases detected was 79, against 87 and 109 in the same two years. The number of thefts fell from 1,855 in 1889 and 1,549 in 1890 to 1,495 in 1891; of these, 815 cases were detected. There were 343 cases of breach of trust, including thefts by carters and boatmen; 530 persons were put on their trial for offences under the Gambling Act; and there were 2,849 cases and 2,534 convictions under the Hackney Carriage Act. The number of persons arrested for cruelty to animals was 6,833, and of these 6,521, or over 95 per cent., were convicted.

6. Non-cognizable offences. Town.—The total number of offences under the Penal Code and under Special and Local Laws, respectively, was 5,357 and 14,529, against 4,554 and 17,461, the corresponding figures for 1890. These figures include one case of an offence against the State under sections 124A and 500, Indian Penal Code, three cases of forgery, nine of extortion, two important cases of cheating, and the celebrated case of criminal breach of trust known as the "Imperial Diamond Case." The first and last of these alone call for special remark. The case under sections 124A and 500, Indian Penal Code, was brought by Government against the Bangabasi newspaper for publishing defamatory and seditious articles. The charge under section 500 was abandoned at the trial before the High Court, and in the end the special jury, by whom the case was tried, were unable to agree in their verdict. A new trial was ordered, but the accused having expressed contrition, a nolle prosequi was entered, and they were discharged. In the Imperial Diamond Case, Mr. A. M. Jacob, a well-known diamond merchant, was charged by His Highness the Nizam of Hyderabad with criminal breach of trust in respect of 23 lakhs of rupees. He was finally acquitted at the Sessions.

7. Cognizable offences. Suburbs.—There were altogether 8,237 cases, against 8,155 in 1890. There were seven cases of murder, two of attempted murder, and two of culpable homicide. The number of burglaries was 132, in 58 of which detection followed, and of thefts 403, of which 203 were detected. The most important case which occurred during the year was that known as the Sham-bazar riot case. In this case a rumour that the purchase of some land by a Hindu would result in the removal of a temporary building used as a mosque, led to an unprovoked attack on the police by certain Muhammadans of the Sham-bazar quarter. The police were armed only with batons. One police constable was killed, and 18 members of the police force were so severely injured as to be incapacitated from duty, while 51 others received slight injuries; while of the rioters, one was fatally injured, and some 50 more wounded more or less severely. The results of the trial of the offenders were unsatisfactory in the extreme. The rioters were put on their trial in three batches. In the first trial, several of the prisoners were convicted. In the second, all were acquitted, the evidence as to identity being somewhat faulty. In the third case, in which the prisoners were almost exclusively men who were wounded in the mêlée, and sent direct from the spot to the hospital, and never lost sight of, and as to the guilt of the great majority of whom no unprejudiced person could entertain a doubt, the jury returned a verdict of acquittal, which the Judge, to the Lieutenant-Governor's great regret, accepted, not thinking it advisable to refer the case to the High Court. One result of the riot has been that the police have been armed with more efficient weapons, in case such an emergency should occur again.

8. Non-cognizable offences. Suburbs.—There were 3,619 cases, against 4,496 in 1890. There was one case of forgery and three cases of extortion, but no case that calls for special remark.

9. Suicides and accidental deaths.—There were 66 cases of suicide during the year, of which 48 occurred in the Town and 18 in the Suburbs; 24 of these suicides were by hanging, and 23 by opium-poisoning. The number of accidental deaths during the year was 308, against 301 in 1890: of these, 36 were those of persons run over by vehicles. Only two fatal cases occurred, in which there was evidence of negligence or rashness on the part of the driver. Ninety-nine persons were prosecuted for rash and furious driving, and 91 were convicted.

10. European Vagrancy Act IX of 1874.—Forty-one vagrants were admitted into the Government Workhouse during the year, and 5 were in the Workhouse at the close of 1890, making a total of 46. Of these, 25 were discharged on obtaining employment, seven were released under the first clause of section 16 of the Act, five absconded, two obtained permission to leave the Workhouse temporarily and failed to return, one was imprisoned, one absconded from the ship in which he was to have been deported, and four remained in the Workhouse at the close of the year. During 1890 no inmates of the Workhouse absconded, and the Lieutenant-Governor regrets to notice the falling off in this respect. The total expenditure incurred by Government in working the Act was Rs. 3,725. Sixty-nine seamen, who found refuge in the Alms House, were all shipped during the year.

11. Fire-Brigade Act IV (B.C.) of 1883.—The steam fire-engines of the Fire-Brigade were in attendance at 26 fires during the year, against 47 in 1890, and the manual engines kept at the out-stations rendered assistance at 23 other small fires. The only serious fire during the year was on the American ship Kenilworth in the Port; this fire was not got under for  $4\frac{1}{2}$  hours, and the loss was estimated at Rs. 1,70,000. There were no fires during the year in jute mills or presses. None of the fires was attended with loss of life.

12. Constitution of the Police Force.—The total strength of the force was 2,873, as shown on the margin. This is an increase of 13 over the numbers of last year, the increase being due to the entertainment of a Court Sub-Inspector and 12 special constables. The total cost of the force was Rs. 6,22,254, against Rs. 6,14,634 in 1890. The increase is principally due to the payment of heavy law charges from the police grant. The pay in the two lowest grades of officers having been found insufficient to attract educated and respectable men to the ranks in the hope of promotion, was raised during the year from Rs. 10 and Rs. 12 to Rs. 12 and Rs. 16 respectively.

13. Adjournment of Police cases.—The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to notice a further decrease in the number of adjourned cases. These fell from 422 in 1889 and 308 in 1890 to 289 in 1891, and of these, 226 cases were disposed of at the second hearing.

14. Judicial work.—Mr. A. P. Handley officiated as Chief Presidency Magistrate from the beginning of the year till the 22nd October, when he made over charge to Mr. Marsden. Nawab Syud Ameer Hossein, C.I.E., was in charge of the Magistracy of the Northern Division throughout the year, except for one month when he was absent on privilege leave, and his place was taken by Maulvi Abdul Jubbar, Khan Bahadur.

The following table shows the work done in the Courts of the Chief Presidency Magistrate, the Magistrate of the Northern Division, and the Honorary Magistrates respectively :—

		Cases instituted.	PERSONS—
			Brought to trial.	Acquitted or discharged.	Convicted or committed.
Court of the Chief Presidency Magistrate.	{ Cognisable offences ...	11,832	17,700	679	16,771
	{ Non-cognisable offences ...	1,997	1,605	859	829
	Total ..	13,829	19,395	1,738	17,600
Court of the Presidency Magistrate, Northern Division.	{ Cognisable offences ...	14,315	18,757	599	18,148
	{ Non-cognisable offences ...	3,245	1,584	718	800

Court of the Honorary Magistrates, Calcutta.	{ Cognisable offences ...	1,035	1,458	310	1,148
	{ Non-cognisable offences ...	14,944	8,756	4,213	4,536
	Total ...	15,979	10,214	4,523	5,684

This table includes, besides strictly criminal cases, miscellaneous cases connected with maintenance, with forfeiture of recognizance bonds, and with the possession of immoveable property, decided by the Magistrates under special sections of the Criminal Procedure Code. Of the statements attached to the Magistrates' reports, Crime Statement, Parts I and II, includes such miscellaneous cases, and also shows cases which are struck off owing to the non-appearance of the parties. The Annual Criminal Statement 2 excludes all these, but shows the result of cases committed to the Session, together with those of cases disposed of in the Magistrate's Court. Any inter-comparison between the two statements is therefore impossible.

The percentage of convictions and acquittals to the whole number of persons brought to trial in the three Courts in cognizable and non-cognizable cases, respectively, is as follows :—

	COGNIZABLE OFFENCES.		NON-COGNIZABLE OFFENCES.
	Acquittals.	Convictions.	Acquittals.	Convictions.
Court of Chief Presidency Magistrate ...	4.9	94.7	50.6	43.0
Ditto Magistrate, Northern Division ...	2.9	96.7	45.3	54.2
Ditto Honorary Magistrates ...	21.2	78.7	48.1	51.8

The Lieutenant-Governor has no desire to judge of the character of the work, done merely by these proportions, but the figures would seem to show that more care is taken in sifting complaints in the Northern Division Court than in the others.

15. Court of Chief Presidency Magistrate.—In the Court of the Chief Presidency Magistrate, 13,829 cases, in which 19,395 persons were implicated, were instituted during the year. Of the accused persons, 1,738 were acquitted or discharged, 17,576 were convicted, 24 were committed for trial, and 51 were under trial at the end of the year.

The total number of persons charged under the Indian Penal Code was 7,110, of whom 6,182 were convicted. Under the Cruelty to Animals Act, 1,944 cases were instituted, and of the 3,912 persons concerned in them, 3,630 were convicted. Fifteen persons were brought up under the European Vagrancy Act, of whom 13 were sent to the Government Workhouse and two discharged. Only 170 persons were charged under the Merchant Shipping Act, against 386 in 1890; of these 152 were convicted, 14 discharged, and 4 were under trial at the end of the year. Of nine persons concerned in eight cases under the Excise Act, six were convicted and three discharged, and of five persons in three cases under the Opium Act, three were convicted and two acquitted or discharged. Substantive sentences of imprisonment were passed on 419 persons, 77 were imprisoned in default of payment of fine, and 5 imprisoned in default of furnishing security for good behaviour. The number of prisoners sentenced to flogging was 33, but in no case did the sentence exceed 20 stripes. Three juvenile offenders were sent to the Reformatory School at Alipore. The total value of the fines imposed during the year was Rs. 30,591, of which Rs. 28,776 were realized. There were 46 appeals against the orders of the Chief Presidency Magistrate during the year, all of which were rejected. The High Court was moved to set aside orders of the Magistrate in five cases. In two of these the application was rejected, and in one the rule was discharged, one conviction was set aside, and one re-trial ordered.

16. Northern Division Court.—In this Court 17,560 cases were instituted during the year, against 15,056 in the year 1890, and the number of persons brought to trial was 20,341 as compared with 18,420. Of these, 1,317 were acquitted or discharged, 18,985 were convicted, and 21 committed to the High Court Sessions in 20 cases. Of the 21 persons committed to the Sessions, three were charged with murder, one with attempted murder, one with culpable homicide, five with burglary after previous convictions, ten with theft after previous convictions, and one with extortion. Eighteen of the prisoners committed were finally convicted, two were awaiting trial at the end of the year, and only one was discharged—an extremely satisfactory result. During the year 717 persons were sentenced to imprisonment and 24 to whipping. Eight juvenile offenders were sent to the Reformatory School at Alipore. The total value of fines imposed during the year was Rs. 33,902-8, out of which Rs. 32,672-8 were realized. Thirty-five persons were sent up during the year under the European Vagrancy Act, of whom 26 were sent to the Government Workhouse, and 9 were imprisoned for violating the Workhouse rules. There were 2,159 cases of cruelty to animals, against 1,596 in 1890. Of the 2,773 persons implicated in these cases, 2,754 were convicted and 19 discharged.

Twenty-two persons were charged in twenty cases with offences under the Excise laws, all of whom were convicted. Cases under the Opium Act fell from 45 in 1890 to 21 in 1891, and of 22 persons put on their trial in these cases, 18 were convicted and 4 acquitted or discharged. Out of 113 appealable sentences passed in this Court, 77 were appealed against, but in every case the appeal was rejected—an excellent record. The High Court was moved to set aside orders of the Court in 8 cases, in 4 of which the application was rejected, in 2 convictions were set aside, and in 2 a re-trial was ordered.

17. Honorary Magistrates' Court.—The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to notice that the Chief Presidency Magistrate speaks in high terms of the assistance rendered to him and to his colleague during the year by the Honorary Magistrates, and is able to report that these gentlemen have as a body taken great interest in the discharge of the duties entrusted to them by Government, and have of late shown an increasing desire to keep their files clear and avoid unnecessary adjournments. Mr. Handley, however, has to repeat the complaint made last year of absence without notice, or on insufficient notice, of Honorary Magistrates invited to attend the Bench. The number of attendances during 1891 was 1,038 to 1,538 invitations issued. Out of 91 Magistrates invited, 84 attended at least once. The report for last year does not show the number of times each Honorary Magistrate was invited to attend, and any comparison is therefore impossible. Two Courts presided over by a single Magistrate sat on alternate days—one for the trial of criminal and the other for the trial of municipal cases. Benches of three, or sometimes two, Magistrates sat three times a week for the disposal of criminal cases, and special Benches were convened as occasion required. Six hundred and eighty-eight cases were transferred to the Bench and 1,188 to Magistrates sitting singly. From the figures given in statement, Parts I and II, attached to the report, the result of these cases, excluding municipal cases, appears to have been as follows:—

	Cases instituted.	Persons—
		Brought to trial.	Convicted.	Discharged or acquitted.
Cognizable cases	... 1,035	1,458	1,148	310
Non-cognizable cases	... 844	1,389	459	924

Of the cognizable cases, the proportion of convictions was highest in the case of offences under the Hackney Carriage Act, of public and local nuisances, and of miscellaneous street offences, in which, out of 72, 346, and 328 persons put on their trial, 67, 316, and 322 respectively were convicted. Of 115 persons prosecuted under the Port Acts all were convicted, as were 137 out of 148 persons prosecuted for cruelty to animals. On the other hand, of 37 and 29 persons put on their trial for serious and minor offences against the person, 35 and 25 respectively were acquitted or discharged, while of 330 persons tried for minor offences against property, 188 were acquitted or discharged, and only 142 convicted. In the case of non-cognizable offences, excluding offences under the Calcutta Municipal Act II (B.C.) of 1888 (which is wrongly described in the Crime Statement, Part II, as the Conservancy Act IV (B.C.) of 1876), the number of acquittals largely exceeded that of convictions. This would appear to indicate that sufficient care is not taken in examining complaints preliminary to the issue of process, and that many persons are unnecessarily brought into Court, and the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that, if there has been any such want of care, it may be avoided in future. Of the offenders convicted by the Bench, 166 persons were sentenced to rigorous imprisonment, 7 to simple imprisonment, 13 were whipped, and 1,299 fined. The total amount of fines imposed was Rs. 4,809, of which Rs. 4,401 were realized. There were seven appeals against the decisions of the Honorary Magistrates: in four of these the applications were summarily rejected, and in three the appeals were dismissed after hearing. In eight cases the High Court was moved to set aside orders passed by the Honorary Magistrates: in two of these cases the convictions were quashed, in one a retrial was ordered, in three the applications were rejected, and in two the rule was discharged. The Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to notice that there were very few cases of adjournments during the year. Out of 934 police cases, adjournments were granted in 25 only, and in 21 of these there was only one adjournment. In all cases the Chief Presidency Magistrate reports that the adjournments were granted on reasonable grounds.

18. Municipal cases.—Except for 10 cases, in which 13 persons were concerned, all of whom were convicted, which were tried by the Magistrate of the Northern Division, cases under the Calcutta Municipal Act all fall upon the Honorary Magistrates. The following table gives the figures relating to these cases for the past two years:—

		NUMBER OF CASES—		NUMBER OF PERSONS—
		Instituted.	In which process issued.	Against whom process issued.	Who actually appeared before the Court.	Acquitted or discharged.	Convicted.
1890 ...	...	16,820	16,704	16,705	7,532	2,710	4,821
1891 ...	...	14,100	14,006	14,006	7,367	3,289	4,077

The sections of the Act under which these cases are instituted are not shown in the report, and the Lieutenant-Governor desires that this information may be given in future years. From a report furnished by the Chairman of the Corporation, it appears that by far the greater number of these cases are license prosecutions. The reduction in the number of cases is explained to be due to the introduction of rules in the Municipal Office by which more warning than in former years is given to defaulters before prosecutions are instituted, but cases once instituted are not without good cause withdrawn on mere payment of the sum with regard to which default has been made. A large proportion of the acquittals is understood to be due to the discharge with a warning of defaulters in whose cases the Magistrates considered that the infliction of the minimum punishment allowed under the Act would be an unduly severe punishment. During the year 6,738 cases were struck off or withdrawn. The fines levied in the cases amounted to Rs. 24,052, of which Rs. 18,958 were realized. The Chief Presidency Magistrate reports that the non-realization of the balance of Rs. 5,094 is almost entirely due to the inability of the police to trace defaulters, and suggests that this might be avoided if the municipal employés would render more assistance to the police in this particular. The Lieutenant-Governor invites the attention of the Chairman to this remark.

19. The Lieutenant-Governor desires again to acknowledge the efficient administration of the Metropolitan Police Department by Mr. Lambert, and that of the Magistrates' Courts by Mr. Handley and Nawab Syud Ameer Hossein, C.I.E. The names of the subordinate officers commended by Mr. Lambert have been noted.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. J. S. COTTON,

Offg. Chief Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.
